Wounded Knee Agreement Signed

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — A six-point agreement was signed on Thursday between the government and militant Indians to end the 37-day takeover of Wounded Knee, federal officials said.

According to the agreement:

—Russell Means, leader of the occupying Indians, will go to Washington Saturday to meet with White House representatives.

—Once that meeting starts, the Indians will leave Wounded Knee, submit to arrest and be taken to Rapid City for arraignment.

—There will be a federal investigation of Indian affairs throughout the Pine Ridge reservation and an audit of tribal funds.

—The Department of Justice is to consider and where appropriate bring civil suits to protect the legal rights of all individual Oglala Sioux Indians against unlawful uses or abuses by tribal government or federal authority.

—A presidential treaty commission will be set up to reexamine the 1868 government treaty with the Sioux Nation.

—Indian leaders and White House representatives will meet next month in Washington to consider Indian affairs.

The agreement serves as the basis for the Indians laying down their arms and the evacuation of all bunkers and roadblocks in and around Wounded Knee. It provides that the disarming will be implemented by government law enforcement officers with the cooperation of the AIM leadership.

Means called the occupation "a minor preliminary victory. The real victory will be when the traditional chiefs and head men of the Sioux tribes meet with representatives of the White House."

He called the agreement "a small victory in the Indian war with the United States over our treaty rights."

The traditional chiefs of the Sioux are ordained by birthright, but must have also proved their worthiness through personal physical and moral feats, Means said.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Kent Frizzell, who signed the agreement for the government, said, "I don't think any great victory has been won by anyone at Wounded Knee. I think we have all learned something here and now hope we will go on and improve conditions between whites and Indians. I think what we have learned is that all of us have failed in the past to live up to our agreements. We're going to do a better job in the future to see that these agreements are kept."

Frizzell said the truce does not provide for amnesty for anyone connected with the takeover. "All persons for whom warrants are outstanding will be arrested," he said.

The agreement was signed by three American Indian Movement leaders, Means, Clyde Bellecourt and Carter Camp; by Pedro Bisonnette, vice president of the Oglala Sioux Civil Rights Organization, and by Chief Tom Bad Cobb, a traditional Oglala Sioux chief. AIM leader Dennis Banks did not sit at the table nor did he sign the agreement.

The pact was signed in the traditional tepee on a hill overlooking the village. A Sioux religious ceremony and smoking of a peace pipe preceded the signing, with all AIM leaders, including Banks, participating, along with Frizzell.

Before the signing, Frizzell told the Indians: "I'm very impressed with your warriors and with this religious ceremony and I pray to my father in heaven that the agreement we are about to sign are not empty words. I commit myself and my government to the extent that these promises will be fulfilled."

The agreement came after six straight days of talks to end the takeover of the historic site.

More than 250 Indians, led by AIM, moved into the village the night of Feb. 27, ransacked the Wounded Knee Trading Post and told the 11 residents they were political prisoners.

Means has said Oglala Sioux villagers in Wounded Knee invited the occupation force and that the hamlet was chosen because of its symbolism to the American Indian.

Wounded Knee was the site where, in 1890, 146 Sioux men, women and children were killed by soldiers of the U.S. 7th Cavalry in the last major incident of the U.S.-Indian wars.

Gray's Name Is Withdrawn

... For FBI Post

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon announced Thursday he was withdrawing the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He said he acted at Gray's request.

In a statement, Nixon said:

"In fairness to Mr. Gray, and out of my overriding concern for the effective conduct of the vitally important business of the FBI, I have regretfully agreed to withdraw Mr. Gray's nomination."

Nixon, who did not say who he would name to succeed Gray as head of the FBI, did declare that he has asked Gray to remain as acting director until a nominee is confirmed.

The President said, after talking to Gray by telephone for five minutes, "it is obvious that Mr. Gray's nomination will not be confirmed by the Senate."

To bolster this contention, Nixon cited, without elaborating, action Thursday by the Senate Judiciary Committee which had been handling the matter.

The committee earlier Thursday agreed to a showdown vote next week on the nomination after Democrats moved to postpone action indefinitely.

In his statement, Nixon described Gray as "an able, honest and dedicated American" who had been exposed to "totally unfair innuendo and suspicion" because he had cooperated with White House counsel John Dean III in making available FBI reports on the Watergate conspiracy.

Nixon said Gray's "compliance with this completely proper and necessary request" caused the innuendo and suspicion "and thereby seriously tarnished his fine record as acting director and promising future at the bureau."

In Washington, Gray had announced he had asked that his nomination be withdrawn shortly before Nixon made his formal announcement.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said through a spokesman that he was deeply disappointed by what he called the turn of events.

"He is one of the most loyal Americans I know," said Kleindienst. "He was an excellent choice to be permanent director and should have been confirmed."

The spokesman said Gray telephoned Kleindienst and told him of his decision about an hour before he issued his statement.

Rural Sewer Aid Vetoed By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would require the spending of an estimated $120 million for rural water grants was vetoed by President Nixon Thursday—his second veto of what he calls "inflationary" legislation passed by Congress.

Nixon, who ordered the water grants cut off last Jan. 10, said in his veto message to Congress that the measure probably was unconstitutional. It raised the question, he said, of whether Congress can order the president to spend the full amount it appropriates for a program.

Such a mandate, said Nixon, "conflicts with the allocation of executive power to the president." Nixon's first veto of legislation he regards as budget breaking was exercised last Oct. 27 over a $2.6-billion vocational rehabilitation bill. The Senate sustained the veto Tuesday.

Nixon's veto of the water grant measure was the latest development in a struggle between the President and Congress over his vetoes and his impoundment of money allocated in legislation for certain programs. The Senate on Wednesday adopted an amendment setting a $268-billion federal spending ceiling and imposing tight controls on presidential impoundments.

He said passage of the measure, by a vote of 297 to 54 in the House March 1, was a "disservice to the taxpayers ... which I am not prepared to accept." The House vote was well over the two-thirds that would be required to override the veto if the same attendance is on hand.

Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., said the House will vote next Tuesday on overriding the veto. "I think there is a chance that it will," said Albert.

The measure would provide grants for rural water and waste disposal projects in communities with less than 10,000 population. They supplement loans from the Farmers Home Administration.

Suspect Jailed After Burglary

A Lincoln man was jailed Thursday night in connection with a burglary at the Rivera Pharmacy at 3306 A in which a quantity of narcotics was taken, police said.

The man was arrested a short distance away from the pharmacy and another man who ran from the scene is still being sought, police stated.

Entrance to the building was gained by kicking in the glass in the front door, police said.

The parents of all eight winners were also presented with special Honorary State Farmer Degrees and the mothers each received a certificate of appreciation presented by their sons.

The state star farmers also received special gold medals from the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben in addition to receiving the awards from their organization.

Most of the more than 2,000 FFA members in the State Capitol spent the day in a series of judging contests and other types of tests of their skills in various kinds of contests.

A series of demonstrations on livestock husbandry and mechanical arts occupied the day for others.

The three-day convention winds up Saturday noon with the election of officers and the adoption of a plan of work for the organization to follow during the next year.

Patrol Recruitment Practices Attacked

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

A fiery Sen. Terry Carpenter Thursday accused Col. J. E. Kruger, State Patrol superintendent, of "sitting on his duff" in defiance of a 1967 Legislative directive to recruit more state troopers from minority races.

Kruger shot back that the Patrol is "open to anyone who is qualified" regardless of race.

Moreover, Maj. E. P. Schroeder told a Legislative committee, the patrol is "beginning" to implement that six-year-old order on a "person-to-person basis" consisting of the normal screening procedures of all applicants contacting people the patrol "knows."

"We don't try to get people to join the patrol anymore than you go out and try to get people to run for the Legislature," Kruger said.

Carpenter countered that such efforts do not constitute an "affirmative action" to increase minority race members on the 330-man force.

Recruiting, Carpenter said, means "going out there and getting them—not sitting on your duff."

"Brother, you better get on the ball!"

The patrol currently has three Mexican-Americans on the force and no blacks.

The 1967 resolution directed the patrol to "immediately initiate a recruiting program to find qualified personnel among persons of the Negro, Indian and Mexican races to employ as troopers."

The new recruitment policy was intended to "halt the implied segregation of the past and bring about a better understanding and working relationship among all the peoples of Nebraska."

The confrontation occured at hearing on LR25 which would direct the patrol to eliminate its new 5'8" height requirement because it discriminates against people of Mexican and Japanese ancestry. No action was taken.

Stan Porras, director of the Mexican-American Commission, told the committee that the average height of his people is 5'6" and consequently few can qualify to become state troopers.

Until two weeks ago, the patrol's height requirement was 5'10", but pressure from the commission and the federal government prompted the patrol to ease the height stipulation.

Kruger said the change was ordered by Gov. J. James Exon, although Kruger said Lt. Col. C.P. Karthauser personally opposed the change.

In opposing LR25, Kruger said the need for physical stature in lawmen dates back to the Roman Empire and any further erosion of the requirement would encourage physical attacks on lawmen.

Kruger, who said he is barely 5'10", quoted a Sausalito, Cal., study which indicated that 52% of the assaults on lawmen there happened to the 8% of officers who were 5'8".

"Size," Kruger maintained, "is very important to the people of the State of Nebraska."

Carpenter noted that the FBI requires its men to be 5'7" and asked Kruger how courage can be equated with size.

Kruger answered that it doesn't, but he said in "certain situations" it is very important for a policeman to be of at least average physical stature. The average Anglo-American height is 5'8" and gradually rising, Kruger said.

And Kruger said the patrol has no trouble finding enough interested men who meet the requirements. He said 300 men who all met the necessary physical standards recently applied for 26 positions as troopers.

Move Eyed To Hike Budget For Colleges

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A bloc of state senators were moving into position Thursday to request a million dollar addition to the Appropriations Committee's operational budget recommendation for the state colleges.

If necessary, they will challenge the committee's action on the floor, raising the prospect of a major floor fight over the operational budget bill.

But first, Sen. Leslie Stull of Alliance noted, they hope to make their case before the committee itself.

Stull is among a bloc of lawmakers led by Sen. Calvin Carsten of Avoca who have prepared amendments which would add $1.1 million to the $9.4 million in state tax support recommended by the committee.

"We hope the committee will amend its recommendations," Stull said.

Appropriations Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings said the committee is likely to discuss the proposal next Monday or Tuesday.

If the Legislature approves, the committee will take its operational budget recommendations to the floor on Tuesday.

The committee increased Gov. J. James Exon's budget recommendations for the college system by $813,584 in state tax funds.

Whereas the governor had proposed an $8.5 million general fund package, the committee boosted that figure to about $9.4 million. The Carsten bloc has prepared an amendment to push the total to $10.5 million.

(The all-funds committee recommendation for the state college system is nearly $16.8 million.)

The state colleges are located at Kearney, Wayne, Chadron and Peru.

The $10.5 million amended request compares to an original budget request of $11.5 million in state tax funds forwarded to the governor by the Board of Trustees of the State Colleges. The fiscal 1972-73 general fund budget is $8.8 million.

Appropriations Committee amendments to the operational budget bill have, in effect, slightly boosted Exon's recommendations for general fund support of all state agencies.

A final compilation of committee action on LB259 showed an effective general fund hike of about $3.3 million over the governor's recommendations.

Total funds in LB259 exceed $600 million.

In a brief executive session Thursday, the committee added $50,000 in emergency funding for eradication of the Canadian thistle weed.

Meanwhile, Exon wrote the committee urging it to reject a legislative fiscal staff recommendation to delete the governor's proposed $2 million in capital construction funding for veterinary science facilities at the University of Nebraska.

The staff recommendation proposes a $25,000 reappropriation to study the need for such facilities.

"We do not need planning funds; we need action construction funds," Exon wrote.

The committee will consider NU capital construction budget requests next Monday and Tuesday.

The $10.5 million amended request compares to an original budget request of $11.5 million in state tax funds forwarded to the governor by the Board of Trustees of the State Colleges. The fiscal 1972-73 general fund budget is $8.8 million.

Appropriations Committee amendments to the operational budget bill have, in effect, slightly boosted Exon's recommendations for general fund support of all state agencies.

A final compilation of committee action on LB259 showed an effective general fund hike of about $3.3 million over the governor's recommendations.

Total funds in LB259 exceed $600 million.

In a brief executive session Thursday, the committee added $50,000 in emergency funding for eradication of the Canadian thistle weed.

Meanwhile, Exon wrote the committee urging it to reject a legislative fiscal staff recommendation to delete the governor's proposed $2 million in capital construction funding for veterinary science facilities at the University of Nebraska.

The staff recommendation proposes a $25,000 reappropriation to study the need for such facilities.

"We do not need planning funds; we need action construction funds," Exon wrote.

The committee will consider NU capital construction budget requests next Monday and Tuesday.

Viet Fighting Hottest Since Truce

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces touched off the heaviest fighting since the cease-fire, the Saigon government reported Thursday.

Military sources said the Communist command may be preparing for a major offensive. But Pentagon officials in Washington said they had no reason to believe an offensive is planned.

At the same time the military situation in neighboring Cambodia remained serious. All highways to the capital, Phnom Penh, remained cut as Communist regiments tightened their noose around the city.

PRE-TEENS . . . accompany troops south of Phnom Penh. AP

In the fighting in South Vietnam, four government positions came under artillery and ground attack at widely scattered points in what military sources described as "probing activity" to test Saigon's reactions and feel out weak links.

Attempts by Canada and Indonesia on the International Commission of Control and Supervision to put a stop to the fighting bogged down in procedural wrangles with Poland and Hungary, the commission's other two members.

Hanoi radio claimed Viet Cong forces were fighting only in "defensive reaction" to what it called South Vietnam's military operations to encroach upon and take control of liberated areas."

The broadcast charged that Saigon — "under American instructions" — had been responsible for 20,000 military operations in the last two months.

Government casualties in the four main clashes reported have climbed to more than 300 and field reports said one position in the central highlands, 18 miles from the provincial capital of Pleiku, was overrun.

Cambodian dispatches reported continued ground assaults on the major roads into Phnom Penh despite heavy U.S. bombing.

Communist command troops were reported to have used antitank rockets to attack three Cambodian navy boats carrying ammunition on the Mekong River eight miles east of Phnom Penh. One vessel sank and two others were damaged, field reports said. The boats were attacked 24 miles from their destination, the Neak Luong naval base and ferry crossing on Highway 1.

British May Open Centers For Artificial Insemination

LONDON (AP) — Artificial insemination should be made available on a limited basis to married women under Britain's tax-supported National Health Service, a medical panel recommended Thursday.

A report prepared by a British Medical Association group headed by Sir John Peel, former gynecologist to Queen Elizabeth II, suggests regional centers to which couples could be referred by their doctors.

It also suggests that sperm banks should be created and that all donors should be carefully screened. The report did not question the need for artificial insemination by donor — or AID as it is known in Britain. Its main concern was to insure that its practice conforms to the highest medical and ethical standards. The report also recommended a long-term study of genetic effects of the arrangement.

The recommendations come just over one week after the government agreed to provide free contraception as part of the National Health Service.

Under the proposed scheme, doctors at the regional centers would apply to the sperm banks for suitable semen specimens. These would be matched with the racial, physical and blood group characteristics of the couple wanting the child.

At present the majority of couples wanting AID babies in Britain have to go through private channels, although a strictly limited number have received help through the National Health Service, the program of socialized medicine.

A marked reduction in the number of children available for adoption and growing opinion in favor of artificial insemination by donor helped persuade the panel that the proposed moves were necessary.

The panel estimates that as many as 1,400 couples out of the 470,000 marriages annually would need to make use of the service. But it adds that at first there would also be a considerable backlog of couples wanting help who have not been able to get it under the present system.

To sort out possible legal difficulties arising from the increased use of artificial insemination, the report suggests that the law on legitimacy should be changed. It wants AID babies to be considered legitimate instead of illegitimate as now, and the husband of the woman conceiving the child to be considered its legal father.

Cutter Laboratories Expands Intravenous Solutions Recall

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Hospitals around the nation are being asked by Cutter Laboratories, Inc. to return millions of bottles of intravenous solutions manufactured at its Chattanooga, Tenn. plant.

The move expands an initial recall two weeks ago of dextrose intravenous solution called Lactated Ringer's Injection which was implicated in postsurgery infections suffered by four women at a Milwaukee, Wis., hospital, said Joe Barnette, public relations director at the company's headquarters here.

"A rough guess is that some 25 million bottles of these solutions are produced there in one year," he said. "We're talking about millions of bottles and of dollars."

The voluntarily expanded recall will involve all intravenous solutions manufactured before the plant stopped producing them this week, Barnette said. The solutions are used mostly in postsurgery for feeding, stabilization and fluid balance.

"There is no clinical suspicion of any of these solutions except the dextrose intravenous," Barnette said. "But we think it is prudent to call them back and destroy them. We're talking about solutions that are used on humans and although they're not clinically implicated, we feel it in the best interest of the hospitals to recall them."

Cutter Laboratories announced a recall March 20 of 66,000 bottles of dextrose intravenous solution when Mount Sinai Hospital in Milwaukee reported two women died, one recovered and one was in critical condition after they received the Cutter's solution. The four cases are under investigation by the Food and Drug Administration, the Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta and by Cutter.

Wholesale Prices Soar At Highest Rate Since '51

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices again surged at record levels last month, forecasting even higher retail prices for consumers and threatening to undermine President Nixon s Phase 3 economic controls

The Labor Department reported Wednesday that the Wholesale Price Index, a major indicator of the rate of inflation, jumped 2 2 per cent in March, the steepest monthly hike since January 1951

Farm products and processed foods led the way, posting the fourth straight large monthly increase The wholesale price of consumer finished foods—those ready to go on supermarket shelves—rose at a seasonally adjusted rate of 4 6 per cent sharpest since the government began keeping records in 1947

Lumber prices also shot up at a record rate and industrial commodities as a group went up at the fastest rate in 22 years

The report drew an angry reaction from AFL-CIO President George Meany who again warned of big wage increase demands this year if the administration and the Congress won't provide equity" by clamping controls on prices, rents and interest rates

"It is irrational," declared organized labor's chief spokesman, ' for the administration to hold a club in the closet for wages while winking at outrageous price increases

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, indicated the White House may be forced to move away from its largely voluntary Phase 3 plan with additional mandatory controls

' The control system will be adapted as necessary to play its most useful role in restraining inflation Stein said in a statement

Nixon clamped a ceiling on meat prices last week but organized labor and congressional Democrats are pressing for further controls The House Banking Committee has approved a bill to roll back prices interest rates and rents to the levels of Jan 10

A nationwide consumer boycott of meat continued into its fifth day and indications were that it could have some effect on driving down meat prices

However, the effects of the boycott and the President's meat ceiling were not reflected in the Labor Department's wholesale price report, as it was compiled before these actions were taken

Because wholesale price hikes usually move swiftly into retail prices consumers will be paying more for virtually everything in the coming months, including food fuel, clothing, lumber and most manufactured goods

In the monthly wholesale index report, prices for farm products and processed foods moved up 4 8 per cent unadjusted and 4 7 per cent seasonally adjusted both the highest rate since December 1972

In the past three months their seasonally adjusted annual rate of increase was 53 1 per cent

Prices of industrial commodities including raw materials and finished manufactured goods, rose 1 2 per cent in March the sharpest rise since the early Korean war year of 1951

Finished manufactured goods ready for retail sale to consumers climbed 2 1 per cent at the wholesale level also the steepest rise since 1951

Meat Prices Cut By Grand Union

By JANET BATTAILE
Associated Press Writer

A major supermarket chain announced on Thursday it would reduce meat prices for the remainder of April chalking up one victory for housewives in the battle of the boycott

But at the same time the government announced a 2 2 per cent surge in wholesale prices for March led by a 4 6 per cent jump in the wholesale costs of farm products and processed foods

Grand Union Co the country s 10th largest food chain said in New York that for the remainder of April it would trim prices per pound on all cuts of fresh beef pork lamb and veal at least 10 cents below the ceiling imposed by President Nixon last week

President Charles G Rodman said the aim was to re establish quickly an adequate flow of meat from farm to table

If that flow is effectively reduced Rodman said recent meat prices in supermarkets will seem like rock bottom bargains to consumers in a year or two

His fear of steadily climbing meat prices has been expressed by others in the meat producing chain Retailers say they won t lower prices until the wholesalers do and wholesalers say they can t if producers continue to drive up market prices by withholding livestock

Boycotters have enjoyed a measure of success in their nationwide week long effort begun April 1 in that meat sales at many food stores have dropped considerably But prices have not dropped with the sales

The message is simple says a spokesman for the American Meat Institute in Chicago Meat is not cheaper although less of it is coming to market

Cattle receipts at 11 terminal markets during the first three days of this week were 50 000 compared with 79 000 for the same period last week

Grand Union s announcement came at a time when most food chains were in the process of computing their ceilings in time for Monday s deadline for posting them in their stores

Ernest Berthold corporate vice president in charge of meat merchandising said Grand Union also was doing this and declined to cite specific meat prices either before or since the ceiling

Botulism Requires Mushrooms Recall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced Thursday that at least 800 cases of canned mushrooms sold to the Defense Department are being recalled because of deadly botulism contamination

The recall is the third in as many months involving tainted mushrooms No injuries or deaths have been reported

The FDA said at least one day s production of mushrooms from Fran Mushroom Co Inc Ravena N Y was shipped to defense supply depots at Memphis Tenn and Alameda Calif for sale through post exchanges

The cans are not labeled the FDA said but are stamped with the code 2KC07 Each contains 24 eight ounce cans

Ninety cases were received at Ft Gordon near Augusta Ga where a military veterinarian purchased a suspect can and turned it over to the FDA The agency said its Atlanta laboratory confirmed the presence of Botulinum type B toxin

We are continuing our investigation to determine if an extended recall is necessary an FDA spokesman said

Botulism contamination prompted the recall of thousands of cans of mushrooms from United Canning Co East Palestine Ohio in February and from Fresh Mushroom Products Co South Lebanon Ohio in March

The United recall forces Stouffer s Food Co Solon Ohio to recall 85 000 cases of frozen foods containing mushrooms and Fabbrini Family Foods Inc Ossinike Mich to recall frozen mushroom pizzas

The FDA said it has been conducting an intensive investigation of manufacturing practices of the 45 known mushroom companies in the United States

During the last two years botulism has killed 10 Americans and has stricken another 37 according to the Center for Disease Control Mushrooms were not identified as the cause of any of those outbreaks

Rotten Fish May Bring Fine To Tuna Company

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced Thursday it is considering legal action against Star Kist Foods the company which recalled two lots of tuna fish blamed for sickening 232 persons

An FDA investigation has determined that the fish was rotten before it was canned

The agency said the charges it is considering against Star Kist are based on its inspections of Star Kist s American Samoa plant since discovery of the decomposed fish

The FDA announcement did not specify what legal action the agency might take The maximum fine it can levy is $1 000

Caesar Roy of FDA s office of compliance had said earlier that the decomposed tuna packed at the American Samoa plant Nov 30 and Dec 1 last year could have been spotted by a trained inspector

Nixon clamped a ceiling on meat prices last week but organized labor and congressional Democrats are pressing for further controls. The House Banking Committee has approved a bill to roll back prices, interest rates and rents to the levels of Jan. 10.

A nationwide consumer boycott of meat continued into its fifth day and indications were that it could have some effect on driving down meat prices.

However, the effects of the boycott and the President's meat ceiling were not reflected in the Labor Department's wholesale price report, as it was compiled before these actions were taken.

Because wholesale price hikes usually move swiftly into retail prices, consumers will be paying more for virtually everything in the coming months, including food, fuel, clothing, lumber and most manufactured goods.

In the monthly wholesale index report, prices for farm products and processed foods moved up 4.[illegible] per cent unadjusted and 4.7 per cent seasonally adjusted, both the highest rate since December, 1972.

In the past three months, their seasonally adjusted annual rate of increase was 53.1 per cent.

Prices of industrial commodities, including raw materials and finished manufactured goods, rose 1.2 per cent in March, the sharpest rise since the early Korean war year of 1951.

Finished manufactured goods, ready for retail sale to consumers, climbed 2.1 per cent at the wholesale level, also the steepest rise since 1951.

San Francisco Firemen Avoid Red Meat

Meat Prices Cut By Grand Union

By JANET BATTAILE
Associated Press Writer

A major supermarket chain announced on Thursday it would reduce meat prices for the remainder of April, chalking up one victory for housewives in the battle of the boycott.

But at the same time the government announced a 2.2 per cent surge in wholesale prices for March, led by a 4.6 per cent jump in the wholesale costs of farm products and processed foods.

Grand Union Co., the country's 10th largest food chain, said in New York that for the remainder of April it would trim prices per pound on all cuts of fresh beef, pork, lamb and veal at least 10 cents below the ceiling imposed by President Nixon last week.

President Charles G. Rodman said the aim was to "re-establish quickly an adequate flow of meat from farm to table."

If that flow is effectively reduced, Rodman said, "recent meat prices in supermarkets will seem like rock-bottom bargains to consumers in a year or two."

His fear of steadily climbing meat prices has been expressed by others in the meat producing chain. Retailers say they won't lower prices until the wholesalers do, and wholesalers say they can't if producers continue to drive up market prices by withholding livestock.

Boycotters have enjoyed a measure of success in their nationwide week-long effort, begun April 1, in that meat sales at many food stores have dropped considerably But prices have not dropped with the sales.

"The message is simple," says a spokesman for the American Meat Institute in Chicago. "Meat is not cheaper, although less of it is coming to market."

Cattle receipts at 11 terminal markets during the first three days of this week were 50,000, compared with 79,000 for the same period last week.

Grand Union's announcement came at a time when most food chains were in the process of computing their ceilings in time for Monday's deadline for posting them in their stores.

Ernest Berthold, corporate vice president in charge of meat merchandising, said Grand Union also was doing this and declined to cite specific meat prices either before or since the ceiling.

Botulism Requires Mushrooms Recall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced Thursday that at least 800 cases of canned mushrooms sold to the Defense Department are being recalled because of deadly botulism contamination.

The recall is the third in as many months involving tainted mushrooms. No injuries or deaths have been reported.

The FDA said at least one day's production of mushrooms from Fran Mushroom Co., Inc., Ravena, N.Y., was shipped to defense supply depots at Memphis, Tenn., and Alameda, Calif. for sale through post exchanges.

The cans are not labeled, the FDA said, but are stamped with the code 2KC07. Each contains 24 eight-ounce cans.

Ninety cases were received at Ft. Gordon near Augusta, Ga., where a military veterinarian purchased a suspect can and turned it over to the FDA. The agency said its Atlanta laboratory confirmed the presence of Botulinum type B toxin.

"We are continuing our investigation to determine if an extended recall is necessary," an FDA spokesman said.

Botulism contamination prompted the recall of thousands of cans of mushrooms from United Canning Co., East Palestine, Ohio, in February, and from Fresh Mushroom Products Co., South Lebanon, Ohio, in March.

The United recall forces Stouffer's Food Co., Solon, Ohio, to recall 85,000 cases of frozen foods containing mushrooms and Fabbrini Family Foods Inc., Ossinike, Mich., to recall frozen mushroom pizzas.

The FDA said it has been conducting an intensive investigation of manufacturing practices of the 45 known mushroom companies in the United States.

During the last two years, botulism has killed 10 Americans and has stricken another 37, according to the Center for Disease Control. Mushrooms were not identified as the cause of any of those outbreaks.

Volcano Takes Life

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — The volcanic eruption on Heymaey Island in Iceland's Westman group has claimed its first human victim. A fisherman is dead of poisonous gases.

The body of Sigurgeir Orn Sigurgeirsson, 30, was found Wednesday in the cellar of a drugstore. He had been missing since Friday when his boat put into Heymaey harbor for shelter in bad weather.

The whole island is affected by poisonous gases. Cellars and low-lying places are particularly dangerous.

Rotten Fish May Bring Fine To Tuna Company

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced Thursday it is considering legal action against Star Kist Foods, the company which recalled two lots of tuna fish blamed for sickening 232 persons.

An FDA investigation has determined that the fish was rotten before it was canned.

The agency said the charges it is considering against Star Kist are based on its inspections of Star Kist's American Samoa plant since discovery of the decomposed fish.

The FDA announcement did not specify what legal action the agency might take. The maximum fine it can levy is $1,000.

Caesar Roy of FDA's office of compliance had said earlier that the decomposed tuna, packed at the American Samoa plant Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 last year, could have been spotted by a trained inspector.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Knowing the problems that man's carelessness and callousness have produced for society over the years, it is with trepidation that one would advocate Congressional removal of the roadblocks to construction of the Alaskan oil pipeline. But we wonder if such is not the course of action for the nation to take at this time.

In so many things there are economic ramifications that leave us in a dilemma, such as wheat exports to Russia. The exports help our balance of trade situation but they drive the prices up on foodstuffs on the domestic scene.

The Alaska pipeline would seem to have no such adverse economic side effects. The North Slope oil reservoirs in Alaska are said to be many times U.S. crude reserves and to tap them would substantially reduce imports.

But in reducing imports you do not end up with the economic bad effects of exports. All the side effects, in fact, are to the advantage of the nation. More domestic production of oil should tend to lower petroleum prices, a product of greater self reliance.

Additionally, greater domestic production means more jobs within our own nation and more capital created through the utilization of our natural resources, a condition most appealing to poverty ridden Alaska.

Also, the Alaska oil piped to the southern port of Valdez, would call for construction of more U.S. transport ships, a further boost to the U.S. economy. Then, there is the matter of the looming shortage of fuels in the years immediately ahead.

There are some who say that the fuel shortage has been exaggerated and we wondered ourselves at one time if this was not true, if the prediction was not a scare tactic on the part of the petroleum industry. Whether it is a scare tactic or not, it is a growing reality that would be greatly offset by the Alaska resource.

Those who arbitrarily stand on the shortage as a false issue have some obligation to prove their point and we know of no such proof. The shortage, in fact, is already a bit of a reality in the allocation of gasoline by major refineries as opposed to sale on demand or need.

There is, further, the issue on which this matter of the pipeline has been grounded. Federal courts have stopped this multi-million dollar adventure on the grounds that Uncle Sam lacks the authority to approve the pipeline job.

This lack of authority was tied to the lack of provisions in law for granting of a right-of-way of sufficient width to handle this Alaskan project. The law now allows for only a 54 foot wide right-of-way grant and the Alaskan project, for a road and the pipeline, would exceed this.

Thus, the pipeline has not been knocked out by the courts on ecological or environmental grounds.

Surely, this matter of right-of-way is one that Congress can and should determine. It seems rather ridiculous that the issue should rise or fall on such a question as width of the right-of-way when all the argument is over other factors.

Environmentalists have won this first round in the courts, not on environmental grounds, but on a legal technicality. Thus, the courts have not passed on the environmental question and apparently will not as things now stand.

And the environmental arguments seems rather difficult to buy. It is a little hard to imagine much real damage to Alaska from a pipeline passing largely through waste land, especially when the facility appears to have widespread backing in Alaska itself.

Russia's Two-Faced Relations With U.S.

Rome — While Russia moves with one hand to improve relations with the United States, it still uses the other hand to undermine American influence abroad

The Soviet government according to Western European diplomatic reports from Moscow, is planning a propaganda campaign against American-owned multilateral companies in Europe and Latin America

These plans envisage the holding of an international conference in Chile later this year to focus attention on the alleged danger of American economic domination of foreign countries created by huge American investments abroad

Thus, while Leonid Brezhnev, Russia's top ruler, prepares for a goodwill visit to the United States in late May or June, the Soviet propaganda machine is apparently being geared for a new anti-American campaign in the autumn.

Such a campaign aimed at U.S.-owned multilateral corporations abroad could find a large measure of acceptance in both Latin America and Europe

While American investments have been generally welcomed by European businessmen — since the big American corporations, by acquiring control of antiquated European companies have revitalized them through modernization and American technological and managerial "know-how" — they have become something of a bugaboo to nationalistically minded political leaders.

The American investments, which represent a substantial part of the estimated $80 billion in surplus dollars held abroad, were blamed for contributing to the recent international monetary crisis.

Long welcomed in West Germany, the biggest beneficiary of American investments in Europe, they are now viewed with serious concern by Socialist Chancellor Willy Brandt's government.

The Western European governments are particularly concerned over Washington reports that the Nixon administration is planning to remove the controls imposed by President Johnson in January 1968 on direct investments by American companies abroad.

Studies in Washington have reportedly shown that the main effect of these controls, in the long run, is to reduce the profits of U.S. multinationals remitted to the U.S., mainly because the higher cost of borrowing money abroad cuts into dividends remitted to the parent firm

Since it is no longer American government policy to support an overvalued dollar, these controls are not seen as doing the U.S. any good Furthermore, invisible earnings from U.S. multinationals are now regarded in Washington as vital to improvement of the U.S. balance of payments

The European governments, on the other hand, want to see the controls tightened to prevent the multinationals from sending more capital abroad at a time when Europe feels itself swamped with surplus dollars.

Thus, the Soviets may be able to make some propaganda headway with a campaign aimed at the American-owned multinationals in Latin America and Europe.

What Next In Indochina?

The extent to which the Nixon administration still feels committed to aid anti-communist forces in Southeast Asia should become increasingly clear in coming days because of the threatening positions now held by North Vietnamese and insurgents in Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong reportedly are poised for some sort of major offensive which could be targeted at Saigon itself. The American people have been led to believe that the days of involvement of U.S. manpower on the ground are past and that the South Vietnamese military is strong enough to successfully defend its country. But President Nixon's hawkish speech the other night warned Hanoi of the consequences of increased military activity in the south, implying, while not specifying what this country would do, that the U.S. role might not be over. As columnist James Reston observed last week, the President owes the Congress and the people a definition of the limits of his policy regarding future events in Indochina.

The test of America's commitment might be more severe in Cambodia, where the imperiled regime of Marshal Lon Nol sits surrounded and cut off in the capital, Phnom Penh. The Cambodian army seems incapable of holding off the Khmer Rouge insurgents and their North Vietnamese allies despite heavy American bombing support. The next step the U.S. may take is an airlift to supply Phnom Penh. With pressure coming from President Thieu of South vietnam, who said in Washington Wednesday that a communist victory in Cambodia would pose a dire threat to his country, one can imagine what President Nixon might have in mind for the next step after an airlift.

The American people have sacrificed much for the anti-communist regimes in Indochina and now the President owes them at least an explanation of what he intends to do.

One thing he might not be able to do, even if he wished, is to offer reconstruction aid to North Vietnam. The willful violations of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement by Hanoi and the renewed threat to the stability of the government in Cambodia have exasperated most of the rebuild-for-peace forces in the United States.

Powers Remain Separated

In denying President Nixon the right to impound federal highway improvement funds, the U.S. Court of Appeals affirmed the nation's historic separation of powers. The court ruled that the President could not impound the funds, refuse to spend them, for matters unrelated to the program itself.

Nixon had refused to spend the money appropriated by the Congress on the grounds that to do so would be inflationary. Thus, the President cannot use inflation as an excuse to govern the spending of highway money.

That may well undercut a number of other Nixon objectives but we are not too disturbed about this. What is important is that it is the job of the Congress to appropriate money and the job of the President to administer its spending.

If Nixon or any other president had the unlimited power to refuse to spend funds appropriated by Congress, then the law making power of the nation would be in the presidency. Congress could be nothing more than a rubber stamp, approving only what it was assured the President would agree to.

This does not mean that Nixon cannot continue to cut back on government spending. He can, for one thing, continue to put the pressure on Congress for a ceiling on government outlays, a pursuit in which he has experienced some success with Senate adoption this week of a $268 billion federal spending lid.

Also, the President can cut programs for reasons relating to the nature of those programs. Thus, he can cut for the sake of efficiency or on the basis of the nation's needs.

In other words, he still can continue to administer the economic affairs of the nation, which is his responsibility. And that is where his responsibility ought to remain, not over in the legislative area if we are to maintain our historic separation of powers and system of checks and balances.

'Unethical Conduct' Charged

Washington — White House counsel John Wesley Dean III, who prepares all President Nixon's legal opinions, was fired from his first law job for "unethical conduct."

Civil Service Commission files contain a form, dated August 30, 1967, and marked "Inquiry For United States Government Use Only," which gives a report on Dean's dismissal from the prestigious Washington law firm of Welch and Morgan.

The form is signed by Vincent B Welch, senior partner, who checked "Yes" after the question. "To your knowledge has (Dean) ever been discharged or has he resigned from any employment after being told his conduct or work was not satisfactory?"

Under "reason for discharge or resignation," Welch wrote: "Unethical conduct." Asked to "please explain fully," he added: "While employed by this firm, applicant undertook work unbeknownst to us at the time, in direct conflict with the interests of the firm and a client thereof."

The handsome, blond, 34-year-old Dean has provided the legal support for President Nixon's battles with Congress, including the blanket claim of executive privilege, the broad use of the pocket veto and the impoundment of appropriated funds.

The President also assigned Dean to investigate the Watergate mess, although Dean personally had brought one of the Watergate ringleaders, G. Gordon Liddy, into the White House. Not surprisingly, Dean produced a whitewash report exonerating all present White House employes.

The FBI, conducting its own investigation, asked Dean whether E. Howard Hunt, the other Watergate ringleader, had an office in the White House executive office building. Dean claimed not to know, although three days earlier, he had sent aides to search Hunt's office, drill open his safe and clear out any incriminating documents.

Even L. Patrick Gray, the acting FBI director, was compelled under oath to admit that Dean "probably lied" to the FBI. This happens to be a federal offense.

Dean was fired from the Welch and Morgan firm, according to the Civil Service files, on February 4, 1966. He wangled a political appointment as minority counsel to the House Judiciary Committee, under auspices of Rep. William McCulloch, R-Ohio. The following year, Dean was appointed associate director of the National Commission on Reform of Criminal Laws.

Among his duties, he directed a study of "conflict of interest" — the very offense that brought his discharge from the Welch and Morgan firm. A spokesman for the firm refused to confirm or deny that Dean had been fired.

However, attorneys formerly associated with the firm told us Dean was kicked out of the office after he was caught in a conflict over a St. Louis television application. One attorney described his exit as a "forced departure." Another reported more explicitly that Dean wasn't even allowed to pick up his belongings, which were returned to him by mail.

According to this source, Dean had been assigned by the firm to prepare an application for a television license for the Continental Summit Television Corp. At the same time, he allegedly filed a secret, rival application for himself and some friends. Our source said this was grounds for disbarrment, but out of compassion, the firm merely fired him. Another former member of the firm, while agreeing on the circumstances, questioned whether Dean could have been disbarred.

We checked the files at the Federal Communications Commission and found, curiously, that the paperwork handled by Dean is missing from the file. Of course, this may be inadvertent.

We spoke to several attorneys who have worked with Dean. Some describe his work as mediocre at best; others say he is both charming and intelligent. He has used self-hypnosis, says one source, to improve his concentration.

Increasingly, however, the embattled Dean appears to be a weak pillar for the President to rest his bold legal doctrines on. Yet only last week, the President phoned Dean from Key Biscayne, Fla., to express his full support.

Press secretary Ron Ziegler made a point of emphasizing this to newsmen. "The President," said Ziegler, "has complete confidence in Mr. Dean and wanted me again, here this morning to specifically express President Nixon's absolute, total confidence in Mr. Dean in this regard."

Footnote: Civil Service Commission files show that two-and-a-half years later, Mr. Welch watered down the unethical conduct charge. Former firm members say Welch wrote the letter after an appeal from Dean's political friends. The files show he wrote a letter, dated October 29, 1968, to the Civil Service Commission declaring the unethical conduct charge "may have been an overstatement." Welch added rather vaguely: "A more pat characterization of Mr. Dean's departure would be to describe it as having resulted from a basic disagreement over law firm policies regarding the nature and scope of an associate's activities."

POWs And Politics

The personal accounts of torture brought back by our POWs ought to make us resolve to turn Richard Nixon's hoped-for generation of peace into a reality.

The tales of horror are especially ugly when they are multiplied by perhaps tens of thousands or more for the years of terror that came to Vietnam directly through the hands of men or indirectly from airplanes or big guns.

What we are now hearing is horrible enough. What we probably will never hear could be even uglier.

And all of it ought to make our resolution strong — to make peace work and to end whatever human suffering we can wherever it may occur.

The evening of televised accounts of the treatment of prisoners — first in the dramatized version of the seizure of the USS Pueblo and then the tapes of the comments of POWs — made me wonder why Americans don't establish a new unwritten code for prisoners.

The code would say that a prisoner can confess to anything he wants anytime he wants.

Both the Pueblo story and the descriptions of torture at the hands of Vietnamese indicated that those who perpetrate such acts can get a prisoner to say anything in time.

The POWs repeatedly told of new rounds of torture that they were able to last through for a time, but eventually most of them broke anyway.

In many cases, it seemed, what their tormentors wanted was some kind of confession for use in propaganda.

That seems hardly enough to build a case of national honor for.

Instead, all of us who are at home ought to understand that anyone captured may start confessing to anything as soon as he winds up in enemy hands.

If he wanted to do that the minute he's taken, that ought to be all right with the rest of us.

Perhaps it would save POWs the mental and physical anguish that must go with attempts to hold out and that must leave both seen and unseen scars for years to come.

We might even be able to build a better case for national honor if we can point to our efforts to insure that we have given POWs the choice to speak if they want to, accompanied by the assurance that they needn't feel ashamed of such performances when they return.

I suppose a line might have to be drawn on the giving of information which might directly endanger lives somewhere else in the field.

But, with the art of intelligence as sophisticated as it is, that may not be all that important anymore, either

In any case, some kind of unwritten code ought to be adopted, with the hope that it would never have to be used.

☆ ☆ ☆

Another matter which we ought to approach more cautiously than emotion would urge is the connection some would draw between the torture of American POWs and aid to North Vietnam.

There may be good reason not to provide such aid, but I wonder if this is one of them.

If we say we will not aid a country which has shown such cruel disregard for human life. we indict our South Vietnamese allies and ourselves as well.

If Hanoi is not to be helped to rebuild solely because of its treatment of the men who fought for us, what then are we to do about Saigon's tiger cages, where political prisoners were treated with utter disregard for human life?

And, at the same time, what are we to say about our own record of terror in Vietnam?

Although we like to think of ourselves as more humane, even in time of war, the facts seem to be that men on all sides of nearly any war become capable of cruel and inhuman acts.

The human suffering that results is not limited to Americans' suffering.

The agony of other men is just as real.

Thus, when we look at the question of whether we aid North Vietnam, we must look to other criteria or pretend we don't wear the blinders of hypocrisy.

We surely can never repay the debt we owe to the men we sent to fight in Vietnam.

But we might do a better job of it if we resolve to make peace work and to do all we can to make the lives of veterans at home meaningful ones, rather than using them once again as pawns in a game of international politics.

We may find it difficult in such times to live the biblical imperative to "love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you," but no one promised that turning the other cheek would be easy.

In reference to the Northeast Diagonal, we are very concerned. An intensive study was made several years ago. Also a "Traffic Study Group" was hired at great expense. Now some so-called experts say the diagonal is obsolete and needs study. The building of roads can't be started and stopped in a day. After so much research, why is it now obsolete?

Another thought—how can a city be allowed to purchase just so many properties and not be forced to finish the job and purchase the remainder? We have a letter from the city stating our property would be acquired by March, 1972.

Also, why weren't the meetings pertaining to the radial more widely-publicized before, not after, so that only a selected few could attend? Always, the next day we could read about it.

The Coalition Group says our taxes will be raised. That is not true. It is not to be paid by property taxes. The building of houses by the city certainly would! Also, who pays the coalition wages?

One candidate wants the road moved to the east of 48th St. Common sense tells us the acquisition of that property would certainly be more costly and be further from the needed source.

Ingratitude

Lincoln, Neb.

I, along with the rest of the television audience viewing the Academy Awards, waited to see who was best in his or her fields in the motion picture industry.

When the award for the Best Actor was announced, the man I supported won, only to turn down the coveted award. The rejection was directed by an Indian girl, stating Marlon Brando's reasons for not accepting the award.

I admire Mr. Brando for his desire to right a tragic wrong that has been evident in America for too long. I don't feel, however, his actions accomplished anything concrete.

The Academy Awards have become a treasured memorial to all actors and entertainers, and Mr. Brando has chosen that group of people to work with. I feel he should comply with their desire to bestow upon him the Best Actor Award, thus giving honor to the praise so many of them strive to obtain.

Issue Not Clear Cut

Lincoln, Neb.

Although the issue over the rightness or wrongness of abortion is not fully answerable, I nonetheless question the idea that the embryo is essentially any less human than is the fetus in the later stages of reproduction or the baby who is outside of the womb.

It is true that in the first few months of pregnancy the embryo is necessarily extremely primitive, obviously much more so than the newborn baby. But then, a newborn baby is much more primitive mentally and physically than is an adult in his or her prime. Perhaps there is a vaster difference between the newborn baby and the single fertilized egg cell than between an adult and a baby, but this doesn't obscure the fact, as I see it, that the difference between even the single fertilized egg cell and the baby is nothing more than a difference in maturity, not humanity, just as the difference between an adult and a baby is merely a difference in maturity rather than in humanity. At least traditionally, civilization has held that the lives of small children are equally as valuable as those of adults, if not more so.

The difference between the egg cell once it has been fertilized and therefore has begun to develop as a being and the newborn baby or, for that matter, the adult, is, as I see it, one of maturity not humanity.

In any event, as far as I am concerned, the central issue is not the "rights" of the prospective mother but the humanity, or lack of it, belonging to that being which she carries in her womb.

This issue of abortion has never really been clear-cut but has always been largely muddy and confusing with the result that this letter has not been written to condemn anyone who has had an abortion or who is considering such a move. A human being is always treading on shaky ground when he calls others immoral anyway. However, this issue is one that appears to me to effect very basic values of Christianity and of civilization in general. For these reasons, the question over abortion is highly important.

I feel that abortions are quite probably a mistake or at least highly questionable, and it is only asked that the arguments that have just been made be given consideration.

Farmers Unite

Exeter, Neb.

We all hear how much food is going up in price because it is a necessary everyday item we must use. How often does the public hear of all the other items that go higher in a short time? Foe example, diesel fuel last summer sold for 14 cents to the farmer, in February of '73, the price was 16 cents, and today the price is 19 cents per gallon. A total of five cents in about two months, yet will this reach the front page or get a reply from labor leaders or the government? Grain and livestock was high and then they want more land in production to make a surplus to make these items lower. What the farmer needs is a pact or union as tight as labor unions to direct their products and obtain a fair and just uniform return for labor and investment.

Rome — While Russia moves with one hand to improve relations with the United States, it still uses the other hand to undermine American influence abroad.

The Soviet government, according to Western European diplomatic reports from Moscow, is planning a propaganda campaign against American-owned multilateral companies in Europe and Latin America.

These plans envisage the holding of an international conference in Chile later this year to focus attention on the alleged danger of American economic domination of foreign countries created by huge American investments abroad.

Thus, while Leonid Brezhnev, Russia's top ruler, prepares for a goodwill visit to the United States in late May or June, the Soviet propaganda machine is apparently being geared for a new anti-American campaign in the autumn.

Such a campaign aimed at U.S.-owned multilateral corporations abroad could find a large measure of acceptance in both Latin America and Europe.

While American investments have been generally welcomed by European businessmen — since the big American corporations, by acquiring control of antiquated European companies have revitalized them through modernization and American technological and managerial "know-how" — they have become something of a bugaboo to nationalistically minded political leaders.

The American investments, which represent a substantial part of the estimated $80 billion in surplus dollars held abroad, were blamed for contributing to the recent international monetary crisis.

Long welcomed in West Germany, the biggest beneficiary of American investments in Europe, they are now viewed with serious concern by Socialist Chancellor Willy Brandt's government.

The Western European governments are particularly concerned over Washington reports that the Nixon administration is planning to remove the controls imposed by President Johnson in January 1968 on direct investments by American companies abroad.

Studies in Washington have reportedly shown that the main effect of these controls, in the long run, is to reduce the profits of U.S. multinationals remitted to the U.S., mainly because the higher cost of borrowing money abroad cuts into dividends remitted to the parent firm.

Since it is no longer American government policy to support an overvalued dollar, these controls are not seen as doing the U.S. any good. Furthermore, invisible earnings from U.S. multinationals are now regarded in Washington as vital to improvement of the U.S. balance of payments.

The European governments, on the other hand, want to see the controls tightened to prevent the multinationals from sending more capital abroad at a time when Europe feels itself swamped with surplus dollars.

Thus, the Soviets may be able to make some propaganda headway with a campaign aimed at the American-owned multinationals in Latin America and Europe,

What Next In Indochina?

The extent to which the Nixon administration still feels committed to aid anti-communist forces in Southeast Asia should become increasingly clear in coming days because of the threatening positions now held by North Vietnamese and insurgents in Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong reportedly are poised for some sort of major offensive which could be targeted at Saigon itself. The American people have been led to believe that the days of involvement of U.S. manpower on the ground are past and that the South Vietnamese military is strong enough to successfully defend its country. But President Nixon's hawkish speech the other night warned Hanoi of the consequences of increased military activity in the south, implying, while not specifying what this country would do, that the U.S. role might not be over. As columnist James Reston observed last week, the President owes the Congress and the people a definition of the limits of his policy regarding future events in Indochina.

The test of America's commitment might be more severe in Cambodia, where the imperiled regime of Marshal Lon Nol sits surrounded and cut off in the capital, Phnom Penh. The Cambodian army seems incapable of holding off the Khmer Rouge insurgents and their North Vietnamese allies despite heavy American bombing support. The next step the U.S. may take is an airlift to supply Phnom Penh. With pressure coming from President Thieu of South vietnam, who said in Washington Wednesday that a communist victory in Cambodia would pose a dire threat to his country, one can imagine what President Nixon might have in mind for the next step after an airlift.

The American people have sacrificed much for the anti-communist regimes in Indochina and now the President owes them at least an explanation of what he intends to do.

One thing he might not be able to do, even if he wished, is to offer reconstruction aid to North Vietnam. The willful violations of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement by Hanoi and the renewed threat to the stability of the government in Cambodia have exasperated most of the rebuild-for-peace forces in the United States.

Powers Remain Separated

In denying President Nixon the right to impound federal highway improvement funds, the U.S. Court of Appeals affirmed the nation's historic separation of powers. The court ruled that the President could not impound the funds, refuse to spend them, for matters unrelated to the program itself.

Nixon had refused to spend the money appropriated by the Congress on the grounds that to do so would be inflationary. Thus, the President cannot use inflation as an excuse to govern the spending of highway money.

That may well undercut a number of other Nixon objectives but we are not too disturbed about this. What is important is that it is the job of the Congress to appropriate money and the job of the President to administer its spending.

If Nixon or any other president had the unlimited power to refuse to spend funds appropriated by Congress, then the law making power of the nation would be in the presidency. Congress could be nothing more than a rubber stamp, approving only what it was assured the President would agree to.

This does not mean that Nixon cannot continue to cut back on government spending. He can, for one thing, continue to put the pressure on Congress for a ceiling on government outlays, a pursuit in which he has experienced some success with Senate adoption this week of a $268 billion federal spending lid.

Also, the President can cut programs for reasons relating to the nature of those programs. Thus, he can cut for the sake of efficiency or on the basis of the nation's needs.

In other words, he still can continue to administer the economic affairs of the nation, which is his responsibility. And that is where his responsibility ought to remain, not over in the legislative area if we are to maintain our historic separation of powers and system of checks and balances.

JACK ANDERSON

'Unethical Conduct' Charged

Washington — White House counsel John Wesley Dean III, who prepares all President Nixon's legal opinions, was fired from his first law job for "unethical conduct."

Civil Service Commission files contain a form, dated August 30, 1967, and marked "Inquiry For United States Government Use Only," which gives a report on Dean's dismissal from the prestigious Washington law firm of Welch and Morgan.

The form is signed by Vincent B. Welch, senior partner, who checked "Yes" after the question: "To your knowledge has (Dean) ever been discharged or has he resigned from any employment after being told his conduct or work was not satisfactory?"

Under "reason for discharge or resignation," Welch wrote: "Unethical conduct." Asked to "please explain fully," he added: "While employed by this firm, applicant undertook work unbeknownst to us at the time, in direct conflict with the interests of the firm and a client thereof."

The handsome, blond, 34-year-old Dean has provided the legal support for President Nixon's battles with Congress, including the blanket claim of executive privilege, the broad use of the pocket veto and the impoundment of appropriated funds.

The President also assigned Dean to investigate the Watergate mess, although Dean personally had brought one of the Watergate ringleaders, G. Gordon Liddy, into the White House. Not surprisingly, Dean produced a whitewash report exonerating all present White House employes.

The FBI, conducting its own investigation, asked Dean whether E. Howard Hunt, the other Watergate ringleader, had an office in the White House executive office building. Dean claimed not to know, although three days earlier, he had sent aides to search Hunt's office, drill open his safe and clear out any incriminating documents.

Even L. Patrick Gray, the acting FBI director, was compelled under oath to admit that Dean "probably lied" to the FBI. This happens to be a federal offense.

Dean was fired from the Welch and Morgan firm, according to the Civil Service files, on February 4, 1966. He wangled a political appointment as minority counsel to the House Judiciary Committee, under auspices of Rep. William McCulloch, R-Ohio. The following year, Dean was appointed associate director of the National Commission on Reform of Criminal Laws.

Among his duties, he directed a study of "conflict of interest" — the very offense that brought his discharge from the Welch and Morgan firm. A spokesman for the firm refused to confirm or deny that Dean had been fired.

However, attorneys formerly associated with the firm told us Dean was kicked out of the office after he was caught in a conflict over a St. Louis television application. One attorney described his exit as a "forced departure." Another reported more explicitly that Dean wasn't even allowed to pick up his belongings, which were returned to him by mail.

According to this source, Dean had been assigned by the firm to prepare an application for a television license for the Continental Summit Television Corp. At the same time, he allegedly filed a secret, rival application for himself and some friends. Our source said this was grounds for disbarrment, but out of compassion, the firm merely fired him. Another former member of the firm, while agreeing on the circumstances, questioned whether Dean could have been disbarred.

We checked the files at the Federal Communications Commission and found, curiously, that the paperwork handled by Dean is missing from the file. Of course, this may be inadvertent.

We spoke to several attorneys who have worked with Dean. Some describe his work as mediocre at best; others say he is both charming and intelligent. He has used self-hypnosis, says one source, to improve his concentration.

Increasingly, however, the embattled Dean appears to be a weak pillar for the President to rest his bold legal doctrines on. Yet only last week, the President phoned Dean from Key Biscayne, Fla., to express his full support.

Press secretary Ron Ziegler made a point of emphasizing this to newsmen. "The President," said Ziegler, "has complete confidence in Mr. Dean and wanted me again, here this morning to specifically express President Nixon's absolute, total confidence in Mr. Dean in this regard."

Footnote: Civil Service Commission files show that two-and-a-half years later, Mr. Welch watered down the unethical conduct charge. Former firm members say Welch wrote the letter after an appeal from Dean's political friends. The files show he wrote a letter, dated October 29, 1968, to the Civil Service Commission declaring the unethical conduct charge "may have been an overstatement." Welch added rather vaguely: "A more pat characterization of Mr. Dean's departure would be to describe it as having resulted from a basic disagreement over law firm policies regarding the nature and scope of an associate's activities."

POWs And Politics

The personal accounts of torture brought back by our POWs ought to make us resolve to turn Richard Nixon's hoped-for generation of peace into a reality.

The tales of horror are especially ugly when they are multiplied by perhaps tens of thousands or more for the years of terror that came to Vietnam directly through the hands of men or indirectly from airplanes or big guns.

What we are now hearing is horrible enough. What we probably will never hear could be even uglier.

And all of it ought to make our resolution strong — to make peace work and to end whatever human suffering we can wherever it may occur.

The evening of televised accounts of the treatment of prisoners — first in the dramatized version of the seizure of the USS Pueblo and then the tapes of the comments of POWs — made me wonder why Americans don't establish a new unwritten code for prisoners.

The code would say that a prisoner can confess to anything he wants anytime he wants.

Both the Pueblo story and the descriptions of torture at the hands of Vietnamese indicated that those who perpetrate such acts can get a prisoner to say anything in time.

The POWs repeatedly told of new rounds of torture that they were able to last through for a time, but eventually most of them broke anyway.

In many cases, it seemed, what their tormentors wanted was some kind of confession for use in propaganda.

That seems hardly enough to build a case of national honor for.

Instead, all of us who are at home ought to understand that anyone captured may start confessing to anything as soon as he winds up in enemy hands.

If he wanted to do that the minute he's taken, that ought to be all right with the rest of us.

Perhaps it would save POWs the mental and physical anguish that must go with attempts to hold out and that must leave both seen and unseen scars for years to come.

We might even be able to build a better case for national honor if we can point to our efforts to insure that we have given POWs the choice to speak if they want to, accompanied by the assurance that they needn't feel ashamed of such performances when they return.

I suppose a line might have to be drawn on the giving of information which might directly endanger lives somewhere else in the field.

But, with the art of intelligence as sophisticated as it is, that may not be all that important anymore, either.

In any case, some kind of unwritten code ought to be adopted, with the hope that it would never have to be used.

☆ ☆ ☆

Another matter which we ought to approach more cautiously than emotion would urge is the connection some would draw between the torture of American POWs and aid to North Vietnam.

There may be good reason not to provide such aid, but I wonder if this is one of them.

If we say we will not aid a country which has shown such cruel disregard for human life. we indict our South Vietnamese allies and ourselves as well.

If Hanoi is not to be helped to rebuild solely because of its treatment of the men who fought for us, what then are we to do about Saigon's tiger cages, where political prisoners were treated with utter disregard for human life?

And, at the same time, what are we to say about our own record of terror in Vietnam?

Although we like to think of ourselves as more humane, even in time of war, the facts seem to be that men on all sides of nearly any war become capable of cruel and inhuman acts.

The human suffering that results is not limited to Americans' suffering.

The agony of other men is just as real.

Thus, when we look at the question of whether we aid North Vietnam, we must look to other criteria or pretend we don't wear the blinders of hypocrisy.

We surely can never repay the debt we owe to the men we sent to fight in Vietnam.

But we might do a better job of it if we resolve to make peace work and to do all we can to make the lives of veterans at home meaningful ones, rather than using them once again as pawns in a game of international politics.

We may find it difficult in such times to live the biblical imperative to "love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you," but no one promised that turning the other cheek would be easy.

Letters To The Editor

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by the writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

N.E. Radial

Lincoln, Neb.

In reference to the Northeast Diagonal, we are very concerned. An intensive study was made several years ago. Also a "Traffic Study Group" was hired at great expense. Now some so-called experts say the diagonal is obsolete and needs study. The building of roads can't be started and stopped in a day. After so much research, why is it now obsolete?

Another thought—how can a city be allowed to purchase just so many properties and not be forced to finish the job and purchase the remainder? We have a letter from the city stating our property would be acquired by March, 1972.

Also, why weren't the meetings pertaining to the radial more widely-publicized before, not after, so that only a selected few could attend? Always, the next day we could read about it.

The Coalition Group says our taxes will be raised. That is not true. It is not to be paid by property taxes. The building of houses by the city certainly would! Also, who pays the coalition wages?

One candidate wants the road moved to the east of 48th St. Common sense tells us the acquisition of that property would certainly be more costly and be further from the needed source.

Ingratitude

Lincoln, Neb.

I, along with the rest of the television audience viewing the Academy Awards, waited to see who was best in his or her fields in the motion picture industry.

When the award for the Best Actor was announced, the man I supported won, only to turn down the coveted award. The rejection was directed by an Indian girl, stating Marlon Brando's reasons for not accepting the award.

I admire Mr. Brando for his desire to right a tragic wrong that has been evident in America for too long. I don't feel, however, his actions accomplished anything concrete.

The Academy Awards have become a treasured memorial to all actors and entertainers, and Mr. Brando has chosen that group of people to work with. I feel he should comply with their desire to bestow upon him the Best Actor Award, thus giving honor to the praise so many of them strive to obtain.

Issue Not Clear Cut

Lincoln, Neb.

Although the issue over the rightness or wrongness of abortion is not fully answerable, I nonetheless question the idea that the embryo is essentially any less human than is the fetus in the later stages of reproduction or the baby who is outside of the womb.

It is true that in the first few months of pregnancy the embryo is necessarily extremely primitive, obviously much more so than the newborn baby. But then, a newborn baby is much more primitive mentally and physically than is an adult in his or her prime. Perhaps there is a vaster difference between the newborn baby and the single fertilized egg cell than between an adult and a baby, but this doesn't obscure the fact, as I see it, that the difference between even the single fertilized egg cell and the baby is nothing more than a difference in maturity, not humanity, just as the difference between an adult and a baby is merely a difference in maturity rather than in humanity. At least traditionally, civilization has held that the lives of small children are equally as valuable as those of adults, if not more so.

The difference between the egg cell once it has been fertilized and therefore has begun to develop as a being and the newborn baby or, for that matter, the adult, is, as I see it, one of maturity not humanity.

In any event, as far as I am concerned, the central issue is not the "rights" of the prospective mother but the humanity, or lack of it, belonging to that being which she carries in her womb.

This issue of abortion has never really been clear-cut but has always been largely muddy and confusing with the result that this letter has not been written to condemn anyone who has had an abortion or who is considering such a move. A human being is always treading on shaky ground when he calls others immoral anyway. However, this issue is one that appears to me to effect very basic values of Christianity and of civilization in general. For these reasons, the question over abortion is highly important.

I feel that abortions are quite probably a mistake or at least highly questionable, and it is only asked that the arguments that have just been made be given consideration.

Farmers Unite

Exeter, Neb.

We all hear how much food is going up in price because it is a necessary everyday item we must use. How often does the public hear of all the other items that go higher in a short time? Foe example, diesel fuel last summer sold for 14 cents to the farmer, in February of '73, the price was 16 cents, and today the price is 19 cents per gallon. A total of five cents in about two months, yet will this reach the front page or get a reply from labor leaders or the government? Grain and livestock was high and then they want more land in production to make a surplus to make these items lower. What the farmer needs is a pact or union as tight as labor unions to direct their products and obtain a fair and just uniform return for labor and investment.

Committee Airs Claims By Patrolman, Prisoner

By United Press International

A state prison inmate seeking $20,000 for partial disability and a former state patrolman seeking $2,639 in overtime pay appeared before a Claims Committee of the Legislature Thursday.

But in both cases, Harold Salter, representing the state attorney general's office, recommended no legislative action.

The same recommendation was made on a claim filed by Banner County for $1,448 for the operation of the county court there

The county contended that because the constitution prohibits the use of local property tax money in the operation of state government, then the state should have been paying for the court rather than the county.

Salter said he felt that if one county had a valid claim for such reimbursement, "then so do 92 other counties." That, he added, should be decided by the courts in the form of a suit.

The prison inmate, Jerry J. Sheldon, has been a barber during his term in prison on a burglary related conviction and over the years he has developed a leg condition similar to vericose veins.

Physicians have rated him as being 60% disabled and have limited his standing time to two hours at most or his legs begin to swell, the committee was told.

The condition has existed for some time and now there is no way of curing it, Sheldon said.

"If they get too bad, they would have to just cut these legs off — that's all they can do," he said.

The condition resulted, he said, from prison rules which prohibited him from doing anything but stand beside his chair even when he had no customer.

Specifically responsible for the condition, the inmate said, was the concrete floor and its damp condition. The dampness is caused by a shower room which is located adjacent to the barber shop

Sheldon said he wants the money to re-train himself for another job which doesn't require standing. He is scheduled to be released in May. Salter said that claim too should be settled in court.

Carl Grossoehme of Omaha, who retired from the State Patrol in 1970, said he accumulated the overtime over a period of five years.

Salter said there is no question that until last year, when the Legislature both directed the payment of overtime and provided the cash to pay it, patrolmen were treated unfairly.

"There is no question but what patrolmen, since the inception of the patrol in the 1930's, have been treated unfairly on overtime," he said.

But at the same time, he said, when patrolmen went to work, they did so with the understanding there was no money to pay for the extra hours.

Salter said if anything is to be done, then it shouldn't be done just for Grossoehme.

"It would seem to me it should be settled for one person," he said. "It should be done through some general legislative action for the benefit of all."

Matzke Blasts Legislature's Fiscal Staff

By The Associated Press

State Economic Development Director Stanley Matzke Jr. Thursday accused the Legislature's fiscal staff of giving bad advice to the Appropriations Committee with respect to budget recommendations for the Department of Economic Development (DED).

He referred to cuts recommended by the committee from appropriations requested by the department.

Noting that the Appropriations Committee often must rely on information supplied by the fiscal analyst's office, he said this office in this case appeared to be "operating in a vacuum, since they made no effort to talk to me or anybody in my department about the items that were cut from our budget."

Previously, he said, the fiscal staff consulted him when cuts were contemplated. "We didn't always get what we wanted, but at least we had some input. This year we had more and because of this, I can't help but believe the fiscal staff has arbitrarily decided where it was going to recommend that our budget be cut, and in this case it appears that the fiscal staff didn't even know what they were doing."

As an example, he said DED had asked authorization to spend $13,500 in federal funds for upgrading training opportunities for rural local government officials. The Appropriations Committee approved this request, but reduced the general fund ongoing program by a like amount, contrary to federal regulations.

Matzke complained also that the committee disallowed money to hire persons to collect admissions at the Aerospace Museum at Bellevue, nullifying $30,000 which was allowed for the museum, to come out of admissions. At the same time he said, the committee took $30,000 out of the general fund appropriation requested.

Most of the blame, Matzke said, "belongs to the fiscal analyst staff."

"This year, the fiscal analyst evidently decided to play dictator," he said. "For all I know the fiscal office put our budget upon a dart board and decided to recommend cuts wherever the darts landed."

Legislators Advance 15 Non-Controversial Bills

Legislators busied themselves with non-controversial bills Thursday afternoon before heading home for a three-day weekend.

A total of 15 bills were given preliminary approval and advanced off general file, the first of three stages of floor consideration.

Most of the measures are relatively minor and noncontroversial and floor action during the two-hour session was comprised largely of explanations of the bills by their sponsors.

A large number of senators were absent Thursday afternoon.

Only a handful of negative votes were cast as the bills advanced.

Among the bills approved were:

—LB402 which would authorize county roads to contract with educational service units to perform the duties of the county school superintendent

—LB511 which creates a division of social services within the State Welfare Department

—LB455 extending from 120 to 145 months the maximum duration of an installment sale for mobile homes

—LB501 requiring the defendant in a criminal court action to notify the prosecution 10 days before the trial begins if insanity is to be used as a defense

—LB504, permitting the use of videotape equipment for providing depositions in court

—LB374 requiring the game and parks commission to develop a five-year plan for recreation road construction. No such plan is now required

LB498 providing disability retirement benefits to members of the state employes retirement system

—LB306 requiring the Educational Television Commission to maintain a film library about Nebraska historical figures

Unicam Adds Exemption To Child Abuse Bil'

The Legislature Thursday added an exemption for certain religious groups to a bill now before the Unicameral which would require reporting of child abuse cases

The bill, LB207, was then given second stage approval and moved toward final reading next week

The exemption was attached when 26-0 approval was given to a motion by Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln to amend a section of the bill which defines child abuse.

The bill includes a prohibition against placing a child in a position where his or her health or life might be endangered.

But Barnett said some religious groups, including the Christian Scientists, do not subscribe to medical treatment and his amendment would exempt from the law those persons holding such beliefs.

The bill was sponsored by Sen Shirley Marsh of Lincoln and requires reporting of child abuse cases to a central registry.

Committee Airs Claims By Patrolman, Prisoner

By United Press International

A state prison inmate seeking $20,000 for partial disability and a former state patrolman seeking $2,639 in overtime pay appeared before a Claims Committee of the Legislature Thursday.

But in both cases, Harold Salter, representing the state attorney general's office, recommended no legislative action.

The same recommendation was made on a claim filed by Banner County for $1,448 for the operation of the county court there.

The county contended that because the constitution prohibits the use of local property tax money in the operation of state government, then the state should have been paying for the court rather than the county.

Salter said he felt that if one county had a valid claim for such reimbursement, "then so do 92 other counties." That, he added, should be decided by the courts in the form of a suit.

The prison inmate, Jerry J. Sheldon, has been a barber during his term in prison on a burglary related conviction and over the years he has developed a leg condition similar to vericose veins.

Physicians have rated him as being 60% disabled and have limited his standing time to two hours at most or his legs begin to swell, the committee was told.

The condition has existed for some time and now there is no way of curing it, Sheldon said.

"If they get too bad, they would have to just cut these legs off — that's all they can do," he said.

The condition resulted, he said, from prison rules which prohibited him from doing anything but stand beside his chair even when he had no customer.

Specifically responsible for the condition, the inmate said, was the concrete floor and its damp condition. The dampness is caused by a shower room which is located adjacent to the barber shop.

Sheldon said he wants the money to re-train himself for another job which doesn't require standing. He is scheduled to be released in May. Salter said that claim too should be settled in court.

Carl Grossoehme of Omaha, who retired from the State Patrol in 1970, said he accumulated the overtime over a period of five years.

Salter said there is no question that until last year, when the Legislature both directed the payment of overtime and provided the cash to pay it, patrolmen were treated unfairly.

"There is no question but what patrolmen, since the inception of the patrol in the 1930's, have been treated unfairly on overtime," he said.

But at the same time, he said, when patrolmen went to work, they did so with the understanding there was no money to pay for the extra hours.

Salter said if anything is to be done, then it shouldn't be done just for Grossoehme.

"It would seem to me it should be settled for one person," he said. "It should be done through some general legislative action for the benefit of all."

Matzke Blasts Legislature's Fiscal Staff

By The Associated Press

State Economic Development Director Stanley Matzke Jr. Thursday accused the Legislature's fiscal staff of giving bad advice to the Appropriations Committee with respect to budget recommendations for the Department of Economic Development (DED).

He referred to cuts recommended by the committee from appropriations requested by the department.

Noting that the Appropriations Committee often must rely on information supplied by the fiscal analyst's office, he said this office in this case appeared to be "operating in a vacuum, since they made no effort to talk to me or anybody in my department about the items that were cut from our budget."

Previously, he said, the fiscal staff consulted him when cuts were contemplated. "We didn't always get what we wanted, but at least we had some input. This year we had more and because of this, I can't help but believe the fiscal staff has arbitrarily decided where it was going to recommend that our budget be cut, and in this case it appears that the fiscal staff didn't even know what they were doing."

As an example, he said DED had asked authorization to spend $13,500 in federal funds for upgrading training opportunities for rural local government officials. The Appropriations Committee approved this request, but reduced the general fund ongoing program by a like amount, contrary to federal regulations.

Matzke complained also that the committee disallowed money to hire persons to collect admissions at the Aerospace Museum at Bellevue, nullifying $30,000 which was allowed for the museum, to come out of admissions. At the same time he said, the committee took $30,000 out of the general fund appropriation requested.

Most of the blame, Matzke said, "belongs to the fiscal analyst staff."

"This year, the fiscal analyst evidently decided to play dictator," he said. "For all I know the fiscal office put our budget upon a dart board and decided to recommend cuts wherever the darts landed."

Bill To Require Blood Tests In Fatal Accidents Revived

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Legislators decided Thursday to give a full hearing in the Unicameral to a bill which would require blood tests of all victims and drivers involved in a fatal auto accident.

A bill to require the tests, LB66, was raised to the floor when senators gave 25-9 approval to a motion by Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln, sponsor of the measure.

The bill had been killed last month by the Agriculture and Recreation Committee after committee members decided the measure was ambiguous and unneeded.

But Barnett termed LB66 "a vital piece of legislation" in efforts to cut down the highway death and injury toll. The bill is wanted by Gov. J J Exon as part of Exon's campaign for safe driving.

Currently, said Barnett, national statistics indicate about 50 per cent of all highway fatalities are related to alcohol. But there is no way to accurately measure those figures in Nebraska and some persons believe the state figure may be as low as 15 to 20 per cent, he said.

"This would permit an indepth investigation," he said. Currently, "guesswork" is involved when a determination is attempted as to the cause of an accident.

Barnett agreed with some senators who raised questions about the use of the statistics and reports in later court actions, and said a compromise can be reached on just who will perform the tests and how the reports may be used.

Sen. Walter Epke of York, a member of the committee, said he supports the concept of the bill, "but it was never proved to me what the bill is needed for and I thought it was poorly prepared."

Sen. Otho Kime of Valentine raised the question of "who is going to give consent" to taking blood samples from a dead body.

And Sen. Cal Carsten of Avoca said "we have not had answers to how the statistics could be used."

That's a problem which can be worked out later, Barnett contended.

"There are some problems in the wording of the bill, but we need it to help us gain more information about the true causes of accidents. At the present time, it is a hit-and-miss proposition," Barnett said.

Damages Report Measure OKd

By United Press International

Legislation given final approval by the Legislature Thursday would require that Nebraskans involved in motor vehicle accidents in which damages are more than $250 must file a state accident report.

The bill, LB417, was sent to the governor on a 41-1 final approval vote. Sen. Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell was the only dissenting vote.

State law now requires the filing of accident reports when totages total $100 or more.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Steven Fowler of Lincoln, who said the present cutting-off point is outdated.

Damages resulting from vehicle accidents, because of inflation, are higher now than they were a few years ago in all cases, he said, and thus the law should be changed to reflect that situation.

The measure would not change the mandatory reporting of any accident, regardless of damages, in which anyone was either injured or killed.

One-Bank Holding Act Passed

The Legislature passed and sent to the governor Thursday a proposed one-bank holding act for the state.

The vote of the lawmakers on South Sioux City Sen. John Murphy's LB441 was 43-0.

According to Murphy, the purpose of the measure was to allow the State Banking Department to establish rules and regulations for use in the control of such institutions.

He said there is no problem at present which the measure is attempting to correct, but it is instead an attempt to make sure the state would have the ability to step in if necessary.

Man Stumbles Into Disaster

ANN ARBOR, Mich (AP) — Behavorial psychologist B F Skinner says Western society is leading mankind in a short-sighted stumble toward disaster.

He told a University of Michigan audience he blames the desire for instant gratification, as exemplified by an "excessive indulgence in drugs, sex and alcohol."

"There will be too many people in the world," Skinner declared, "the natural resources will be diluted, the land, sea and air polluted beyond recovery, and some madman will reduce his stockpile of nuclear weapons.

"The question is how the future is to be made important to those who are so thoroughly tempted by the immediate gratifications."

Record Due

Washington — The U.S. high school graduating class of 1973 is expected to exceed 3.1 million, a record.

Vet To Return As Missionary

SAIGON (AP) — Look at it this way, America's lost a Seabee but gained a missionary.

John Tabor, 28, wound up his third Vietnam tour seven years ago, and shed his Navy uniform to enter a Roman Catholic seminary here. He's due to be ordained soon and hopes eventually to be assigned to Da Nang Province, to spend the rest of his life among the Vietnamese.

"I'll always be an American," said the former Seabee. "No way of getting around that. I love America. I fought for America and I was willing to die for America ... But I'd rather stay here and die for a reason than go back to the States."

Bill To Require Blood Tests In Fatal Accidents Revived

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Legislators decided Thursday to give a full hearing in the Unicameral to a bill which would require blood tests of all victims and drivers involved in a fatal auto accident.

A bill to require the tests, LB66, was raised to the floor when senators gave 25-9 approval to a motion by Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln, sponsor of the measure.

The bill had been killed last month by the Agriculture and Recreation Committee after committee members decided the measure was ambiguous and unneeded.

But Barnett termed LB66 "a vital piece of legislation" in efforts to cut down the highway death and injury toll. The bill is wanted by Gov. J. J. Exon as part of Exon's campaign for safe driving.

Currently, said Barnett, national statistics indicate about 50 per cent of all highway fatalities are related to alcohol. But there is no way to accurately measure those figures in Nebraska and some persons believe the state figure may be as low as 15 to 20 per cent, he said.

"This would permit an in-depth investigation," he said. Currently, "guesswork" is involved when a determination is attempted as to the cause of an accident.

Barnett agreed with some senators who raised questions about the use of the statistics and reports in later court actions, and said a compromise can be reached on just who will perform the tests and how the reports may be used.

Sen. Walter Epke of York, a member of the committee, said he supports the concept of the bill, "but it was never proved to me what the bill is needed for and I thought it was poorly prepared."

Sen. Otho Kime of Valentine raised the question of "who is going to give consent" to taking blood samples from a dead body.

And Sen. Cal Carsten of Avoca said "we have not had answers to how the statistics could be used."

That's a problem which can be worked out later, Barnett contended.

"There are some problems in the wording of the bill, but we need it to help us gain more information about the true causes of accidents. At the present time, it is a hit-and-miss proposition," Barnett said.

Damages Report Measure OKd

By United Press International

Legislation given final approval by the Legislature Thursday would require that Nebraskans involved in motor vehicle accidents in which damages were more than $250 must file a state accident report.

The bill, LB417, was sent to the governor on a 41-1 final approval vote. Sen. Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell was the only dissenting vote.

State law now requires the filing of accident reports when totages total $100 or more.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Steven Fowler of Lincoln, who said the present cutting-off point is outdated.

Damages resulting from vehicle accidents, because of inflation, are higher now than they were a few years ago in all cases, he said, and thus the law should be changed to reflect that situation.

The measure would not change the mandatory reporting of any accident, regardless of damages, in which anyone was either injured or killed.

One-Bank Holding Act Passed

The Legislature passed and sent to the governor Thursday a proposed one-bank holding act for the state.

The vote of the lawmakers on South Sioux City Sen. John Murphy's LB441 was 43-0.

According to Murphy, the purpose of the measure was to allow the State Banking Department to establish rules and regulations for use in the control of such institutions.

He said there is no problem at present which the measure is attempting to correct, but it is instead an attempt to make sure the state would have the ability to step in if necessary.

Man Stumbles Into Disaster

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Behavorial psychologist B.F. Skinner says Western society is leading mankind in a short-sighted stumble toward disaster.

He told a University of Michigan audience he blames the desire for instant gratification, as exemplified by an "excessive indulgence in drugs, sex and alcohol."

"There will be too many people in the world," Skinner declared, "the natural resources will be diluted, the land, sea and air polluted beyond recovery, and some madman will reduce his stockpile of nuclear weapons.

"The question is how the future is to be made important to those who are so thoroughly tempted by the immediate gratifications."

Vet To Return As Missionary

SAIGON (AP) — Look at it this way, America's lost a Seabee but gained a missionary.

John Tabor, 28, wound up his third Vietnam tour seven years ago, and shed his Navy uniform to enter a Roman Catholic seminary here. He's due to be ordained soon and hopes eventually to be assigned to Da Nang Province, to spend the rest of his life among the Vietnamese.

"I'll always be an American," said the former Seabee. "No way of getting around that. I love America. I fought for America and I was willing to die for America ... But I'd rather stay here and die for a reason than go back to the States."

Unexpected Numbers File For Exemptions

By United Press International

The number of Nebraska's elderly filing under the expanded Homestead Exemption Law of 1972 appears to be more than was originally anticipated, a state official said Thursday

Wilber Houtchens of the State Revenue Department's Property Tax Division said the agency is running short of filing forms

"Requests for forms are double the number originally anticipated " he said "therefore it appears that there is a greater number applying for it (the exemption) than we had anticipated

However, the official said, that doesn't necessarily mean there will actually be double the number of exemptions filed.

"We know there are going to be a lot of forms sitting around all over the place and that's all right " Houtchens said

During the floor debate in the Legislature last year Sen Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who authored the expanded exemption plan for the elderly, put a $7 million a year price tag on the bill

$125 Limit

Under the terms of the law, homeowners 65-years-old or older may file for an exemption equal to 25% of the tax on the homestead not to exceed $125

To qualify for the exemption however, gross income limits are to be taken into consideration as well as age

The additional qualifications on income include:

—$2,800 maximum gross income if the person is single, widowed, separated or divorced

—$3,550 if married with one spouse 65 or older

—$4,300 if married and both the husband and wife are over 65

There is a bill pending in the Legislature this year which Houtchens said would change the method of figuring the exemption. Instead of basing the exemption on the tax bill, it would be based on the actual value of the homestead

Some Questions

Houtchens also said there is a provision in this year's bill which has resulted in some questions It would change the filing deadline from June 1 to April 1

But the official said that change would not go into effect until next year if the bill is adopted.

Houtchens also said there has been some confusion on where the exemption application should be filed this year once completed

The law, he said, requires that the applications be filed with the State Revenue Department.

But, he said, by means of informal agreements with county assessors, the applications are being accepted locally and then forwarded to the state by the county

Exon Hasn't Made Up Mind On Acquisition Of Hiram Scott

Gov J James Exon said Thursday he hasn't made up his mind on whether to sign or veto a bill now in the Legislature which would permit the University of Nebraska to acquire the former Hiram Scott College facilities in Scottsbluff

The bill LB179, has been advanced from general file and will probably show up on final reading in about 10 days It will go to Exon if it passes

Exon said he has been promised a report on NU plans for the campus by NU President D B Varner, but the governor has not yet received the report

"Right now I'm kind of in the dark about what NU will do with the campus. Exon said "I would be for it if I could be convinced it would not represent a duplication of educational services

The bill would limit NU programs at the campus, site of a defunct private college, to health and agriculture and NU officials have been developing plans for the campus

"I haven't made a final determination on what to do with the bill if it passes explained Exon "Before I do anything, I want more information about plans for the place "

Sealed-Bid Auction Designed To Back Fair Beef Program

A sealed-bid auction has been designed to support the State Fair 4-H beef program this year and Nebraska businessmen will be invited to participate

The program is designed to emphasize livestock production skills along with the preparation of a calf for showing at the fair.

The marketing system that will be used to sell the animals will be similar to that used by farmers who sell animals to meat processors on a grade and yield basis

"The objective of the committee is to find twelve sponsors who will provide financial support for the top ten animals and the grand and reserve champions," said Roger Larson, chairman of the committee

Firms interested in providing prize money will be asked to submit sealed bids for the prizes offered.

The biggest bidder will present the check to the animal's owner at a special breakfast during the fair and will be on hand at the time the prize is awarded to the animal in the show ring

In the event of a tie on the bidding the bidder who has been involved in supporting 4-H beef projects longest will win the bid If there is still a tie, then a food purveyor, such as a restaurant, will be given priority in the bidding.

If there is still a tie after these factors are considered the winner will be selected by a drawing.

A five-man committee made up of non bidders will open the bids and announce the winners

A parade of champions will replace the traditional auction as a ceremonial event on the final day of the 4-H livestock show, according to Dr Dave Williams extension 4-H livestock specialist

Sentence Handed Sanchell For Rape, Robbery Incidents

A 20-year-old Lincoln man was sentenced Thursday to a total of from eight to 13 years in the Nebraska Penal Complex on a charge of rape and three counts of robbery involving University of Nebraska coeds

Joseph Sanchell of 229 No 11th, who had pleaded innocent to the four charges, had been found guilty on all four counts by a Lancaster District Court jury March 23

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin sentenced Sanchell to from five to eight years on the rape charge in connection with a Jan 22, 1972, incident involving a University of Nebraska-Lincoln coed

Judge Ronin also sentenced Sanchell to from three to five years on one of the robbery charges and ordered the term to run consecutive to the rape sentence

On the other two robbery charges Judge Ronin sentenced Sanchell to from three to five years on each with the terms to run concurrently to the third count of robbery

North Platte Cobblestones Get Reprieve

North Platte (UPI) — Well-known North Platte author Nellie Yost may have given North Platte's historic cobblestone streets a reprieve from the asphalt jungle

Mrs. Yost, speaking for the Lincoln County Historical Society, told the city council that the brick paving in the vicinity of the old Union Pacific depot contributes to the overall beauty of the area, which "is likely" to be named a national historical monument "in the near future."

The council delayed the modernizing move and Mayor Robert Phares said Wednesday the cobblestones "might be saved" permanently And if some of the 50-year-old paving goes bad, stones may be imported from other areas as replacements

Churches Group Elects Maude Wilson

The Lincoln Fellowship of Churches (LFC) board of directors Thursday elected Maude Wilson board vice president. She replaces the Rev Verne Spindell, Vine Congregational pastor, who has accepted a post in New Mexico.

The board elected Dr. Glover Leitch, First Presbyterian minister, as clergy representative to the downtown ministerial sector. Rev. Leitch succeeds the Rev. Tom Evans, First Plymouth Congregational associate pastor, who is also leaving Lincoln.

Rev Dwight Ganzel, Grace United Methodist pastor, was named LFC nursing home ministry committee chairman. Rev Donald Bredthauer, First United Methodist associate pastor, accepted the chairmanship of the LFC housing committee

In regular business, board members voted not to provide financial support to the Commission on Regional and Local Ecumenism (CORLE). The board reasoned that while it should seek ways to make ecumenism more effective, it did not want to jeopardize any cooperation among non-member groups.

Wilbur Dasenbrock, LFC treasurer, noted that the organization is about "$400 down from this point in time in 1972." LFC's balance as of March 30 was $507.47. He said expected cash inflow should maintain LFC in the black.

The board discussed exploring a change in LFC's funding method for next year; it is run largely on pledges and contributions. Dasenbrock expressed concern about withdrawal of financial support by some churches, which are "suffering from the cost squeeze," he said.

Board members approved guidelines for a program to recruit a new group of ministers for the "Friday Morning Message" on KOLN-TV, Channel 10 in Lincoln. Rev. Bob Jeamby, Inter Church Ministers of Nebraska executive secretary, submitted the proposal from the media committee.

In other committee action, the board voted to conduct a training seminar for a group of volunteer ministers who will conduct workship services on a regular basis for people in nursing homes.

Rev. Spindell said he hopes the program will grow to include youth and lay participation.

Lois Weaver of the pantry committee submitted a city-wide plan for coordination of church-based pantries. The committee recommended that because of funding cuts in community service programs, providing emergency food service should be assumed by other community agencies, preferably churches.

The board endorsed the pantry coordination plan and recommended that it be implemented Ms. Weaver announced the Lutheran metro sector will hold a workshop April 30 at Tabitha Home to show how to maintain pantry resources.

Short-Hair Wigs OKd For One More Month

Members of the U.S. Marine Corps squadron in Lincoln will be able to wear their short-hair wigs to reserve meetings for another month, U S District Judge Robert Van Pelt said Thursday

The ruling extended a temporary oral order Van Pelt issued last month that squadron officers not enforce a ban on wigs until he had ruled on a motion for a temporary injunction against the ban

Van Pelt said following the hearing that he would try to rule on the motion before the reserve meeting this weekend

However, he noted that counsel for the parties, through no fault of their own, had not been able to adhere to the schedule for submission of briefs and consequently the court did not have time to study the briefs.

The suit, filed by 13 members of the Lincoln squadron, alleges that an order issued Jan. 18 by Col. Carl Ackerman, commanding officer of the unit, banning the wearing of wigs, infringes on the constitutional rights.

However, the Marine Corps contends that the phsychological climate created by the dichotomy of hair styles between the Marine regulars and the reservists would harm the ability of the regulars in a national emergency.

Research On Radiation From Rotation Foreseen

A professor of physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology said Thursday that study of radiation produced by rotation rather than stars may become one of the "rising themes" in astronomy

Phillip Morrison, winner of many prizes in astronomy said in a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Montgomery Lecture that "unusual radiation" may be the product of objects whose evolution was controlled by rotation rather than by internal production of heat

Such "unusual radiation" would include such phenomena as X rays, infrared and ultraviolet rays and gamma rays.

Morrison said although "we belong to a world of heat" the heat production we know comes from the internal heat produced by the sun

Morrison, a member of the National Academy of Science, is a former group leader at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory.

He is a recipient of the Pregel Prize, the Babson Prize and the Oersted Medal in astronomy.

He is one of four astronomers giving Montgomery Lectures in connection with the Mid-America State Universities Association Astrophysics Conference and the dedication of the university s Behlen Observatory at Mead

The conference continues Friday and the dedication is set for Saturday.

Hess Dyas Urges Taxpayers To Use Tax Checkoff Option

Taxpayers should be reminded they have the option of designating one dollar to the political party of their choice or to a non partisan account for the presidential campaigns of 1976 according to Hess Dyas chairman of the Nebraska Democratic Party

Two dollars may be contributed on a joint return

This can be done at no expense to the individual taxpayer The designated dollar is neither added to the tax bill nor subtracted from any refund due. Dyas said

Dyas said every set of tax forms includes form 4875 which must be used to indicate voluntary participation in the presidential election campaign fund

"I urge every taxpayer to take advantage of this opportunity to share the burden of financing presidential elections in a very painless way and in the process remove the dependence of national candidates on the large money interests," Dyas said

"If enough citizens will accept this responsibility the presidential election campaign fund could be one of the most important reforms in American politics Dyas commented.

Carmel — In the early part of the century, some free and thoughtful people found a fox hole in the pines where the Carmel river reaches the sea.

I lived in corduroyed youth — Mother was an artist and a Seeker of Truth. We migrated from colony to colony, looking for cult and culture. By age 12, I could set up a horoscope. I did a little mitt reading and had met a man who read your past and future by putting an ear to your belly, listening to the oracle grumbling of your stomach.

It was an artistic village. Known then as Carmel-by-the-Sea. (There's always a real estate man somewhere.) Now it has gone back to plain Carmel.

We drove off the highway, splashed with spring poppies and lupine, into Monterey.

A superhighway crosses the Carmel hill, dropping down through pine trees and arty cottages, into the main street—Ocean Avenue.

Art is still around in Carmel. But it's outnumbered by expensive boutiques.

Art was a major force in the Golden State — before we got all crowded up.

There were few other forces really. The missile bases, the electronic firms, the Bomb were in a distant future. Most of California's oil wells had not been drilled.

The state shipped oranges from groves that grew right into Los Angeles. Dried raisins brought in some money. Cargo ships sailed out of the bridgeless Golden Gate to the mysterious Far East.

An airplane was something a barnstorming pilot brought to the fairgrounds. Charged you $2 for a ride.

Art was a booming thing in the Ojai valley. (It was one of Mother's stop over points. There were many gods in the Ojai.)

The arts were followed by followers of Annie Beasant's Theosophists. Painting and the occult go together like ham and eggs.

A mile away, at Soaper's ranch, Jack Dempsey was training to beat the bejesus out of somebody.

This gave us a lively mixture of talent: Sports writers. Literary dreamers of the occult. The warring gods and their godly followers.

Krishnamurti, the Indian guru, preached under the oaks haunted by Indians who perished in an early day settlers' massacre.

Art is not as visible today. The Ojai milkman was a writer when he wasn't delivering the daily cream. He often stopped off to chat about Russian literature and rejection slips and such.

Thus the cottage cheese was often late arriving at the cottage.

All this added to the notion that Art flourished better beside the Pacific than in the garrets of New York.

(The war cry of the Carmel baseball team was: "Ten cents a word!")

Most of Carmel's storekeepers were artists. While packaging eggs, they gave little lectures on the effects you could get with gouache.

Today on the sunny Carmel streets — (no sidewalks, no home mail delivery) — Art has become an added attraction in real estate sales. The way you would point up the advantages of an attractive view.

The town has grown tremendously.

The first California real estate boom was hailed in 1884 by the capitalist Philip D. Armour.

"This is merely a preliminary to a boom that will outclass the present real estate activity as thunder to the crack of a hickory nut!"

We went over to Monterey and had abalone out on the wharf.

In the new maze of over-and-under highways, I lost my way twice.

Carmel — In the early part of the century, some free and thoughtful people found a fox hole in the pines where the Carmel river reaches the sea.

I lived in corduroyed youth — Mother was an artist and a Seeker of Truth. We migrated from colony to colony, looking for cult and culture. By age 12, I could set up a horoscope. I did a little mitt reading and had met a man who read your past and future by putting an ear to your belly, listening to the oracle grumbling of your stomach.

It was an artistic village. Known then as Carmel-by-the-Sea. (There's always a real estate man somewhere.) Now it has gone back to plain Carmel.

☆☆☆

We drove off the highway, splashed with spring poppies and lupine, into Monterey.

A superhighway crosses the Carmel hill, dropping down through pine trees and arty cottages, into the main street—Ocean Avenue.

Art is still around in Carmel. But it's outnumbered by expensive boutiques.

Art was a major force in the Golden State — before we got all crowded up.

There were few other forces really. The missile bases, the electronic firms, the Bomb were in a distant future. Most of California's oil wells had not been drilled.

The state shipped oranges from groves that grew right into Los Angeles. Dried raisins brought in some money. Cargo ships sailed out of the bridgeless Golden Gate to the mysterious Far East.

An airplane was something a barnstorming pilot brought to the fairgrounds. Charged you $2 for a ride.

☆☆☆

Art was a booming thing in the Ojai valley. (It was one of Mother's stop over points. There were many gods in the Ojai.)

The arts were followed by followers of Annie Beasant's Theosophists. Painting and the occult go together like ham and eggs.

A mile away, at Soaper's ranch, Jack Dempsey was training to beat the bejesus out of somebody.

This gave us a lively mixture of talent: Sports writers. Literary dreamers of the occult. The warring gods and their godly followers.

Krishnamurti, the Indian guru, preached under the oaks haunted by Indians who perished in an early day settlers' massacre.

☆☆☆

Art is not as visible today. The Ojai milkman was a writer when he wasn't delivering the daily cream. He often stopped off to chat about Russian literature and rejection slips and such.

Thus the cottage cheese was often late arriving at the cottage.

All this added to the notion that Art flourished better beside the Pacific than in the garrets of New York.

(The war cry of the Carmel baseball team was: "Ten cents a word!")

Most of Carmel's storekeepers were artists. While packaging eggs, they gave little lectures on the effects you could get with gouache.

Today on the sunny Carmel streets — (no sidewalks, no home mail delivery) — Art has become an added attraction in real estate sales. The way you would point up the advantages of an attractive view.

The town has grown tremendously.

The first California real estate boom was hailed in 1884 by the capitalist Philip D. Armour.

"This is merely a preliminary to a boom that will outclass the present real estate activity as thunder to the crack of a hickory nut!"

We went over to Monterey and had abalone out on the wharf.

Bids Total $1,158,236 For Elementary School

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Low base bids totaling $1,158,236 for construction of a new southeast Lincoln elementary school were accepted Thursday by the Board of Education in special session

The figure represents the total of the low base bids for the three major contracts

Associate Supt Robert Den Hartog said any additions to or deductions from the base amounts would be decided after the architect has had a chance to study the bids in detail

Den Hartog said on the basis of the low bids it appeared the new school will cost about 14% more per square foot than an elementary school designed by the same architect and completed two years ago

The new school, to be built at 52nd and Claire, will provide relief for Calvert Elementary, beginning in the fall of 1974

The low bid for the general construction contract on the new building was awarded to M W Anderson Construction Co for $779 836

The mechanical contract went to Cornhusker Plumbing and Heating Co for $269,500 and the electrical contract was awarded to Ad-A-Lite Electric Co for $108,900

The total of the base bids was very close to the $1 16 million estimate for construction costs made in March by the architect, R L Freeman

Den Hartog said, however, that at least some alternates will be accepted, changing the total figure

Here are the other bids offered by contract category

—general Dwight Nelson, $779,896, Geo Cook, $827,071, W J Broer, $830,500, Olson, $845,888; Sampson, $859,383

—mechanical Reinhardt, $323,000, Natkin, $337,700, W. R Lesoing, $348,400, Morrissey's, $351,624, Newberg and Bookstrom, $371,376

—electrical Briteway, $113,487, Action, $118,118, ABC, $123,690, O K, $125,000, Commonwealth, $130,537

Red Grading Marks Are Replacing Blue

The blue grading marks on your beef and pork cuts are going to be switched to red because of a new order issued to federal meat graders by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA)

News reports about the change alarmed some meat processors who did not have a supply of the new red ink. Stories were being circulated that some packers might have to cease operations until the new ink became available

"The reports stem from an order issued to meat graders in the form of an inner office memo to the effect that FDA had ordered the change It was never meant to be a general news release but someone leaked it to the public causing some panic, ' said By Phillips, information director for the National Livestock Feeders Association in Omaha

Phillips added that the reason for the change had not been announced 'We might be told what this is all about tomorrow We do know that the graders can use the old ink until the new ink is available There are ample supplies of the new ink available so there is no danger that packers will have to close," he said

Phillips said he didn't know whether the in house grades used by meat packers would be in red or not "So far as we know now the rule applies only to federal meat graders It is quite possible that they just wanted to change the color so the consumer could tell who did the grading The ink they have been using is made from vegetable juice so I don t think there was anything wrong with it he said

Council Pay Hike Loses By 8 Votes

If you think your vote doesn t matter — consider the example of the city charter amendment Lincolnites voted on in Tuesday s primary election which would have raised City Council members salaries to $4 000 annually

The amendment lost by eight votes

The counting of 113 disabled and absentee ballots showed that a total of 9,640 people voted against the pay increase, while 9 632 voted for it

Before the disabled and absentee ballots were counted the pay issue trailed by 57 votes

As a result of the amendment s defeat the City Council Monday will consider placing a similar charter amendment on the May 1 general election ballot

City Attorney Dick Wood said Thursday that the resolution placing such an amendment on the ballot was requested by City Councilwoman Helen Boosalis

Wood said to place the question on the ballot, council action would have to come this Monday in order to meet publication deadlines set by state law

Council members now are paid $20 per each weekly meeting attended, to a maximum of $1 040 annually

MRS. DOWIS . . . and sister, right, eye greetings.

Greetings From President Is Old Stuff For Oldster

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Geneva — Birthday greetings, even presidential ones, are getting to be old stuff to Mrs Annie Dowis

Her past several anniversaries have brought congratulations from President Nixon so this year's was no surprise But it did top the many reminders that on April 6 she was to be 106

That milestone easily ranks her among the most senior of the state's senior citizens But it seemed to impress her less than anyone

"I can't help it, being old," she shrugged with a half chuckle. "It seems to me the President went to more trouble than I'm worth."

The birthday also brought the usual round of cards from Nebraska s Congressional delegation and other notables For the second straight year Gov J James Exon tossed in an admiralship in the Nebraska navy

An afternoon party planned by niece Mrs Maynard Merryman will be shared with the 24 other care patients of Sunset Home Mrs Dowis' 17 years at that Mennonite facility, located south of Geneva, also ranks her as its senior in residency

Several years behind is her own kid sister 93-year-old Mrs Maude McPeck They are the only survivors of a family of seven

It was just over a century ago recalled Mrs Dowis that she had come from Pennsylvania to Fillmore county with her parents Their oxen-drawn wagon along with the Indians and buffalos seen enroute all are stored in her memory

Spending most of her years as a farm wife in this area, Mrs. Dowis at one time was a cook for the old county 'poor farm' which had occupied the Sunset Home site.

She has always been one to look out for someone else noted Mrs Delores Deepe one of her favorite nurses Up until a couple of years ago she was the one who was helping other folks to the table and that sort of thing

Widowed for many years Mrs Dowis has one son Jesse of Durango Colo Because of his own advanced age he will be unable to make it for the party

Asked her formula for longevity the centenarian-plus suggested nothing in particular

Just tell folks to eat whatever they can get she quipped At least that s what I ve always done

No Farmers Sell Cattle To Packers, Report Says

For the first time in the four-year history of the Nebraska Direct Livestock Sales Report there have been no sales reported The report is an accounting on sales of cattle by farmers direct to packer buyers

Apparently the demand for meat by packers is so low that very few if any sales were made Thursday in the eastern two thirds of the state

Hog slaughter so far this week is down 153,000 head from this date last year

A number of plants are closed and others have curtailed operations due to a lack of livestock being sold and a lack of interest in buying meat noted from retail outlets

Retail sales in Lincoln are still reported to be near or slightly below normal Dr Roger Mandigo meat specialist at the University of Nebraska reported that the NU meat laboratory was sold out of meat this week We had a great business last week apparently people were stocking up in advance of the meat boycott week " he said

Ag Group To Name Money Study Panel

Washington (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee Thursday agreed to appoint a 26-member group to study the feasibility of creating secondary money markets for promotion of rural development

In a letter to Sen Herman Talmadge, D-Ga Sen Carl Curtis R-Neb requested formation of the group to study means of obtaining money needed to guarantee loans to farmers

Curtis said the obvious way to create such a market would be to draft a bill chartering a corporation similar to the National Mortgage Association which would purchase loan participations from rural banks

But Curtis said it is not possible at the present time because of the current budgetary situation

The study group will be composed of representatives of major money market institutions such as large commercial banks investment bankers, insurance companies and foundations as well as rural bankers selected by the committee

The group is charged with determining within 90 days the feasibility of establishing such a non-profit association

The association would be designed as an intermediary through which rural financial institutions could locate major money market institutions to participate with them in making business and industrial loans

North Platte Packing Operations Restored

North Platte (AP) — After several months and $205 000 worth of repairs and remodeling the 48 year-old North Platte Packing Co has completely recovered from a fire last summer and now is back in full operation according to Albert Interholzinger secretary-treasurer of the firm

A two-alarm fire last July 20 extensively damaged the plant injured three firemen and shut down operations for about a month Until recently processing was at a minimum

We jobbed some lunch meat but did nothing big at all Interholzinger said The firm tried to keep some major customers supplied with beef during the post-fire period but most of the effort was spent on reconstruction and additions

A new building was built to house refrigeration equipment a new cooling system was installed in the lunch meat room the smoke house and vacuum packing department were retiled a second story storage room was added and other improvements and repairs were made

The firm was opened here in 1925 by Frank Interholzinger Sr a sausage maker from Czechoslovakia Sons Albert and Frank company president and daughter Zdenka now operate the firm

The plant employs about 40-45 persons and purchases more than $1 million worth of area-grown livestock annually in producing its Western Brand meats The products are distributed throughout western Nebraska

Livestock Markets 'Stabilized'

Omaha (AP) — An executive of the Omaha Livestock Foundation said several factors have combined this week to tend to stabilize the livestock markets

C W McManamy said As the packers have operated cautiously presumably at least in the cattle department pretty much on a day to day or hand-to-mouth basis the farmer are faced with a measure of uncertainty and have tended to reduce supply

McManamy said he did not think this is any concerted action I think it s a matter of just good business You don t normally go jumping into a situation in which there doesn t seem to be any way of measuring the out come he said

McManamy said livestock producers have reduced supplies and the end result has been a tendency at least in terms of the hog market to pretty well stabilize the supply and demand thing

Does Cattle Rustler Fly That Helicopter?

Nebraska City (AP) — Cattle rustling or military maneuvers? That was the question as authorities in southeast Nebraska investigated reports of helicopters spotted near feeder lots and cattle herds

Last month some cattle rustling involving helicopters was reported in northwest Missouri and in southwest Iowa

Authorities said that in recent days helicopters have been spotted in Otoe Cass Johnson Nemaha Pawnee and Richardson counties

Otoe County authorities said after spotting a helicopter Wednesday night they contacted officials at Fort Riley Kan Base officials said one helicopter flew from there to Offutt Air Force Base in Bellevue but noted it would have flown in a straight line rather than hovering over any farm buildings or lots They also said it arrived at Offutt at 1 30 a m A helicopter was spotted in Otoe County going into Kansas at about 2 a m, authorities said

Sheriff Harris Esuler said he intended to make further checks with military authorities about the possibility of the helicopters being on night maneuvers

Roger was a little boy for whom lions held a special fascination

Fremont Males Studying Home Ec

By Sam Thorson
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Fremont — Sexist landmarks are falling fast Even here revolutionary inroads are being made against yet another sexual barrier sending waves of tentative self-assertion rippling out into all the oppressed corners of the state

Elsewhere in the news, feminists pound police beats, boot home winners at Churchill Downs and wield financial clout from seats on the stock exchange. In Nebraska, high school menfolk are counterattacking the last bastions of exclusive feminine privilege: kitchen, cradle and sewing machine.

Plainly speaking, more than a thousand male Nebraska high school students are enrolled in home economics courses designed for men only

Fremont High School s ' Bachelor Living course, begun experimentally in 1971, was among the first in the state Under the expert tutelage of 23-year-old Mrs Melanie Gifford and a female student assistant 25 husky would-be homemakers are learning such hitherto forbidden skills as baking pie mending torn seams changing diapers and kneading bread dough

Indeed, the course—nicknamed "Bachelor Survival — might more appropriately be called "Elementary Men's Lib "

Understandably beginners betray an appalling ineptitude born of generations of suppressed domestic talent "At first I took too much for granted," Mrs Gifford says condescendingly "You've got to start with the basics, like how to wash a head of lettuce, read a recipe, and use the measurements and cooking terms

Slight Error

One student for instance, tried to knead dough by punching it with his fist An overconfident classmate placed his pizza dough in a 210-degree oven for ten minutes in hopes it would rise just as well there as it would at room temperature for an hour He ended up with an inflated pizza crust and a deflated ego

But when the students finish the course, they've come a long way, baby. "At least they won't have to just cook out of a can all the time," Mrs. Gifford says

At first girl home ec students in other sections were indignant that Bachelor students in other sections were indignant that Bachelor Living students were being allowed to cook without hairnets The girls accused the upstart males of clinging to the best of both worlds — enjoying the rewards of housework without accepting the responsibilities of the superior sex

But Mrs Gifford came staunchly to their defense I don't think any man is going to wear a hairnet in the kitchen she said

Bachelor Living, she explains reassuringly, is designed as much to prepare a young man simply to manage his bachelor apartment as to upset the sexual applecart and redistribute the apples

Nor will it totally liberate a young bachelor from his conditioned dependence on a woman s homemaking expertise Students will not be taught to sew their own clothes for example, except to master such survival skills as pressing pants mending seams and sewing on buttons

There aren t too many men sewing in the country today Mrs Gifford insists It s not the trend It's still the woman s role "

Mrs. Gifford has even included a section on "family relationships," including the progression from dating to marriage, on the pretext that marriage is "an essential nucleus" of society

I bet seven-eighths of these guys end up married the home ec teacher admitted.

Bids Total $1,158,236 For Elementary School

Star Staff Writer

Low base bids totaling $1,158,236 for construction of a new southeast Lincoln elementary school were accepted Thursday by the Board of Education in special session.

The figure represents the total of the low base bids for the three major contracts.

Associate Supt. Robert Den Hartog said any additions to or deductions from the base amounts would be decided after the architect has had a chance to study the bids in detail.

Den Hartog said on the basis of the low bids it appeared the new school will cost about 14% more per square foot than an elementary school designed by the same architect and completed two years ago.

The new school, to be built at 52nd and Claire, will provide relief for Calvert Elementary, beginning in the fall of 1974.

The low bid for the general construction contract on the new building was awarded to M. W. Anderson Construction Co. for $779,836.

The mechanical contract went to Cornhusker Plumbing and Heating Co. for $269,500 and the electrical contract was awarded to Ad-A-Lite Electric Co. for $108,900.

The total of the base bids was very close to the $1.16 million estimate for construction costs made in March by the architect, R. L. Freeman.

Den Hartog said, however, that at least some alternates will be accepted, changing the total figure.

Here are the other bids offered by contract category:

—general: Dwight Nelson, $779,896; Geo. Cook, $827,071; W. J. Broer, $830,500; Olson, $845,888; Sampson, $859,383.

—mechanical: Reinhardt, $323,000; Natkin, $337,700; W. R. Lesoing, $348,400; Morrissey's, $351,624; Newberg and Bookstrom, $371,376.

Red Grading Marks Are Replacing Blue

The blue grading marks on your beef and pork cuts are going to be switched to red because of a new order issued to federal meat graders by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

News reports about the change alarmed some meat processors who did not have a supply of the new red ink. Stories were being circulated that some packers might have to cease operations until the new ink became available.

"The reports stem from an order issued to meat graders in the form of an inner office memo to the effect that FDA had ordered the change. It was never meant to be a general news release, but someone leaked it to the public causing some panic," said By Phillips, information director for the National Livestock Feeders Association in Omaha.

Phillips added that the reason for the change had not been announced. "We might be told what this is all about tomorrow. We do know that the graders can use the old ink until the new ink is available. There are ample supplies of the new ink available, so there is no danger that packers will have to close," he said.

Phillips said he didn't know whether the in house grades used by meat packers would be in red or not. "So far as we know now the rule applies only to federal meat graders. It is quite possible that they just wanted to change the color so the consumer could tell who did the grading. The ink they have been using is made from vegetable juice, so I don't think there was anything wrong with it," he said.

Council Pay Hike Loses By 8 Votes

If you think your vote doesn't matter — consider the example of the city charter amendment Lincolnites voted on in Tuesday's primary election which would have raised City Council members' salaries to $4,000 annually.

The amendment lost by eight votes.

The counting of 113 disabled and absentee ballots showed that a total of 9,640 people voted against the pay increase, while 9,632 voted for it.

Before the disabled and absentee ballots were counted, the pay issue trailed by 57 votes.

As a result of the amendment's defeat the City Council Monday will consider placing a similar charter amendment on the May 1 general election ballot.

City Attorney Dick Wood said Thursday that the resolution placing such an amendment on the ballot was requested by City Councilwoman Helen Boosalis.

Wood said to place the question on the ballot, council action would have to come this Monday in order to meet publication deadlines set by state law.

Council members now are paid $20 per each weekly meeting attended, to a maximum of $1,040 annually.

Scribner To Honor Native Son Arnot

Scribner — Veteran correspondent for ABC News, Charles P. Arnot, will receive the second annual native son award at the Scribner Chamber of Commerce banquet here April 26. Arnot, born at Scribner and graduated from high school here, attended Midland College at Fremont and began his news career as a reporter on the Fremont Tribune in 1937. Later he worked for United Press. His mother, Mrs. Mabel Arnot, resides in Norfolk.

Law Enforcement Center Eyed

Valentine (AP) — A new Cherry County sheriff's office, county jail and civil defense communications center will be built here under provisions of a resolution approved by the county board of commissioners. The board said no tax increases would be involved in funding the center. The structure is to be built on new county-owned lots behind the court house. The jail will be able to house some 35 prisoners. The county also will lease space to the Valentine police department and contract with the city to house city prisoners.

Urban Renewal Plan Moves Ahead

North Platte (AP) — The North Platte urban renewal authority has acquired nearly all the property scheduled for acquisition in the first year of the neighborhood development project. All property involved in the project must be acquired and paid for by April 20, the end of the project's first year. The authority has approved payment on the five final property parcels.

Meat Production Up Slightly

Commercial red meat production in Nebraska during February totaled 275 million pounds, up one per cent from the same month last year, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported. The cattle and sheep kills were higher, but hog slaughter declined. Cattle slaughtered totaled 373,000 head, a gain of three per cent from the same month last year, although average weight of the animals was down five pounds.

L. Wentz Is Listed As Fatality

The death of Lawrence E. Wentz, 78, of 245 No. 46th, will be turned into the State Department of Motor Vehicles as a traffic fatality, according to Police Lt. C. W. Koch.

Wentz was injured March 24 when he was struck by an auto driven by Gene F. Kehres, 42, of 902 Dawes, as he was crossing 48th St. near R.

The fatality brings the Lincoln traffic toll to date to five. At this time last year only one traffic fatality had been recorded.

Wentz is the retired president of the Wentz Plumbing and Heating Co.

MRS. DOWIS . . . and sister, right, eye greetings.

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Geneva — Birthday greetings, even presidential ones, are getting to be old stuff to Mrs. Annie Dowis.

Her past several anniversaries have brought congratulations from President Nixon, so this year's was no surprise. But it did top the many reminders that on April 6 she was to be 106.

That milestone easily ranks her among the most senior of the state's senior citizens. But it seemed to impress her less than anyone.

"I can't help it, being old," she shrugged with a half chuckle. "It seems to me the President went to more trouble than I'm worth."

The birthday also brought the usual round of cards from Nebraska's Congressional delegation and other notables. For the second straight year, Gov. J. James Exon tossed in an admiralship in the Nebraska navy.

An afternoon party, planned by niece Mrs. Maynard Merryman, will be shared with the 24 other care patients of Sunset Home. Mrs. Dowis' 17 years at that Mennonite facility, located south of Geneva, also ranks her as its senior in residency.

Several years behind is her own "kid sister," 93-year-old Mrs. Maude McPeck. They are the only survivors of a family of seven.

It was just over a century ago, recalled Mrs. Dowis, that she had come from Pennsylvania to Fillmore county with her parents. Their oxen-drawn wagon, along with the Indians and buffalos seen enroute, all are stored in her memory.

Spending most of her years as a farm wife in this area, Mrs. Dowis at one time was a cook for the old county 'poor farm' which had occupied the Sunset Home site.

"She has always been one to look out for someone else," noted Mrs. Delores Deepe, one of her favorite nurses. "Up until a couple of years ago, she was the one who was helping other folks to the table and that sort of thing."

Widowed for many years, Mrs. Dowis has one son, Jesse, of Durango, Colo. Because of his own advanced age, he will be unable to make it for the party.

Asked her formula for longevity, the centenarian-plus suggested nothing in particular.

"Just tell folks to eat whatever they can get," she quipped. "At least that's what I've always done."

No Farmers Sell Cattle To Packers, Report Says

For the first time in the four-year history of the Nebraska Direct Livestock Sales Report there have been no sales reported. The report is an accounting on sales of cattle by farmers direct to packer buyers.

Apparently the demand for meat by packers is so low that very few if any sales were made Thursday in the eastern two thirds of the state.

Nationally the estimated livestock slaughter at federally-inspected packing plants dropped below the 100,000 mark with only 95,000 head of cattle going to slaughter Thursday. This is 77,000 head below a week ago.

The number of hogs slaughtered by federally-inspected plants across the nation was 77,000 above last week's curtailed run, but 22,000 below the same day a year ago.

Hog slaughter so far this week is down 153,000 head from this date last year.

A number of plants are closed and others have curtailed operations due to a lack of livestock being sold and a lack of interest in buying meat noted from retail outlets.

Retail sales in Lincoln are still reported to be near or slightly below normal. Dr. Roger Mandigo, meat specialist at the University of Nebraska reported that the NU meat laboratory was sold out of meat this week. "We had a great business last week, apparently people were stocking up in advance of the meat boycott week," he said.

Ag Group To Name Money Study Panel

Washington (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee Thursday agreed to appoint a 26-member group to study the feasibility of creating secondary money markets for promotion of rural development.

In a letter to Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., requested formation of the group to study means of obtaining money needed to guarantee loans to farmers.

Curtis said the obvious way to create such a market would be to draft a bill chartering a corporation similar to the National Mortgage Association which would purchase loan participations from rural banks.

But Curtis said it is not possible at the present time because of the current budgetary situation.

The study group will be composed of representatives of major money market institutions such as large commercial banks, investment bankers, insurance companies and foundations as well as rural bankers selected by the committee.

The group is charged with determining within 90 days the feasibility of establishing such a non-profit association.

The association would be designed as an intermediary, through which rural financial institutions could locate major money market institutions to participate with them in making business and industrial loans.

Missing Concrete Lions Memorial To Dead Boy

Omaha (AP) — Someone took a pair of concrete lions from the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Arlin Lemm of Omaha earlier this week.

The lions weren't ordinary lions. They were memories of the Lemm's son, Roger, who died of leukemia two years ago at the age of 4½.

Roger was a little boy for whom lions held a special fascination.

"You don't lose your little boy without finding a thousand memories," Mrs. Lemm said.

The family purchased the two concrete lions last year. "It was a memorial, I guess, a sort of personal thing we all decided we wanted to do," Mrs. Lemm said.

The lions were stolen on March 29, exactly two years after Roger's death.

The Lemms said they would ask no questions and press no charges against anyone returning the lions.

Convictions Double

Washington — In fiscal 1972 the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section of the Justice Department obtained indictments against more than 3,000 defendants, nearly triple the figure for fiscal 1968, and nearly 1,000 convictions, almost double the 1968 total.

Livestock Markets 'Stabilized'

Omaha (AP) — An executive of the Omaha Livestock Foundation said several factors have combined this week to tend to stabilize the livestock markets.

C. W. McManamy said, "As the packers have operated cautiously, presumably at least in the cattle department pretty much on a day to day or hand-to-mouth basis the farmer . . . are faced with a measure of uncertainty and have tended to reduce supply."

McManamy said he did not think "this is any concerted action. I think it's a matter of just good business. You don't normally go jumping into a situation in which there doesn't seem to be any way of measuring the outcome," he said.

McManamy said livestock producers have reduced supplies and "the end result has been a tendency, at least in terms of the hog market, to pretty well stabilize the supply and demand thing."

North Platte Packing Operations Restored

North Platte (AP) — After several months and $205,000 worth of repairs and remodeling, the 48-year-old North Platte Packing Co. has completely recovered from a fire last summer and now is back in full operation, according to Albert Interholzinger, secretary-treasurer of the firm.

A two-alarm fire last July 20 extensively damaged the plant, injured three firemen and shut down operations for about a month. Until recently, processing was at a minimum.

"We jobbed some lunch meat, but did nothing big at all," Interholzinger said. The firm tried to keep some major customers supplied with beef during the post-fire period, but most of the effort was spent on reconstruction and additions.

A new building was built to house refrigeration equipment; a new cooling system was installed in the lunch meat room; the smoke house and vacuum packing department were retiled; a second story storage room was added, and other improvements and repairs were made.

The firm was opened here in 1925 by Frank Interholzinger Sr., a sausage maker from Czechoslovakia. Sons Albert and Frank, company president, and daughter Zdenka now operate the firm.

The plant employs about 40-45 persons and purchases more than $1 million worth of area-grown livestock annually in producing its "Western Brand" meats. The products are distributed throughout western Nebraska.

Does Cattle Rustler Fly That Helicopter?

Nebraska City (AP) — Cattle rustling or military maneuvers? That was the question as authorities in southeast Nebraska investigated reports of helicopters spotted near feeder lots and cattle herds.

Last month, some cattle rustling involving helicopters was reported in northwest Missouri, and in southwest Iowa.

Authorities said that in recent days, helicopters have been spotted in Otoe, Cass, Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson counties.

Otoe County authorities said after spotting a helicopter Wednesday night they contacted officials at Fort Riley, Kan. Base officials said one helicopter flew from there to Offutt Air Force Base in Bellevue, but noted it would have flown in a straight line, rather than hovering over any farm buildings or lots. They also said it arrived at Offutt at 1:30 a.m. A helicopter was spotted in Otoe County, going into Kansas, at about 2 a.m., authorities said.

Sheriff Harris Esuler said he intended to make further checks with military authorities about the possibility of the helicopters being on night maneuvers.

Stabbing Is Fatal To Omahan

Omaha (AP) — An Omaha man died in a hospital early Thursday of stab wounds in the chest.

Police identified the victim as 42-year-old James S. Hutcherson. Officers said he was found stabbed in the 2500 block of Charles Street and died about two hours later.

An investigation into the incident will continue.

Fremont Males Studying Home Ec

Fremont — Sexist landmarks are falling fast. Even here, revolutionary inroads are being made against yet another sexual barrier, sending waves of tentative self-assertion rippling out into all the oppressed corners of the state.

Elsewhere in the news, feminists pound police beats, boot home winners at Churchill Downs and wield financial clout from seats on the stock exchange. In Nebraska, high school menfolk are counterattacking the last bastions of exclusive feminine privilege: kitchen, cradle and sewing machine.

Plainly speaking, more than a thousand male Nebraska high school students are enrolled in home economics courses designed for men only.

Fremont High School's "Bachelor Living" course, begun experimentally in 1971, was among the first in the state. Under the expert tutelage of 23-year-old Mrs. Melanie Gifford and a female student assistant, 25 husky would-be homemakers are learning such hitherto forbidden skills as baking pie, mending torn seams, changing diapers and kneading bread dough.

Indeed, the course—nicknamed "Bachelor Survival — might more appropriately be called "Elementary Men's Lib."

Understandably beginners betray an appalling ineptitude born of generations of suppressed domestic talent. "At first I took too much for granted," Mrs. Gifford says condescendingly. "You've got to start with the basics, like how to wash a head of lettuce, read a recipe, and use the measurements and cooking terms."

Slight Error

One student, for instance, tried to knead dough by punching it with his fist. An overconfident classmate placed his pizza dough in a 210-degree oven for ten minutes in hopes it would rise just as well there as it would at room temperature for an hour. He ended up with an inflated pizza drust and a deflated ego.

But when the students finish the course, they've come a long way, baby. "At least they won't have to just cook out of a can all the time," Mrs. Gifford says.

At first, girl home ec students in other sections were indignant that Bachelor students in other sections were indignant that Bachelor Living students were being allowed to cook without hairnets. The girls accused the upstart males of clinging to the best of both worlds — enjoying the rewards of housework without accepting the responsibilities of the superior sex.

But Mrs. Gifford came staunchly to their defense. "I don't think any man is going to wear a hairnet in the kitchen," she said.

Bachelor Living, she explains reassuringly, is designed as much to prepare a young man simply to manage his bachelor apartment as to upset the sexual applecart and redistribute the apples.

Nor will it totally liberate a young bachelor from his conditioned dependence on a woman's homemaking expertise. Students will not be taught to sew their own clothes, for example, except to master such survival skills as pressing pants, mending seams and sewing on buttons.

"There aren't too many men sewing in the country today," Mrs. Gifford insists. "It's not the trend. It's still the woman's role."

Mrs. Gifford has even included a section on "family relationships," including the progression from dating to marriage, on the pretext that marriage is "an essential nucleus" of society.

"I bet seven-eighths of these guys end up married," the home ec teacher admitted.

The next several weeks will witness the conclusion of regular-season dramatic presentations at several of Lincoln's theaters Included on this list of final productions will be the University of Nebraska drama department's version of "The Memorandum," to be staged at Howell Theater on the campus

Written by Vaclav Havel, the play is a remarkably witty assault on the madness of "efficiency" peculiar to total bureaucracy The scenes take place in a large office, where, unknown to the managing director, a new language called Ptydepe is installed as the official means of interoffice communication As the play progresses, it is learned that Ptydepe is known to only a handful of people, that only the most resolute can learn it, and that even when mastered, the language is almost impossible to use

Ultimately, in a sudden reversal of action, Ptydepe — because of a bewilderint decision on the part of the bureaucracy that implemented it — is proscribed, an the play ends on a note of hilarious futility

Born in Prague in 1936, Havel has held the post of literary manager of Prague's Balustrade Theatre since 1962 In 1956, Havel began publishing essays on poetry and the theater, and in 1968, "The Memorandum" won the coveted OBIE Award as the best foreign play produced off Broadway

The University production will be staged Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28, and Monday through Saturday, May 1-5

Around Town

Our town never stands still in the autumn, the winter, nor in the spring and summer. There always is someone coming home, or going away — someone who is having a party — and many, many someones who are patiently awaiting the opening of the golf season — or the tennis season.

☆☆☆

This morning, as you may have guessed, we have news of homecomers, and two of them are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams who returned earlier this week from their winter haunt at Delray Beach, Fla.

And back home again, also, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Talbot who avoided some of Nebraska's gloomy weeks by going to La Jolla.

☆☆☆

Among those parties that we had in mind is the dinner-dance — a costume party, by the way — which the members of the Terpsichorean Dance Club will be having on Saturday evening, April 7, at the Airport Holiday Inn.

The affair begins with a social hour at 6:30 o'clock — with dinner and dancing following.

The party planners include Mr. and Mrs. Walt Meisinger, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rumbolz, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sommer, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hermanson, Adolph Hock and Lou Nellis.

On the evening's agenda will be the welcoming of new members — Judge and Mrs. Ralph Slocum — and guests, including Mr. and Mrs. John Bunger of Togus, Maine, and Mr. and Mrs. Milan Knezowich.

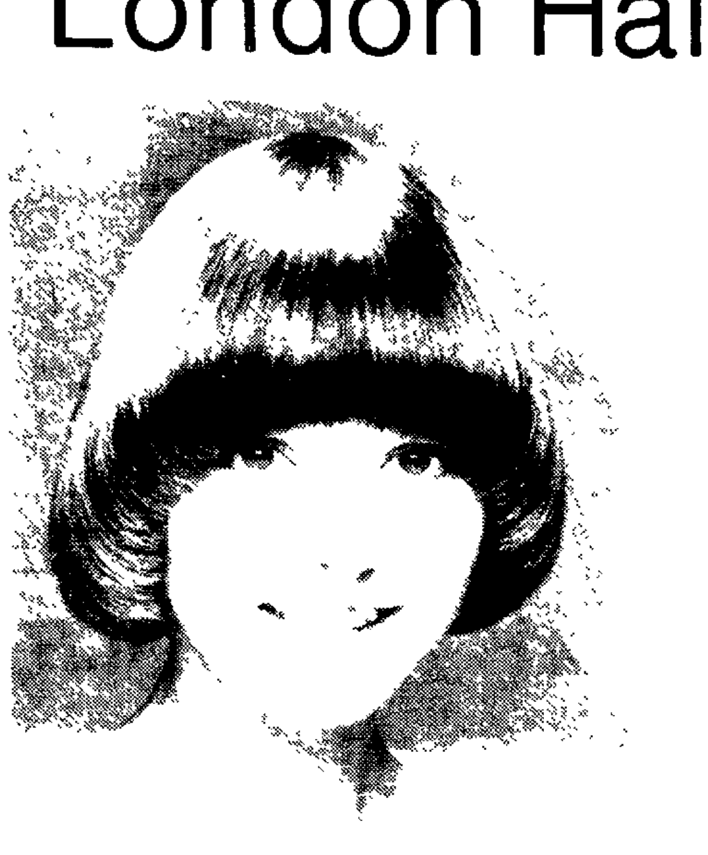
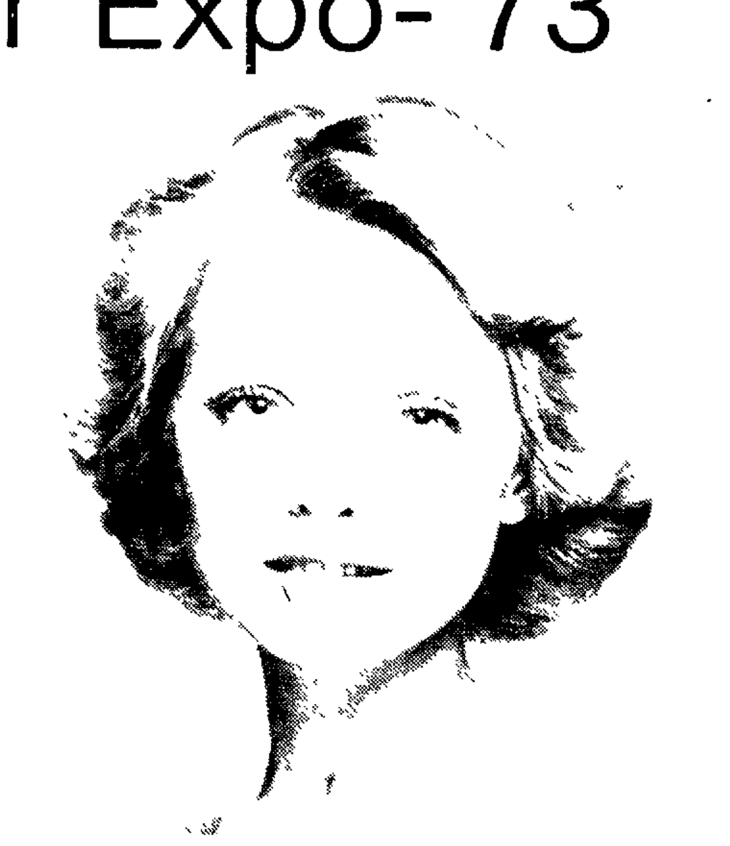
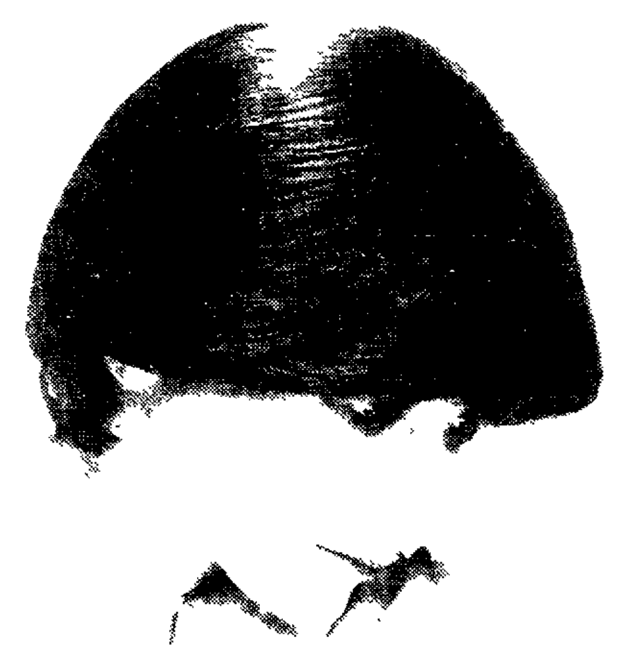
London Hair Expo-'73



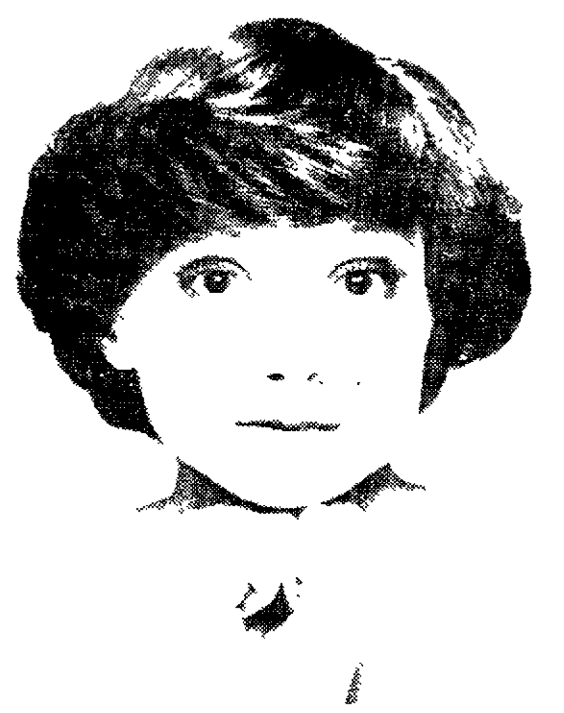
Lady Cromwell epitomizes the contemporary look of hair today. Designed by the Chadwicks and introduced at the London seminar, this "low-layer" bob features a fringe and sides cut into a continuous form creating a shiny helmet effect For fun and variation, the addition of a favorite barette is suggested.



The Getaway . . . a bob designed for the on-the-go girl. It's breezy, unconcerned, fun to wear and above all easy to live with The Chadwicks created this "Selected-Layer" cut with its off-center parting to be worn brushed up into soft face-framing waves . . handily achieved through skilled curling-tongs work



The Gatsby Girl is a smooth, shiny cap designed to complement today's casual, sporty way of dressing. This is a "Selected-Layer" haircut created by the Chadwicks and taught at the Workshop Seminar It features hair swept low on the forehead, and sides swept gently back from the face, seeming to form one continuous line. And yet a little bit of magic in the form of deftly handled curling tongs could transform this cut into a perky, curled bob



The Gatsby Girl . . . a selected-layer bob designed by the Chadwicks and "hit" of the London Seminar. Here is shown the skillful work of curling-irons . . . to achieve an appealing curvey look all-'round Next day your brushwork eliminates the flippy endings. and you have a sleek head-hugging helmet of smooth, shining hair.

The blondes have been the glamour girls since time immemorial so it seems But if we can believe what we hear from the two-week seminar held in London just a couple of weeks ago brunettes are in The seminar was arranged by Glenby-Now for over 200 hairstylists from the United States and Canada It was a 'London Hair Expo '73,' and it was directed by John and Suzanne Chadwick famous British hairstylists who also are the technical directors of Glenby-Now

Lincoln will be able to share on the "what's-new' look for women — and men — since a Lincoln hairstylist, Shirley Dobernecker of Ben Simon's salon was in London for the two full weeks of the seminar

But back to the brunettes

We hear that those brunettes who will be so fashionable during the seasons to come, will have just a hint of auburn. and that the coiffure accent will be the highlights that a new process 'Pairaning will give the hair This discovery we are told, is the discovery of Rene Furterer, the father' of all natural and organic products for hair care

The Chadwicks of course, introduced the Pamiraning process to their 200 eager students who were put through their paces during the seminar

There was hair-cutting, hairstyling hair coloring and all of those little tricks of the trade that turns milady into a thing of beauty and a joy to behold

The long, long hair, according to lessons learned at the seminar, is out of style The new motto is "Less is More " Yard-length tresses give way to styles that are shorter and swingier The lady who follows the fashions has a choice, however She may have her locks just grazing the shoulder — or she may choose to wear it no longer than the chin line She may, at least for summer, adore the new, little boy look And if none of these styles appeal to her, there is that very newest 'all-girl look, one that has a head-hugging shortness — This style can be smooth and curvey at the ends, or a headful of baby curls

Speaking of curls — Don't forget that Perfect Touch" permanent — the permanent that gives your hair body, bounce and a natural look, and leaves the hair in better condition than it was before you indulged it with a "Perfect Touch". But then, you know all about Perfect Touch — It isn't new at Simon's.

on a tour of the shops

Proving that Lincoln is indeed a growing community are the many construction sites in the city where new shopping centers theaters government buildings apartments and homes are taking shape

This week ' on a tour of the shops we discovered two of the city s newest boutiques which we visited and we also spent some time at another shop which has served the Lincoln Community for several years

AT BACKSTAGE LTD

Resembling a typical backstage of the 1920 or 1930s is Backstage Ltd the latest boutique to open in the Glass Menagerie

Assuming the likeness of a ticket office an actor s dressing room a stage — complete with lighting and backdrops — and a director s office (all on a smaller scale of course) the boutique is located near the University of Nebraska campus and provides unique and high-style footwear designs for young men and women

According to the personnel at the shop styles for the young ladies are clinging to the clog and high platform designs which are especially ideal when coordinated with the popular wide legged and often cuffed pants

CLOG AND PLATFORM VARIATIONS The wooden clob still retains its unique popularity this season as evidenced by the numerous variations displayed at Backstage Ltd

One particularly outstanding design features a two inch thick platform with a five-inch wedge heel in white These shoes can be easily coordinated with almost any bright summer ensemble as they are embellished with white navy red and yellow patent strips over the instep The clogs are toeless and they display a vivid yellow sling back strap

Braid trims of jute are important to shoe fashions this spring and summer as well as the slip-proof and durable crepe soles One style which features both characteristics displays the jute braiding in its natural shade on the entire wide platform and wedge heel The wire braids accented with interwoven red navy and yellow strands crisscross over the instep completing the sandal effect

Suede too is still holding its own in shoe designs A toeless clog at Backstage Ltd has a very wide band of navy suede conturing the instep A touch of color is added to the shoes by multicolored hand painted flowers

DRESSY SHOES Thick platforms and very high heels are also hightlighted in dressier shoes at Backstage Ltd A prime example of the elegance which can be achieved in spite of the seemingly bulkiness of the thick platforms and heels is a smooth leather shoe in a muted burnt orange hue The insteps which are contoured of the beautiful leather and mounted on a two inch wooden platform and five inch wooden heel are toeless and they feature a leather sling back strap at the heel

Similar styles with slight variations can be seen at the Backstage in the many shoes of white patent leather

SPORT SHOES Sport shoes for casual affairs also display distinctive high styling For example one design features a relatively low heel compared to today s standards and a one half inch platform sole The body of the shoe is of smooth white leather but the toe is accented by a patchwork of two shades of brown leather which is repeated on the instep which sports brass eyelets for the shoelaces

CASUAL FOOTWEAR For extremely casual wear the young ladies certainly will be pleased with the comfortable styles at the boutique The flexible suede and the crepe soles create excellent low cut hiking shoes for summer These styles feature narrow wedge heels and the toe is contoured with a moccasin stitch

TWO-TONE SADDLE SHOES Of course featuring the high thick heels and platforms are the saddle shoes in the shop which are not only two tone but also display combinations of patent leather and suede leather and suede and leather and patent leather

Following the more traditional saddle shoe style are the two tone shoes contoured entirely of smooth leather in beige and brown or navy and off white The shoes feature large brass eyelets and striped shoelaces

MEN S DRESS SHOES The dress shoes for men at Wells and Frost are nearly all slip on and they feature high fashion designs

Most of the display in dress shoes consists of those in crinkle patent and many of them were in either white or navy They are designed with low heels and are often embellished with a brass or silver decorator buckles mounted on the high extending instep However there are several pair which also are contoured in two shades such as brown with beige trim or navy with white trim

on a tour of the shops

Proving that Lincoln is indeed a growing community are the many construction sites in the city, where new shopping centers, theaters, government buildings, apartments and homes are taking shape.

This week "on a tour of the shops" we discovered two of the city's newest boutiques, which we visited, and we also spent some time at another shop which has served the Lincoln Community for several years.

AT BACKSTAGE LTD.

Resembling a typical backstage of the 1920' or 1930s is Backstage Ltd., the latest boutique to open in the Glass Menagerie.

Assuming the likeness of a ticket office, an actor's dressing room, a stage — complete with lighting and backdrops — and a director's office (all on a smaller scale, of course), the boutique is located near the University of Nebraska campus and provides unique and high-style footwear designs for young men and women.

According to the personnel at the shop, styles for the young ladies are clinging to the clog and high platform designs which are especially ideal when coordinated with the popular wide-legged, and often cuffed, pants.

CLOG AND PLATFORM VARIATIONS: The wooden clob still retains its unique popularity this season, as evidenced by the numerous variations displayed at Backstage Ltd.

One particularly outstanding design features a two-inch thick platform with a five-inch wedge heel in white. These shoes can be easily coordinated with almost any bright, summer ensemble, as they are embellished with white, navy, red and yellow patent strips over the instep. The clogs are toeless and they display a vivid yellow sling-back strap.

Braid trims of jute are important to shoe fashions this spring and summer, as well as the slip-proof and durable crepe soles. One style, which features both characteristics, displays the jute braiding in its natural shade on the entire wide platform and wedge heel. The wire braids, accented with interwoven red, navy and yellow strands, crisscross over the instep completing the sandal effect.

Suede, too, is still holding its own in shoe designs. A toeless clog at Backstage Ltd. has a very wide band of navy suede conturing the instep. A touch of color is added to the shoes by multicolored, hand-painted flowers.

DRESSY SHOES: Thick platforms and very high heels are also hightlighted in dressier shoes at Backstage Ltd. A prime example of the elegance which can be achieved, in spite of the seemingly bulkiness of the thick platforms and heels, is a smooth, leather shoe in a muted burnt orange hue. The insteps, which are contoured of the beautiful leather and mounted on a two-inch wooden platform and five-inch wooden heel, are toeless and they feature a leather sling-back strap at the heel.

Similar styles with slight variations can be seen at the Backstage in the many shoes of white patent leather.

SPORT SHOES: Sport shoes for casual affairs also display distinctive high styling. For example, one design features a relatively low heel, compared to today's standards, and a one-half-inch platform sole. The body of the shoe is of smooth,white leather, but the toe is accented by a patchwork of two shades of brown leather, which is repeated on the instep which sports brass eyelets for the shoelaces.

CASUAL FOOTWEAR: For extremely casual wear, the young ladies certainly will be pleased with the comfortable styles at the boutique. The flexible suede and the crepe soles create excellent low-cut hiking shoes for summer. These styles feature narrow wedge heels and the toe is contoured with a moccasin stitch.

AT WELLS AND FROST

Footwear fashions for the young men are equally exciting, especially at Wells and Frost, where they display several attractive styles. At Wells and Frost, they tell us that high heels and platform soles are just as important to the young man as they are to the ladies.

TWO-TONE SADDLE SHOES: Of course, featuring the high, thick heels and platforms are the saddle shoes in the shop, which are not only two-tone, but also display combinations of patent leather and suede, leather and suede and leather and patent leather.

Following the more traditional saddle shoe style are the two-tone shoes, contoured entirely of smooth leather in beige and brown or navy and off-white. The shoes feature large brass eyelets and striped shoelaces.

If you have a flair for the unique, you might be interested in the saddle shoes of suede and crinkle patent. The body of the shoe, mounted on stacked heels and thick platforms, is comprised of suede with accents of crinkle patent on the toe and instep.

MEN'S DRESS SHOES: The dress shoes for men at Wells and Frost are nearly all slip-on, and they feature high fashion designs.

Most of the display in dress shoes consists of those in crinkle patent and many of them were in either white or navy. They are designed with low heels and are often embellished with a brass of silver, decorator buckles mounted on the high-extending instep. However, there are several pair which also are contoured in two shades such as brown with beige trim or navy with white trim.

All of the dress shoes are designed to be comfortable, as they are light weight, flexible and have a soft inner lining.

WAFFLE STOMPERS: The active young man will certainly want to stop at Wells and Frost to see the low-cut waffle stomper boots, which are very comfortable walking shoes. The shoes are constructed of two-tone suede with a cushioned collared top around the ankle and they feature a thick, flexible crepe sole.

AT LUCILLE DUERR'S BOUTIQUE

In this rush-a-day world, when man, woman, and child seem to be in a hurry to get here, there, and everywhere, milady seldom, if ever, finds time to spend hours upon hours in a beauty salon. With such thoughts in mind, the Lucille Duerr 'one stop beauty shop' was established. The salon boutique, located at 1422 O St., has the answer to your every beauty need, all conveniently situated in one shop.

THE UNISEX SALON is just what its name implies. It caters to both men's and women's contemporary 'quick service' hair needs. In that particular area of the salon, fish nets provide the simple, but attractive, means of displaying drawings of the most up-to-date styles for both men and women. And most of those styles are easily accomplished in the 'quick service' department which features a cut, dry with the hand dryer, and some curling, if necessary, to complete the desired effect.

YOUR COMPLETE BEAUTY RETINUE also is well cared for in the full service salon, another distinct area which provides for such needs as permanents, tints, more traditional styling, and much more, all in the new atmosphere so attuned to the times. Other outstanding services offered at Lucille Duerr's new salon boutique include manicuring, eyebrow arching, and the application of individual eye lashes.

THE WIG SALON provides yet another aspect of the contemporary woman's beauty needs. There, milady may try on wigs and wiglets to her delight — and when the selection is finally made, there are facilities for styling the hairpieces.

THE BOUTIQUE IS PERHAPS the most exciting area of the entire salon. The answer to every woman's prays is found at the unique boutique — answers about every beauty need imaginable. For example, there are accessories and equipment — air combs and curling irons — for performing your own 'quick service,' as well as rollers, wigs, scarves, umbrellas, and much, much more.

Cosmetics, including the newest shades for the fingernails, also are found in abundance at Lucille Duerr's salon boutique, where we also found decorator and utility hairbrushes, the most attractive costume handbags, a great variety of costume jewelry, and accessories for the hair. We particularly liked the mini-barrettes which are especially recommended for the young women and their long tresses, as well as the other styles of attractive hair clips and adornments.

B. Jay Becker

You are East, defending against Four Hearts. The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
4 ♥

West leads the queen of spades — on which dummy plays the deuce, you the nine and declarer the five. West continues with the jack and dummy plays the six. Which card do you play now and why? (For the purposes of this problem assume that your partner is a thoroughly reliable player.)

♠K 6 2

♦K 10 8

♠A 9 8 7 4 3
♥2
♦J 7 6 4
♣9 2

The correct play is to overtake the jack with the ace — on the assumption that declarer has the ten — and continue with a spade. This will defeat the contract if South holds either of these hands:

♠10 5		♠10 5
♥KQJ9865	or	♥AKQ10965
♦AQ		♦AQ
♣A7		♣74

In the first hand your partner will make two trump tricks with the A-10-3, whatever declarer plays, and on the second hand your partner will score the jack of trumps and ace of clubs to stop the contract.

How can you tell that South started with the 10-5 of spades, not the singleton five? There are compelling reasons for arriving at this conclusion. One is that you know — at the point declarer follows low from dummy at trick one — that South cannot have the jack, for he would surely cover West's queen in that case. Furthermore, for the same reason, you can be sure that West realizes you know at trick one where the jack is located.

It follows that if West had the Q-J-10 of spades he would lead the ten at trick two in order to identify that holding. His failure to play the ten — remember, he is a thoroughly reliable partner — therefore proves he does not have it.

Consequently it is safe to overtake the jack with the ace in order to fire a third spade at declarer and hope in that way to promote a trump trick for West that does not exist naturally. Of course your effort may not succeed, but it is surely the right play to make.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My name is Albert and I am a compulsive overeater. Three years ago I weighed 305 pounds. I was in debt to the tune of $8,000, my marriage was on the rocks and I was about to lose my job. Overeating was the cause of all my problems, but I didn't know it then.

I had tried reducing clubs three times, diet doctors, quack doctors, shots, pills, and even hypnosis. One diet doctor put me on pills and shots and I lost 100 pounds in seven months. In less than six months I had put it all back on again. (It cost me $1,500.)

Then someone told me about Overeaters Anonymous and I went to a meeting. There were signs all over the place saying, "WE CARE."

Abby, I have never met a more loving, caring bunch of people in my life. I couldn't believe it. The only requirement to join "O.A." is a desire to stop eating compulsively. You don't even have to attend meetings if you don't want to . I can only tell you that after that first meeting I felt that God had sent me there.

Today, I weigh 180 pounds, am debt free, have money in the bank, and my marriage is more secure than ever. I've even returned to my church where I was ashamed to go for years because I felt so unworthy.

Overeaters Anonymous is strictly that. No last names are used, but I will sign mine and you may check me out. That organization has done so much for me I want to let others know about it so they can be born again. Because that's what happened to me.

ALBERT IN LOS ANGELES

DEAR ALBERT: Not only did I check you out, I personally spoke with several members of "O.A." and every word you wrote is true. Anyone interested in learning more about this wonderful organization (there are chapters all over the U.S.) may write to: Overeaters Anonymous, P.O. Box 2613, Hollywood, Calif., 90028.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has made it plain that he prefers the television set to me. Several of my women friends have the same complaint. What could be the reason for this?

IGNORED

DEAR IGNORED: Maybe it's because he can turn off the television when he wants to.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "PUZZLED IN HOPE, ARKANSAS:" You are under no obligation to send the price of a gift instead of a gift. People who ask for CASH instead of wedding gifts are presumptuous. (Suggestion: Why don't you and six other people get together and send Amy Vanderbilt's new book on etiquette? I can think of no gift more appropriate.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Registration Program Set By NU

A special pre-registration period will be held April 14 for graduate students interested in attending the 1973 summer sessions at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The pre-registration program will be held from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. April 14 in the Graduate College, Room 412, Administration Building. Graduate students may pre-register at that time, for the two, five and one-half week sessions this summer, according to Dr William Sesow, assistant director of summer sessions.

Students who do not pre-register may participate in general registration for the first summer session June 7-8 and for the second summer session July 13.

More than 35 special seminars and workshops will be held during the summer sessions this year. These programs have been designed to be of particular interest and value to public school teachers and administrators, according to Dr. Sesow.

Complete details on course offerings, special workshops, and special events can be obtained from the Summer Sessions Office, Room 101, Teachers College Building, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Friday

Aquarius can be gregarious, stubborn, generous, inventive, progressive and impractical. Natives of this zodiacal sign are not easy to live with but their motives usually are noble. When it comes to lending money to strangers, Aquarians are apt to top the list.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Accent is on getting around, dispatching messages, putting ideas into motion. What seemed impractical could be transformed into working concept. Don't sell yourself short. A minor detail needs your personal attention.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Accept "tip" which could result in financial gain. Accent is on information, the gathering of various factors which add up to profit. Debts can be paid, collected. Gemini, Virgo persons are in picture.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Cycle is high — take initiative. Make new starts in new directions. Exude confidence. Welcome contacts and challenges. Trust your own judgment. Vitality returns. You come alive. Natural abilities soar to forefront.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Clandestine meeting could be featured. Be discreet. Someone is trying to pry information from you. Look behind the scenes for answers. Ignore individual who proposes get-rich-quick scheme.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Spotlight on friends, hopes, desires. Older person offers benefit of experience. Be receptive, not subservient. Capricorn is likely to be in picture. Your romantic interests are kindled. Creative urge seeks expression.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You gain wider recognition. You are able to distribute and delineate. More persons become aware of what you are capable of producing. Sweep aside foolish fears, doubts. Accept added responsibility.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You become involved with potential. You are intrigued with travel, special study — and a desire to better know where you belong. Self-identification is accented. Leo individual plays prominent role.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You sense that something of importance is in the offing. However, you have difficulty articulating your feelings. Key now is to ride with the tide while remaining alert. Aquarian could provide some answers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Do plenty of listening, observing. Study Scorpio message for valid hint. Accent is on partnership, marriage, efforts which require aid of another individual. Special contract could be offered.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Steady approach to dilemma is necessary for ultimate solution. Stick to what is familiar. Veering too far off course creates loss. Some work associates surprise by pitching in and helping you hurdle obstacle.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Good lunar aspect now coincides with creative endeavors, relationships on emotional level. You can do some things you yearned to do years ago. You could find, however, that some of the glitter was imaginary. Face facts.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Look beyond immediate indications. Read and write. Crystallize thoughts, emotions and ambitions. Sagittarian could be involved. Key is to be versatile without scattering your efforts. One you respect returns the compliment.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have dramatic quality, often exemplified by your voice. You understand the arts, especially music. You draw many to you who were born under Taurus and Libra. Plenty of travel indicated this year in comparison with the past. May could be your most significant month of 1973.

TV In India Aids Population Control Battle

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

Although television in India "is just coming into being," it is "geared to educational purposes" — for instance, combatting the country's unwieldy population growth problem, an Indian government official said Thursday in Lincoln.

G. V. Shukla, first secretary for press and information at the Indian Embassy in Washington, D.C., said "13 million people each year are added" to India's population.

"Our initial objective," he said in a press conference at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, "is to reduce this by half" and eventually achieve zero population growth

Originally, he said, it was thought there would be resistance to family planning measures because of "religion, illiteracy and ignorance "

But India now has "the world's largest program in family planning," Shukla said, and it has "gathered considerable momentum."

'No Resistance'

"There has been no resistance," he said. The program is "limited only by the availability of means."

To accomplish it, he said "the educative process will be largely through radio and television," which have no commercials and also concentrate on health problems and farming methods, among others.

Radio in India "is very extensive," Shukla said. "There is lots of community listening." With the launching of a satellite, he predicted "the rapid growth of television within the next five years "

Major reliance on the broadcast media to reach India's populace, he indicated, stems partly from its current national literacy rate of only 20%

That figure, however, is up 5 to 7% from when Britain ruled the country, he pointed out.

G. V. Shukla

Whereas the broadcast media are state-controlled, Shulkla said, the Indian press is privately-owned and "terribly free" from censorship. "We just don't have any and never have.

"Freedom and democracy are very inherent to the Indian temperament," he said. However, he cited a gap in coverage of local events, saying international items get more play.

He traced that rend to the practice before 1947, when India claimed its independence. Then, British-owned newspapers tried to suppress Indian nationalism while the Indian nationalist press devoted heavy coverage to nationalist movements in India and other countries, he said.

Independent newspapers in India have had problems in competing with monopolies, Shukla said, but in recent years "a lot of smaller papers have come up."

Indians, too, are bi-lingual and "the major press has been in the English language," he said.

'Happy' With Pullout

Most Indian newspapers criticized America's involvement in Vietnam, Shukla said. "They were happy with the withdrawal announcement and it was well supported."

He said although the conflict in neighboring Southeast Asia caused "no effects (on India) in any tangible way," it "hasn't conformed to our view.

"Our basic approach is that the countries of the area should be left alone," he said, and each "strengthened in its own independence, but cooperative relations should exist."

American publications and students coming into India, he said, have aroused an awareness of drinking and drug use, but he stated that problems in both areas are "very small." A person who drinks or uses drugs in India, he said is the "subject of ridicule — a social misfit."

Shukla spent two days on the UNL campus. He discussed Indian press and media development at a journalism school World Press Seminar, addressed the ASUN Senate, and met with members of UNL's India Association and International House.

Students Told To Develop Talents

State Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings Thursday told 10 outstanding Lincoln senior high students that the world will be "less advanced" if they fail to develop fully their individual talents

Although noting that the students were being honored by the Lincoln Sertoma Club because they had already demonstrated talent, Marvel said the state's system of higher education must reach many more students "to convince all individuals thev have talents which need to be developed."

Marvel was the speaker for the 15th annual Lincoln Sertoma scholarship luncheon.

Honored were five senior boys and five senior girls from high schools in the city.

The youngsters were chosen largely on the basis of scholarship, although individual character, civic and other activities, service to mankind and other matters also played a part in the selection.

Those honored included:

—Lincoln High: Linda Sue Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Porter of 1952 So. 25th, and Steven R. Alverson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Alverson of 233 Piazza Terrace.

—East High: Susan Heermann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Heermann, of 5910 Sunrise Road, and Mitchell Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Henry, of 1843 Monterey.

—Northeast High: Luann Lyn Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Weber 3535 No. 69th, and Paul W. Hartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hartz of 631 No. 56th.

—Southeast High: Ruth Miller, daughter of Mrs. D C. Miller of 4445 Gertie Ave., and Taylor Greer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Greer of 2710 Woodscrest

—Pius X: Mary T. Willson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert J. Willson of 2915 So. 29th, and Thomas Morin, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Morin of 1954 B.

All of the students rank at or near the top of their respective senior classes in scholastic ratings.

Marvel congratulated the students, their parents and their teachers, and then urged the young people to continue to show their faith in "certain basic principles" through their actions.

He said each individual should exhibit faith in himself, in others, in government and in God.

The students, their parents, their high school principals and the superintendents of public and Catholic schools in Lincoln were special guests during the luncheon.

Plea-Bargaining Stops Trial In Northern Natural Gas Case

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The bribery trial of Nothern Natural Gas Co., two subsidiaries and two individuals ended suddenly Thursday as the result of plea-bargaining sessions between government and defense attorneys.

One of the susidiaries, Northern Gas Products Co, pleaded no defense to a charge of mail fraud James C Smith, who is employed by that company, pleaded no defense to a similar charge

U S. Dist Atty. William Schaphorst then moved for dismissal of charges against all other defendants

He said that D. W. Calvert, who formerly worked for Northern in Omaha and now lives in Tulsa, Okla., is still under indictment in Indiana and Illinois and will testify there.

Schaphorst said Smith also had agreed to be a willing witness in trials scheduled in those states and will not be sentenced until those trials are ended.

Federal District Court Judge Robert Denney accepted the pleas and deferred sentencing of Northern Gas Products until a presentence investigation is completed

In his opening statement in the case, Schaphorst had charged that those facing trial were involved in a $223,393 bride scheme in Indiana and Illinois.

Lyle Strom, an attorney for Northern Natural, in his opening remarks to the jury, said the "government's case is based on nothing but inferences and facts that the government has selected to prove its case."

LOMR Advisory Board Okays Change In Policy

A proposed personnel policy for the Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation (LOMR) was approved to be sent to the county commissioners by the LOMR advisory board Thursday night

The new policy specifically outlines procedures, rights, benefits, duties and responsibilities of people associated with LOMR

Executive director Bob Smith said that under the new plan the employes will know what to expect in a given set of circumstances

In other action, Smith told the group that an office has been secured in the Sharp Building to house Mental Retardation Service Region 5

A California firm has been employed to make a comprehensive study of the region and make recommendations as to what kind of structure the organization should take.

The study will cost $13,500 and will last for 30 to 45 days

Smith said that applications for the job of director of the region office will be screened on April 16th

In other business, the advisory board decided to set up a committee to draw up a five year plan delineating the structure, goals and policies of LOMR. The committee will be composed of parents, members of the advisory board and staff members.

Four Hurt In Accident At Joyland

Four Lincolnites were treated for injuries and released from Bryan Memorial Hospital Thursday night after a compartment on the Tilt-a-Whirl broke away from the rest of the machine at Joyland at 2401 No. 27th, according to police officer Lyle Roberts

Roberts said John Bell, 21, of 3634 Cornhusker, received a cut which required seven stitches and his wife, Paula, 21, suffered a dislocated shoulder, a broken elbow and scrapes and bruises.

Richard Burry, 21, of 2134 No. 31st, suffered a separated shoulder, minor cuts and scrapes and bruises and Kim Schaefer, of 821 Smith, was treated for scrapes and bruises

Roberts said damage to the Tilt-a-Whirl was estimated at $500

Joyland is owned by Gale Witherwax, of 2208 No. Cotner, Roberts said

Bobby Ross saved his father's life!

While mowing his yard one evening last July, 39-year-old Edward Ross collapsed, unconscious. He was alone except for his youngest son. Bobby, 11 years old, had been instructed to dial 911 for all emergencies. Within minutes the mobile heart team was on the scene with rescue equipment. Mr Ross is alive today... because his son didn't hesitate. He dialed 911.

Chest pains might be a heart attack. Don't hesitate...dial 911 for mobile heart team.

TV In India Aids Population Control Battle

Star Staff Writer

Although television in India "is just coming into being," it is "geared to educational purposes" — for instance, combatting the country's unwieldy population growth problem, an Indian government official said Thursday in Lincoln.

G. V. Shukla, first secretary for press and information at the Indian Embassy in Washington, D.C., said "13 million people each year are added" to India's population.

"Our initial objective," he said in a press conference at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, "is to reduce this by half" and eventually achieve zero population growth.

Originally, he said, it was thought there would be resistance to family planning measures because of "religion, illiteracy and ignorance."

But India now has "the world's largest program in family planning," Shukla said, and it has "gathered considerable momentum."

'No Resistance'

"There has been no resistance," he said. The program is "limited only by the availability of means."

To accomplish it, he said "the educative process will be largely through radio and television," which have no commercials and also concentrate on health problems and farming methods, among others.

Radio in India "is very extensive," Shukla said. "There is lots of community listening." With the launching of a satellite, he predicted "the rapid growth of television within the next five years."

Major reliance on the broadcast media to reach India's populace, he indicated, stems partly from its current national literacy rate of only 20%.

That figure, however, is up 5 to 7% from when Britain ruled the country, he pointed out.

G. V. Shukla

Whereas the broadcast media are state-controlled, Shulkla said, the Indian press is privately-owned and "terribly free" from censorship. "We just don't have any and never have.

"Freedom and democracy are very inherent to the Indian temperament," he said. However, he cited a gap in coverage of local events, saying international items get more play.

He traced that rend to the practice before 1947, when India claimed its independence. Then, British-owned newspapers tried to suppress Indian nationalism while the Indian nationalist press devoted heavy coverage to nationalist movements in India and other countries, he said.

Independent newspapers in India have had problems in competing with monopolies, Shukla said, but in recent years "a lot of smaller papers have come up."

Indians, too, are bi-lingual and "the major press has been in the English language," he said.

'Happy' With Pullout

Most Indian newspapers criticized America's involvement in Vietnam, Shukla said. "They were happy with the withdrawal announcement and it was well supported."

He said although the conflict in neighboring Southeast Asia caused "no effects (on India) in any tangible way," it "hasn't conformed to our view.

"Our basic approach is that the countries of the area should be left alone," he said, and each "strengthened in its own independence, but cooperative relations should exist."

American publications and students coming into India, he said, have aroused an awareness of drinking and drug use, but he stated that problems in both areas are "very small." A person who drinks or uses drugs in India, he said is the "subject of ridicule — a social misfit."

Shukla spent two days on the UNL campus. He discussed Indian press and media development at a journalism school World Press Seminar, addressed the ASUN Senate, and met with members of UNL's India Association and International House.

Students Told To Develop Talents

State Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings Thursday told 10 outstanding Lincoln senior high students that the world will be "less advanced" if they fail to develop fully their individual talents.

Although noting that the students were being honored by the Lincoln Sertoma Club because they had already demonstrated talent, Marvel said the state's system of higher education must reach many more students "to convince all individuals they have talents which need to be developed."

Marvel was the speaker for the 15th annual Lincoln Sertoma scholarship luncheon.

Honored were five senior boys and five senior girls from high schools in the city.

The youngsters were chosen largely on the basis of scholarship, although individual character, civic and other activities, service to mankind and other matters also played a part in the selection.

Those honored included:

—Lincoln High: Linda Sue Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Porter of 1952 So. 25th, and Steven R. Alverson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Alverson of 233 Piazza Terrace.

—East High: Susan Heermann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Heermann, of 5910 Sunrise Road, and Mitchell Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Henry, of 1843 Monterey.

—Northeast High: Luann Lyn Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Weber 3535 No. 69th, and Paul W. Hartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hartz of 631 No. 56th.

—Southeast High: Ruth Miller, daughter of Mrs. D. C. Miller of 4445 Gertie Ave., and Taylor Greer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Greer of 2710 Woodscrest.

—Pius X: Mary T. Willson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert J. Willson of 2915 So. 29th, and Thomas Morin, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Morin of 1954 B.

All of the students rank at or near the top of their respective senior classes in scholastic ratings.

Marvel congratulated the students, their parents and their teachers, and then urged the young people to continue to show their faith in "certain basic principles" through their actions.

He said each individual should exhibit faith in himself, in others, in government and in God.

Plea-Bargaining Stops Trial In Northern Natural Gas Case

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The bribery trial of Nothern Natural Gas Co., two subsidiaries and two individuals ended suddenly Thursday as the result of plea-bargaining sessions between government and defense attorneys.

One of the susidiaries, Northern Gas Products Co., pleaded no defense to a charge of mail fraud. James C. Smith, who is employed by that company, pleaded no defense to a similar charge.

U.S. Dist. Atty. William Schaphorst then moved for dismissal of charges against all other defendants.

He said that D. W. Calvert, who formerly worked for Northern in Omaha and now lives in Tulsa, Okla., is still under indictment in Indiana and Illinois and will testify there.

Schaphorst said Smith also had agreed to be a willing witness in trials scheduled in those states and will not be sentenced until those trials are ended.

Federal District Court Judge Robert Denney accepted the pleas and deferred sentencing of Northern Gas Products until a presentence investigation is completed.

In his opening statement in the case, Schaphorst had charged that those facing trial were involved in a $223,393 bride scheme in Indiana and Illinois.

Lyle Strom, an attorney for Northern Natural, in his opening remarks to the jury, said the "government's case is based on nothing but inferences and facts that the government has selected to prove its case."

LOMR Advisory Board Okays Change In Policy

A proposed personnel policy for the Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation (LOMR) was approved to be sent to the county commissioners by the LOMR advisory board Thursday night.

The new policy specifically outlines procedures, rights, benefits, duties and responsibilities of people associated with LOMR.

Executive director Bob Smith said that under the new plan the employes will know what to expect in a given set of circumstances.

In other action, Smith told the group that an office has been secured in the Sharp Building to house Mental Retardation Service Region 5.

A California firm has been employed to make a comprehensive study of the region and make recommendations as to what kind of structure the organization should take.

The study will cost $13,500 and will last for 30 to 45 days.

Smith said that applications for the job of director of the region office will be screened on April 16th.

In other business, the advisory board decided to set up a iommittee to draw up a five year plan delineating the structure, goals and policies of LOMR. The committee will be composed of parents, members of the advisory board and staff members.

Four Hurt In Accident At Joyland

Four Lincolnites were treated for injuries and released from Bryan Memorial Hospital Thursday night after a compartment on the Tilt-a-Whirl broke away from the rest of the machine at Joyland at 2401 No. 27th, according to police officer Lyle Roberts.

Roberts said John Bell, 21, of 3634 Cornhusker, received a cut which required seven stitches and his wife, Paula, 21, suffered a dislocated shoulder, a broken elbow and scrapes and bruises.

Richard Burry, 21, of 2134 No. 31st, suffered a separated shoulder, minor cuts and scrapes and bruises and Kim Schaefer, of 821 Smith, was treated for scrapes and bruises.

Roberts said damage to the Tilt-a-Whirl was estimated at $500.

Meat Marker Banned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced Thursday it will ban in foods, drugs and cosmetics the further use of a widely used purple dye that has been found in Japanese studies to cause cancer.

The ban on Violet No. 1 also will apply to meat inspection marks, the agency said.

The agency said it plans no immediate action to remove from the market products using the color additive before the ban takes effect next Tuesday.

More than 33 tons of the dye were used in the United States in 1972, a 20-fold increase over the previous year.

The FDA said the Agriculture Department uses at least 30 per cent of the dye to mark meat for grade and wholesomeness.

A consumer group said the dye is being mixed with another to produce a new shade replacing Red No. 2, shown in recent Russian studies to interfere with animal reproduction.

The FDA said it has begun its own studies in an attempt to duplicate what it called preliminary data from two Russian studies received Jan. 28 suggesting that a 5 per cent diet of Violet No. 1 causes cancer in rats.

The purple dye is used in a wide range of consumer products such as beverages, candy, bakery goods, ice cream, sherbert, dietary supplements, pill coatings, lipstick, cosmetic creams and pet food.

The FDA said Violet No. 1 has been widely used for 22 years, but has been provisionally listed since 1960 when Congress passed the Color Additive Amendment.

Provisional listing means additional studies are required to demonstrate safety.

Any product using the purple dye after Tuesday will be subject to seizure, the FDA said. There was no word on what would be used to replace it.

Michael F. Jacobson, co-director of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, called Violet No. 1 "the most poorly tested color additive around, the worst thing in our food except for sodium nitrate."

About a year ago the FDA rejected his petition to ban the dye because of Canadian studies indicating that it caused skin tumors in laboratory animals.

Amtrak To Cancel Test Train

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak said Thursday it will discontinue on May 5 the experimental rail passenger service it started 19 months ago between Washington and Parkersburg, W. Va.

The National Railroad Passenger Corp. said it started the 351-mile daily service Sept. 9, 1971, with the intent of operating it for a year as a test of potential interest on the part of the general public.

"Unfortunately, that interest did not develop," an Amtrak spokesman said.

"Even with improved schdules, a 10 per cent fare reduction and other promotional efforts plus continuing the service an additional seven months the number of riders per month did not increase."

The high-speed Turbo Train, with a capacity of 144 passengers and a monthly operating cost of some $70,000, terminated in the home district of Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., chairman of the House committee which passes on Amtrak and Transportation Department funds.

Staggers has denied exerting any influence to route the train into his district, but other sources have said the location "was a political fact of life for Amtrak."

In announcing the termination, Amtrak said that in November 1971, two months after beginning the service, Cumberland, Md., generated a daily average of only 18 passengers eastbound and 15 westbound. Parkersburg produced two passengers a day westbound and four eastbound.

A year later, the daily average was 10 passengers westbound and 12 eastbound at Cumberland, and three in each direction at Parkersburg.

Water, Damage Climb Upward

By The Associated Press

The flood waters of the Mississippi River inched toward record crests Thursday while claiming six lives leaving thousands homeless and bringing property damage estimates near $41 million in Missouri and Illinois

President Nixon authorized the first peacetime call-up of Coast Guard reserves to aid beleaguered flood workers They have been filling and piling sandbags for days to reinforce levees weakened by incessant pounding from the river

The waters above St Louis began to stabilize but federal officials said they did not expect a crest at St Louis until Friday

More than 4 000 persons have been driven from their homes in Missouri and Southern Illinois where the death toll stands at five Thousands of others have refused to leave and remain to protect their property

Federal officials estimate that more than seven million acres of land are under water in the Mississippi Valley and delta regions from central Missouri to below Vicksburg Miss Hundreds of thousands of these acres are valuable farmlands

A spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers at St Louis said the $40 million-plus damage estimate from Hannibal, Mo., to Cairo at the southern tip of Illinois was based on a predicted crest of 40 5 feet at St Louis expected Friday

The spokesman said crop damage in the St Louis district may total $14 million Property damage not including that to railroads and highways, may run as much as $17 million, he said

More than one million acres in the St Louis district were flooded and an additional 600 - 000 acres were under water along the Missouri River from Kansas City to its mouth at the Mississippi, causing an additional $6 4 million damage

Farther upstream a spokesman for the Rock Island Army Corps district said flood damage was estimated at close to $5 million from Cassville, Wis, to Hannibal, Mo

The Army Corps district in St Louis added that more than $200 million in damage was prevented by flood control programs

And despite the mass of floodwaters, an old-timer in Ashport, Tenn above Memphis where the river also crested Thursday, was unimpressed

"This really ain't so much water," said Samuel Rizziger, 77 marooned in his home talking to neighbors drifting by in boats "The first big water I can remember was in 1903 Daddy cut down a tree and built us a raft and we floated out

The crest at Memphis was the fourth highest in history, but officials said it could be weeks before normalcy returns More than a quarter-million acres of west Tennessee farmland remains under water and about 250 families have been removed

In central Louisiana waters were still rising, and the Coast Guard at New Orleans warned vessels using the Mississippi to slow down because wakes erode the levees

Mutual Fund Files Bankruptcy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A U S District Court judge Thursday approved a petition of bankruptcy filed by financially troubled Equity Funding Corp. of America, a large mutual fund and insurance complex accused of fraudulent operations

Judge Harry Pregerson, who had ordered the company to file the petition, said he felt it was "the only way Equity Funding can be kept alive and policyholders and the public protected"

Equity Funding said in the petition that its financial condition was "unknown" and that an audit was under way, supervised by accountants named by the court.

The Securities and Exchange Commission charged Equity Funding this week with a "massive and prolonged effort to alter its books and records," largely those of an insurance subsidiary alleged to have sold nonexistent policies to reinsurers and in some cases to have filed false death certificates to obtain payment from the reinsurers.

The subsidiary, Equity Funding Life Insurance Co, wrote about 13,000 policies in Illinois, where state officials have been unable to find $20 million in assets the company said were backing its policies

A group of banks which lent Equity Funding $50 million is pressing for payment and have threatened to impound $10 mill to $15 million of company assets they hold in deposits, the firm said

The New York Stock Exchange stopped trading in the company's stock last Tuesday, as rumors spread through Wall Street about troubles at the firm The exchange is now investigating to see if there was illegal selling before the halt, based on inside information.

The price of Equity Funding stock, which had been widely bought by financial institutions as a growth stock, had fallen sharply on the rumors. On March 19 it opened at $24 88 When the exchange halted trading, it stood at $14.38.

Wizard Not So Wonderful

ROME (AP) — The not so wonderful wizard of Rome is off to see the judge.

Antonio Battista, 44, president of the Italian Association of Wizards, has been arrested and charged with fraud

Police said he promised jobs and success in love but lacked the wizardry to fulfill his pledges

Ride Of Paul Revere Retold

Boston (UPI) — Paul Revere never rode through the streets of Boston rousing the populace on his famous midnight ride, but he did find three fellow patriots in the company of their girl friends, and he 'spilled everything" when he was caught and interrogated by the British, a Boston journalist said Thursday

"Very interesting," said Revere's great-great-great-great grandson.

Richard W O'Donnell, writing in the April issue of the Smithsonian Institute Magazine, said Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's famous poem also "took other liberties with the facts about Revere that have been cited by generations of Americans"

Lantern Hung

O'Donnell, a feature write for the Boston Globe, said Revere did ask a friend to hang lanterns in Boston's Old North Church on the night of April 18, 1775, to tell patriot soldiers across the river whether the British were coming by land or by sea.

As it turned out, O'Donnell said, the Americans across the river never got the signal, so Revere decided to ride to Lexington, Mass, to warn Samuel Adams and John Hancock to get out of town

He was joined later by William Dawes and it was decided Dawes and Revere should go to Concord, Mass., to warn the patriots to change the location of a cache of ammunition because the British knew where it was located.

En route they were joined by Dr Samuel Prescott, who was returning from a rendezvous with his girl friend

Lot Of Visiting

"A lot of people were visiting their girl friends that April night," O'Donnell wrote He said Hancock was with "the beautiful Dorothy Quincy" when Revere arrived, and that when Dawes and Prescott took a detour to Lincoln, Mass, they "found one patriot awake — Nathaniel Baker, holding hands with yet another fair maid"

Returning from Lincoln, Prescott, Dawes and Revere were arrested by six British officers Dawes and Prescott escaped and Prescott actually made it to Concord to alert the citizens But Revere was threatened with a pistol and ordered to talk

"With deep regret it must be revealed that the great patriot spilled everything," O'Donnell wrote.

John J Bishop Jr, a fourth generation descendant of Revere, said the article was "very interesting" but he would stick with Longfellow's version

He said Longfellow did change the account of the lanterns because "it rhymed better."

O'Donnell said the research for his account came from more than a score of sources, including a detailed narrative of the incident by Revere himself.

Water, Damage Climb Upward

By The Associated Press

The flood waters of the Mississippi River inched toward record crests Thursday while claiming six lives, leaving thousands homeless and bringing property damage estimates near $41 million in Missouri and Illinois.

President Nixon authorized the first peacetime call-up of Coast Guard reserves to aid beleaguered flood workers. They have been filling and piling sandbags for days to reinforce levees weakened by incessant pounding from the river.

The waters above St. Louis began to stabilize, but federal officials said they did not expect a crest at St. Louis until Friday.

More than 4,000 persons have been driven from their homes in Missouri and Southern Illinois, where the death toll stands at five. Thousands of others have refused to leave, and remain to protect their property.

Federal officials estimate that more than seven million acres of land are under water in the Mississippi Valley and delta regions from central Missouri to below Vicksburg, Miss. Hundreds of thousands of these acres are valuable farmlands.

A spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers at St. Louis said the $40 million-plus damage estimate from Hannibal, Mo., to Cairo at the southern tip of Illinois was based on a predicted crest of 40.5 feet at St. Louis expected Friday.

The spokesman said crop damage in the St. Louis district may total $14 million. Property damage, not including that to railroads and highways, may run as much as $17 million, he said.

More than one million acres in the St. Louis district were flooded and an additional 600,000 acres were under water along the Missouri River from Kansas City to its mouth at the Mississippi, causing an additional $6.4 million damage.

Farther upstream, a spokesman for the Rock Island Army Corps district said flood damage was estimated at close to $5 million from Cassville, Wis., to Hannibal, Mo.

The Army Corps district in St. Louis added that more than $200 million in damage was prevented by flood control programs.

And despite the mass of floodwaters, an old-timer in Ashport, Tenn., above Memphis where the river also crested Thursday, was unimpressed.

"This really ain't so much water," said Samuel Rizziger, 77, marooned in his home talking to neighbors drifting by in boats. "The first big water I can remember was in 1903. Daddy cut down a tree and built us a raft and we floated out.

The crest at Memphis was the fourth highest in history, but officials said it could be weeks before normalcy returns. More than a quarter-million acres of west Tennessee farmland remains under water and about 250 families have been removed.

In central Louisiana, waters were still rising, and the Coast Guard at New Orleans warned vessels using the Mississippi to slow down because wakes erode the levees.

Mutual Fund Files Bankruptcy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge Thursday approved a petition of bankruptcy filed by financially troubled Equity Funding Corp. of America, a large mutual fund and insurance complex accused of fraudulent operations.

Judge Harry Pregerson, who had ordered the company to file the petition, said he felt it was "the only way Equity Funding can be kept alive and policyholders and the public protected."

Equity Funding said in the petition that its financial condition was "unknown" and that an audit was under way, supervised by accountants named by the court.

The Securities and Exchange Commission charged Equity Funding this week with a "massive and prolonged effort to alter its books and records," largely those of an insurance subsidiary alleged to have sold nonexistent policies to reinsurers and in some cases to have filed false death certificates to obtain payment from the reinsurers.

The subsidiary, Equity Funding Life Insurance Co., wrote about 13,000 policies in Illinois, where state officials have been unable to find $20 million in assets the company said were backing its policies.

A group of banks which lent Equity Funding $50 million is pressing for payment and have threatened to impound $10 mill to $15 million of company assets they hold in deposits, the firm said.

The New York Stock Exchange stopped trading in the company's stock last Tuesday, as rumors spread through Wall Street about troubles at the firm. The exchange is now investigating to see if there was illegal selling before the halt, based on inside information.

The price of Equity Funding stock, which had been widely bought by financial institutions as a growth stock, had fallen sharply on the rumors. On March 19 it opened at $24.88. When the exchange halted trading, it stood at $14.38.

Wizard Not So Wonderful

ROME (AP) — The not so wonderful wizard of Rome is off to see the judge.

Antonio Battista, 44, president of the Italian Association of Wizards, has been arrested and charged with fraud.

Police said he promised jobs and success in love but lacked the wizardry to fulfill his pledges.

Ride Of Paul Revere Retold

Boston (UPI) — Paul Revere never rode through the streets of Boston rousing the populace on his famous midnight ride, but he did find three fellow patriots in the company of their girl friends, and he "spilled everything" when he was caught and interrogated by the British, a Boston journalist said Thursday.

"Very interesting," said Revere's great-great-great-great grandson.

Richard W. O'Donnell, writing in the April issue of the Smithsonian Institute Magazine, said Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's famous poem also "took other liberties with the facts about Revere that have been cited by generations of Americans."

Lantern Hung

O'Donnell, a feature write for the Boston Globe, said Revere did ask a friend to hang lanterns in Boston's Old North Church on the night of April 18, 1775, to tell patriot soldiers across the river whether the British were coming by land or by sea.

As it turned out, O'Donnell said, the Americans across the river never got the signal, so Revere decided to ride to Lexington, Mass., to warn Samuel Adams and John Hancock to get out of town.

He was joined later by William Dawes and it was decided Dawes and Revere should go to Concord, Mass., to warn the patriots to change the location of a cache of ammunition because the British knew where it was located.

En route they were joined by Dr. Samuel Prescott, who was returning from a rendezvous with his girl friend.

Lot Of Visiting

"A lot of people were visiting their girl friends that April night," O'Donnell wrote. He said Hancock was with "the beautiful Dorothy Quincy" when Revere arrived, and that when Dawes and Prescott took a detour to Lincoln, Mass., they "found one patriot awake — Nathaniel Baker, holding hands with yet another fair maid."

Returning from Lincoln, Prescott, Dawes and Revere were arrested by six British officers. Dawes and Prescott escaped and Prescott actually made it to Concord to alert the citizens. But Revere was threatened with a pistol and ordered to talk.

"With deep regret it must be revealed that the great patriot spilled everything," O'Donnell wrote.

John J. Bishop Jr., a fourth generation descendant of Revere, said the article was "very interesting" but he would stick with Longfellow's version.

He said Longfellow did change the account of the lanterns because "it rhymed better."

O'Donnell said the research for his account came from more than a score of sources, including a detailed narrative of the incident by Revere himself.

Backs, Backs, Backs

Spring is a time when baseball rookies dream of being another Mickey Mantle or Sandy Koufax.

It's also a time when young college football players dream of stepping into holes left by the graduation of the Greg Pruitts and Johnny Rodgerses.

In the Big Eight this year, there aren't many backfield holes to be filled with 17 of the conference's top 25 rushers of last season returning.

And among that list of returnees are four of the top five, Pruitt the only one missing.

Leading the returnees is the league's leading rusher, Iowa State's Mike Strachan (1,260 yards), No. 3 George Palmer of Oklahoma State (937 yards), No. 4 Charlie Davis of Colorado (926 yards) and No. 5 Brent Blackman of Oklahoma State (842 yards).

Also returning are the top two passing quarterbacks, Nebraska's David Humm (2,074 yards) and Kansas' David Jaynes (2,253 yards).

NU, OU Biggest Losers

The biggest losers of starting backs is Nebraska and Oklahoma with the Huskers returning only Humm as a starter from last season with the Sooners losing their entire starting backfield.

However, it was a bit difficult for many observers to tell much difference between the Sooners' starting cast of quarterback Dave Robertson, halfbacks Pruitt and Joe Wylie and fullback Leon Crosswhite and the alternate unit of quarterback Kerry Jackson, halfbacks Joe Washington and Grant Burget and fullback Tim Welch.

The rebuilding job in the offensive backfield facing new Husker coach Tom Osborne is the toughest in the league

On the other hand some Big Eight teams such as Oklahoma State return an entire starting backfield.

The Cowboys can put together an experienced backfield of Blackman at quarterback, Palmer at fullback, Fountain Smith and Alton Gerard at halfbacks, all four of whom ranked in the top 25 in rushing in the Big Eight last season.

Missouri is another that can put four experienced and talented backs on the playing field for next fall's opener with quarterback John Cherry, fullback Ray Bybee and halfbacks Bill Ziegler, Tommy Reamon, LeRoy Moss and Jimmy Smith all owning starting credentials at one time or another last season

Some Missing Quarterback

Others such as Kansas State and Iowa State are missing only the quarterback from last year's starting backfield

Quarterback George Amundson is missing at Iowa State, but halfbacks Strachan and Willie Jones and fullback Moses Moore returns.

Kansas State coach Vince Gibson doesn't have quarterback Dennis Morrison around any more, but he has returning starters in halfback Isaac Jackson, fullback Don Calhoun and wide receiver Josh Washington.

Colorado, like Oklahoma State, returns a starting backfield intact with quarterback Ken Johnson, fullback Bo Matthews, wingback Jon Keyworth and tailback Charlie Davis

And Kansas is only one shy of having a full-house starting backfield returning with quarterback Jaynes, flanker Bob Miller and halfback Delvin Williams coming back.

Picking the all-Big Eight backfield next November should be interesting

Aaron Leads Masters After 'Lucky Break'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Tommy Aaron needed a "lucky break" for a one-stroke lead over favored Jack Nicklaus and Japanese longshot Masahi "Jumbo" Ozaki in the opening round the Masters Thursday, and he got it at the exact same spot his pencil decided this tournament five years ago.

Aaron, among the first players to tee off on the famed Augusta National course, had a four-under-par 68

Nicklaus, a four-time Masters winner, the defending champion and the pre-tournament favorite as usual, came along in midday with a 69 and Ozaki, among the last players on the course, matched it

Aaron, one of golf's top 20 all-time money winners —a fact generally overlooked because of his 1968 scoring gaffe which cost Roberto de Vicenzo this prestigious title —had to par the final two holes to finish with his 68.

His original trouble with the pencil in 1968 occurred at the 17th hole, and it was there he ran into trouble again Thursday with an errant tee shot

The shot was hooked into a clump of trees on the left side of the fairway, then Aaron prayed a little as the ball slithered through and fell into an opening on the fairway.

"It was a poor drive and I got a break," Aaron confessed "I was lucky it didn't hit the tree and come straight down "

Aaron went from there routinely to make his final two pars

Nicklaus was the first of the serious challengers to come along with a chance to tie or pass Aaron and he barely missed

His 25-foot putt for an eagle on the par five 475-yard, 13th hole hit the cup and stayed out Then at No 15, another par-5 of 520 yards Nicklaus hit the cup with a blast from a sand trap on his third shot and again the ball lipped out

Ozaki, a 25-year-old former Japanese baseball star who earned the nickname "Jumbo" for his powerful drives caught Nicklaus for a second-place tie by making a birdie on the difficult, 190-yard, par-3, 16th hole where there is only water between the tee and the green

A pro golfer only three years Ozaki is making his second appearance in the Masters and said "I just hope to play well enough to be a credit to my country "

Last year, he missed the cut here after shooting rounds of 74 and 80 but he started out Thursday's opening round with a birdie at the 555-yard, par-5 second hole and that apparently got his confidence up

J C Snead whose 60-year Uncle Sam won this tournament three times and Bob Dickson, a former U S and British Amateur champion who described his pre-tournament hopes as "slim and none," were tied for fourth place at two-under par 70

Grier Jones and Phil Rodgers were the only other players able to break par, shooting 71s

A group at par 72 was headed by former PGA champion Dave Stockton and Chi Chi Rodriguez, who won the Greater Greensboro Open last Monday

Unusually blustery winds on a cool day forced many scores high into the 70's and no one was more chagrined than Arnold Palmer a four-time champion like Nicklaus

MARICHAL AIDS GIANTS

Nebraska, Bahensky Leading

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska's Dan Bahensky toured the back nine at Holmes Golf Course in 35 Thursday to finish the first round of the Cornhusker Invitational golf tournament with a three-over 74 and take a two-stroke lead into the final round Friday

Due to wet grounds, No. 15 was shortened to a par three by club pro Bob Schuchart, but the rolling green didn't aid many of the golfers.

Two strokes behind Bahensky were summer's nemisis, Rick Werner of South Dakota who beat Bahensky at Hastings and Norfolk

Another stroke back at 77 were Jim Sybilrud of Mankato, Steve King, NU; Brent Fahnstock, South Dakota, and Bill Scholten, South Dakota St

All members of the Nebraska team finished the first day of play in the top ten with Gary Anderson rounding out the bottom with a 79.

But it was the back nine that saved Nebraska Almost to a man, the team members bettered their score on the backside often said at Holmes to be a stroke harder.

"When they shortened fifteen, they shaved a stroke to a stroke-and-a-half off," NU coach Larry Romjue said

Bahensky agreed, taking a par three off what is usually a 445-yard par 4.

"That would be a hard hole to play under normal conditions," Bahensky said "It's awful muddy at the dog-leg."

Bahensky started the back nine with a birdie on 515-yard par No 10, then held par to the fourteenth where he collected a bogie Another bogie on No 16 put him one-over, but he got that stroke back on the 551-yard par 5 No 18

The state amateur and Lincoln City champion hit a booming drive 280-yards just inside the rough, then topped that by playing a No. 4 wood to the collar of the green.

Bahensky 'Texas-putted' off the lip of the green and ran the ball over the top of the cup, narrowly missing an eagle He canned a six-footer coming back for his birdie to make him even for the round at 35 after posting a 39 on the front

"The wind was really terrible," Bahensky said "You would probably get a two-three inch difference in your line since they had the greens clipped to one-sixteenth of an inch

PLAY BALL ... Former POW Air Force Capt. Edward Mechenbier tosses out first baseball at Cincinnati.

SF Rallies Past Reds, 4-1

...SEASON BEGINS

Cincinnati (AP) — Juan Marichal pitched like a young man and then talked like an old one Thursday after hurling the San Francisco Giants to a 4-1 victory over the defending National League champion Cincinnati Reds in the 1973 major league baseball opener

"My back is a little stiff," Marichal said after scattering seven Cincinnati hits and watching teammates Bobby Bonds and Chris Speier deliver key run-scoring hits in the opener.

Marichal had back surgery last October, and said he's had to prepare himself thoroughly both mentally and physically this year

"I think I'm better prepared this season," he said. "When you have a bad year, you have to work harder.

"During spring training sometimes, in the morning when I woke up, my back hurt a little bit, but I've been working harder this year than any other spring "

A partisan crowd of 51,579 had little to cheer about as the Giants rallied from a 1-0 deficit, helping Marichal to his sixth victory against two losses in opening day appearances

The Reds took a 1-0 lead in the second, as Cesar Geronimo doubled to open the inning, and later scored on losing pitcher Don Gullett's sacrifice fly.

But the Giants pulled even in the fifth, when Dave Rader opened with a double and scored on Tito Fuentes' second single of the game

San Francisco took the lead in the seventh, bunching two walks and two hits for three runs off Gullett

Rader drew a one-out walk and then Marichal also walked after being behind 1-2 on the count.

Bonds then rapped a double to left-center, scoring Rader, and Speier followed Fuentes' ground-out with a two-run single to left

Marichal, hoping to rebound from a poor 6-16 showing last year when back problems rendered him ineffective, finished with a flourish, retiring the final 13 Reds he faced

The victory was Marichal's 24th against the Reds, the most of any active pitcher He has lost to Cincinnati 15 times

W-Club Victories To Peru, Kearney

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Peru's golf team and Kearney's tennis team triumphed Thursday in W-Club Invitational Meets

The Bobcat's golf team had 322 to Kearney's 327 at Holmes Park, while the Antelopes' tennis team had to win the doubles title to hold off surprising Nebraska Wesleyan on the Plainsmen's courts.

Kearney, the defending champion, finished with 39 points in the tennis meet to NWU's 24, but the Antelopes only led 22-20 going into the doubles matches.

The Antelopes defeated the Plainsmen, 7-2, earlier this season at home in an indoor dual Last year, NWU failed to score in the W-Club Tennis Meet

"We did better than expected since we've only been able to practice six times before this meet because we don't have an indoor facility like Kearney does," NWU tennis coach Dr. Milt Evans said.

"However, we have six lettermen back and they're all underclassmen, so we should get better as we get experienced."

Although the Plainsmen tennis team did better than expected, coach Harold Chaffee was disappointed with NWU's golf team "We had the wrong guy playing our fifth position," Chaffee said

"During the week Dave (Pauley) was beating Marc (Cruse) in practice, so Dave was chosen our fifth player and Marc just played for practice."

Pauley came with an 89, his highest score in competition at NWU Cruse fired a 43-36—79, which not only would have been good for third place in the individual medal standings, but also would have boosted the Plainsmen into a second-place tie with Kearney

However, Cruse's score didn't count since only five golfers were allowed to enter for each team with the best four scores counting in the team standings.

Peru's Guy Lammle was the individual medalist with a 38-39—77 over the par 72 Holmes course. Guy's younger brother Dave lost a playoff to Kearney's Jerry Munn for third place.

Nebraska To Battle Kansas

Coach Tony Sharpe's Nebraska baseball team after cancelling 10 of its first 16 contests, will try to get back in action this weekend when they take on the Kansas Jayhawks in a three-game series at Lawrence Friday and Saturday

Lack of playing time naturally concerns Sharpe, but it's actually not his main source of anxiety

We're actually more worried about practice time than about playing, Sharpe said We haven't been able to get outside since we played March 23rd We had one practice outdoors on the trip, so we've only had one outdoor practice and six games

We'd be lucky if we couldn't play games if we can't practice he continued We're probably setting a record for college teams for not practicing outdoors

The Huskers, 3-2-1 on the year, will play the Jayhawks in a doubleheader Friday afternoon and in a single game Saturday — weather permitting Tuesday afternoon, they'll try to open their home season in a 1 30 doubleheader against Northwest Missouri on the NU diamond.

Kansas will be playing at home and they did get some conference games under their belt last week, so they'll have some advantages there Sharpe said

Sharpe said he plans to use the following starting lineup against the Jayhawks: Dennis Shibata, 2B; Bryant Akisada, SS; Bob Munson, RF; Sam Sharpe, 1B; Rich Sanger, LF; Jim Smith, 3B; Dennis O'Doherty, CF; Doak Fowler, C; and the pitcher's spot.

Sharpe indicated he'd use a pitching rotation of Ryan Kurosaki, Terry Redler and Brandt Glover or O'Doherty with David Buehrer and Larry Wetterberg in the bullpen

Backs, Backs, Backs

Spring is a time when baseball rookies dream of being another Mickey Mantle or Sandy Koufax.

It's also a time when young college football players dream of stepping into holes left by the graduation of the Greg Pruitts and Johnny Rodgerses.

In the Big Eight this year, there aren't many backfield holes to be filled with 17 of the conference's top 25 rushers of last season returning.

And among that list of returnees are four of the top five, Pruitt the only one missing.

Leading the returnees is the league's leading rusher, Iowa State's Mike Strachan (1,260 yards), No. 3 George Palmer of Oklahoma State (937 yards), No. 4 Charlie Davis of Colorado (926 yards) and No. 5 Brent Blackman of Oklahoma State (842 yards).

Also returning are the top two passing quarterbacks, Nebraska's David Humm (2,074 yards) and Kansas' David Jaynes (2,253 yards).

NU, OU Biggest Losers

The biggest losers of starting backs is Nebraska and Oklahoma with the Huskers returning only Humm as a starter from last season with the Sooners losing their entire starting backfield.

However, it was a bit difficult for many observers to tell much difference between the Sooners' starting cast of quarterback Dave Robertson, halfbacks Pruitt and Joe Wylie and fullback Leon Crosswhite and the alternate unit of quarterback Kerry Jackson, halfbacks Joe Washington and Grant Burget and fullback Tim Welch.

The rebuilding job in the offensive backfield facing new Husker coach Tom Osborne is the toughest in the league.

On the other hand some Big Eight teams such as Oklahoma State return an entire starting backfield.

The Cowboys can put together an experienced backfield of Blackman at quarterback, Palmer at fullback, Fountain Smith and Alton Gerard at halfbacks, all four of whom ranked in the top 25 in rushing in the Big Eight last season.

Missouri is another that can put four experienced and talented backs on the playing field for next fall's opener with quarterback John Cherry, fullback Ray Bybee and halfbacks Bill Ziegler, Tommy Reamon, LeRoy Moss and Jimmy Smith all owning starting credentials at one time or another last season.

Some Missing Quarterback

Others such as Kansas State and Iowa State are missing only the quarterback from last year's starting backfield.

Quarterback George Amundson is missing at Iowa State, but halfbacks Strachan and Willie Jones and fullback Moses Moore returns.

Kansas State coach Vince Gibson doesn't have quarterback Dennis Morrison around any more, but he has returning starters in halfback Isaac Jackson, fullback Don Calhoun and wide receiver Josh Washington.

Colorado, like Oklahoma State, returns a starting backfield intact with quarterback Ken Johnson, fullback Bo Matthews, wingback Jon Keyworth and tailback Charlie Davis.

And Kansas is only one shy of having a full-house starting backfield returning with quarterback Jaynes, flanker Bob Miller and halfback Delvin Williams coming back.

Picking the all-Big Eight backfield next November should be interesting.

W-Club Victories To Peru, Kearney

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Peru's golf team and Kearney's tennis team triumphed Thursday in W-Club Invitational Meets.

The Bobcat's golf team had 322 to Kearney's 327 at Holmes Park, while the Antelopes' tennis team had to win the doubles title to hold off surprising Nebraska Wesleyan on the Plainsmen's courts.

Kearney, the defending champion, finished with 39 points in the tennis meet to NWU's 24, but the Antelopes only led 22-20 going into the doubles matches.

The Antelopes defeated the Plainsmen, 7-2, earlier this season at home in an indoor dual. Last year, NWU failed to score in the W-Club Tennis Meet.

"We did better than expected since we've only been able to practice six times before this meet because we don't have an indoor facility like Kearney does," NWU tennis coach Dr. Milt Evans said.

"However, we have six lettermen back and they're all underclassmen, so we should get better as we get experienced."

Although the Plainsmen tennis team did better than expected, coach Harold Chaffee was disappointed with NWU's golf team. "We had the wrong guy playing our fifth position," Chaffee said.

"During the week Dave (Pauley) was beating Marc (Cruse) in practice, so Dave was chosen our fifth player and Marc just played for practice."

Pauley came with an 89, his highest score in competition at NWU. Cruse fired a 43-36—79, which not only would have been good for third place in the individual medal standings, but also would have boosted the Plainsmen into a second-place tie with Kearney.

However, Cruse's score didn't count since only five golfers were allowed to enter for each team with the best four scores counting in the team standings.

Peru's Guy Lammle was the individual medalist with a 38-39—77 over the par 72 Holmes course. Guy's younger brother Dave lost a playoff to Kearney's Jerry Munn for third place.

Aaron Leads Masters After 'Lucky Break'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Tommy Aaron needed a "lucky break" for a one-stroke lead over favored Jack Nicklaus and Japanese longshot Masahi "Jumbo" Ozaki in the opening round the Masters Thursday, and he got it at the exact same spot his pencil decided this tournament five years ago.

Aaron, among the first players to tee off on the famed Augusta National course, had a four-under-par 68.

Nicklaus, a four-time Masters winner, the defending champion and the pre-tournament favorite as usual, came along in midday with a 69 and Ozaki, among the last players on the course, matched it.

Aaron, one of golf's top 20 all-time money winners —a fact generally overlooked because of his 1968 scoring gaffe which cost Roberto de Vicenzo this prestigious title —had to par the final two holes to finish with his 68.

His original trouble with the pencil in 1968 occurred at the 17th hole, and it was there he ran into trouble again Thursday with an errant tee shot.

The shot was hooked into a clump of trees on the left side of the fairway, then Aaron prayed a little as the ball slithered through and fell into an opening on the fairway.

"It was a poor drive and I got a break," Aaron confessed. "I was lucky it didn't hit the tree and come straight down."

Aaron went from there routinely to make his final two pars.

Nicklaus was the first of the serious challengers to come along with a chance to tie or pass Aaron and he barely missed.

His 25-foot putt for an eagle on the par five 475-yard, 13th hole hit the cup and stayed out. Then at No. 15, another par-5 of 520 yards, Nicklaus hit the cup with a blast from a sand trap on his third shot, and again the ball lipped out.

Ozaki, a 25-year-old former Japanese baseball star who earned the nickname "Jumbo" for his powerful drives, caught Nicklaus for a second-place tie by making a birdie on the difficult, 190-yard, par-3, 16th hole where there is only water between the tee and the green.

A pro golfer only three years, Ozaki is making his second appearance in the Masters and said "I just hope to play well enough to be a credit to my country."

Last year, he missed the cut here after shooting rounds of 74 and 80 but he started out Thursday's opening round with a birdie at the 555-yard, par-5 second hole and that apparently got his confidence up.

J. C. Snead, whose 60-year Uncle Sam won this tournament three times, and Bob Dickson, a former U. S. and British Amateur champion who described his pre-tournament hopes as "slim and none," were tied for fourth place at two-under par 70.

Grier Jones and Phil Rodgers were the only other players able to break par, shooting 71s.

A group at par 72 was headed by former PGA champion Dave Stockton and Chi Chi Rodriguez, who won the Greater Greensboro Open last Monday.

Unusually blustery winds on a cool day forced many scores high into the 70's, and no one was more chagrined than Arnold Palmer, a four-time champion like Nicklaus.

Nebraska, Bahensky Leading

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska's Dan Bahensky toured the back nine at Holmes Golf Course in 35 Thursday to finish the first round of the Cornhusker Invitational golf tournament with a three-over 74 and take a two-stroke lead into the final round Friday.

Due to wet grounds, No. 15 was shortened to a par three by club pro Bob Schuchart, but the rolling green didn't aid many of the golfers.

Another stroke back at 77 were Jim Sybilrud of Mankato, Steve King, NU; Brent Fahnstock, South Dakota, and Bill Scholten, South Dakota St.

All members of the Nebraska team finished the first day of play in the top ten with Gary Anderson rounding out the bottom with a 79.

But it was the back nine that saved Nebraska. Almost to a man, the team members bettered their score on the backside often said at Holmes to be a stroke harder.

"When they shortened fifteen, they shaved a stroke to a stroke-and-a-half off," NU coach Larry Romjue said.

Bahensky agreed, taking a par three off what is usually a 445-yard par 4.

"That would be a hard hole to play under normal conditions," Bahensky said. "It's awful muddy at the dog-leg."

Bahensky started the back nine with a birdie on 515-yard par No. 10, then held par to the fourteenth where he collected a bogie. Another bogie on No. 16 put him one-over, but he got that stroke back on the 551-yard par 5 No. 18.

The state amateur and Lincoln City champion hit a booming drive 280-yards just inside the rough, then topped that by playing a No. 4 wood to the collar of the green.

Bahensky 'Texas-putted' off the lip of the green and ran the ball over the top of the cup, narrowly missing an eagle. He canned a six-footer coming back for his birdie to make him even for the round at 35 after posting a 39 on the front.

"The wind was really terrible," Bahensky said. "You would probably get a two-three inch difference in your line since they had the greens clipped to one-sixteenth of an inch.

Holder To Head OSU Golf Team

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Former Big Eight medalist Mike Holder was named Thursday to succeed Labron Harris Sr. as golf coach at Oklahoma State University.

Floyd Gass, OSU athletic director, said Holder, 24, was approved for the job by OSU's 13-man athletic council.

SF Rallies Past Reds, 4-1

...SEASON BEGINS

Cincinnati (AP) — Juan Marichal pitched like a young man and then talked like an old one Thursday after hurling the San Francisco Giants to a 4-1 victory over the defending National League champion Cincinnati Reds in the 1973 major league baseball opener.

"My back is a little stiff," Marichal said after scattering seven Cincinnati hits and watching teammates Bobby Bonds and Chris Speier deliver key run-scoring hits in the opener.

Marichal had back surgery last October, and said he's had to prepare himself thoroughly both mentally and physically this year.

"I think I'm better prepared this season," he said. "When you have a bad year, you have to work harder.

"During spring training sometimes, in the morning when I woke up, my back hurt a little bit, but I've been working harder this year than any other spring."

A partisan crowd of 51,579 had little to cheer about as the Giants rallied from a 1-0 deficit, helping Marichal to his sixth victory against two losses in opening day appearances.

The Reds took a 1-0 lead in the second, as Cesar Geronimo doubled to open the inning, and later scored on losing pitcher Don Gullett's sacrifice fly.

But the Giants pulled even in the fifth, when Dave Rader opened with a double and scored on Tito Fuentes' second single of the game.

San Francisco took the lead in the seventh, bunching two walks and two hits for three runs off Gullett.

Rader drew a one-out walk and then Marichal also walked after being behind 1-2 on the count.

Bonds then rapped a double to left-center, scoring Rader, and Speier followed Fuentes' ground-out with a two-run single to left.

Marichal, hoping to rebound from a poor 6-16 showing last year when back problems rendered him ineffective, finished with a flourish, retiring the final 13 Reds he faced.

The victory was Marichal's 24th against the Reds, the most of any active pitcher. He has lost to Cincinnati 15 times.

Nebraska To Battle Kansas

Coach Tony Sharpe's Nebraska baseball team, after cancelling 10 of its first 16 contests, will try to get back in action this weekend when they take on the Kansas Jayhawks in a three-game series at Lawrence Friday and Saturday.

Lack of playing time naturally concerns Sharpe, but it's actually not his main source of anxiety.

"We're actually more worried about practice time than about playing," Sharpe said. "We haven't been able to get outside since we played March 23rd. We had one practice outdoors on the trip, so we've only had one outdoor practice and six games.

"We'd be lucky if we couldn't play games if we can't practice," he continued. "We're probably setting a record for college teams for not practicing outdoors."

The Huskers, 3-2-1 on the year, will play the Jayhawks in a doubleheader Friday afternoon and in a single game Saturday — weather permitting. Tuesday afternoon, they'll try to open their home season in a 1:30 doubleheader against Northwest Missouri on the NU diamond.

"Kansas will be playing at home and they did get some conference games under their belt last week, so they'll have some advantages there," Sharpe said.

Sharpe said he plans to use the following starting lineup against the Jayhawks: Dennis Shibata, 2B; Bryant Akisada, SS; Bob Munson, RF; Sam Sharpe, 1B; Rich Sanger, LF; Jim Smith, 3B; Dennis O'Doherty, CF; Doak Fowler, C; and the pitcher's spot.

Sharpe indicated he'd use a pitching rotation of Ryan Kurosaki, Terry Redler and Brandt Glover or O'Doherty, with David Buehrer and Larry Wetterberg in the bullpen

Creighton Hits NWU Twice

Papillion—Creighton swept a nonconference baseball doubleheader here Thursday afternoon from Nebraska Wesleyan, 3-2 and 9-1.

The losses dropped the Plainsmen to 3-7. Coach Ron Bachman's Capital City team will host Dana at 1 p.m. Saturday at Sherman Field in a Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference doubleheader.

Lincoln East freshman Jack Ball was credited by Bachman for throwing a good game in a losing cause in the first contest to Creighton.

Ball, now 1-1, gave up six hits and three runs, two of which were earned and came on solo home runs. The Plainsmen had 10 hits in the first game, but could only manage two runs.

Rick Grell had two hits; including a triple, in two trips to the plate for NWU in the first game.

OU Practice 'Typical Day'

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—"Can I say anything other than it was a typical first day?", asked head Oklahoma University football coach Barry Switzer.

The Sooners kicked off their spring practice here under sunny skies in calm mild weather Thursday.

Switzer told newsmen the Sooner staff's biggest concern is rebuilding the offensive line and creating depth in the back field.

The coach said the team will work on the spread formation "to get more passing." But, he said, "This won't come right away."

Switzer said, "Our top three quarterback prospects are Kerry Jackson, Steve Davis and Scott Hill. Jackson's had more work than the others. Davis has had the next most. Scottie hasn't had any work. It's all new to him."

HOUSTON (AP) — Rapid-fire goals by Larry Hale, Brian McDonald and Ted Taylor over a 2:46 span of the first period powered the Houston Aeros to a 7-2 World Hockey Association Western Division playoff victory over the Los Angeles Sharks Thursday night.

The victory gave the Aeros, who finished second in the WHA West, a 1-0 lead in the best of seven quarterfinal playoff series.

NU Netters Eye Duals

An improving Nebraska tennis team goes on the road again this weekend for duals with Missouri, Friday, and Kansas State, Saturday, at Manhattan, Kansas.

"We're making considerable improvement, but the competition is still pretty rough," said head coach Jim Porter. "They got in a lot of tennis last week and they're developing a little more consistency — which I was hoping for. But we've still got a long way to go."

Porter was referring to a trip during spring break last week which saw the Huskers drop shutout duals in Big Eight play to Oklahoma and Oklahoma State, but come back to beat Southwest Missouri, 6-3, and lose 5-4 to Northwest Missouri in the Oral Roberts Tournament before the tourney was washed out.

The trip dropped the Huskers' dual record to 3-5 going into Friday's meet with Missouri.

"We saw Missouri in the Oral Roberts tourney and they look like they've got a pretty good team," Porter said. "They're particularly strong at the top and they're pretty strong all along the line. I haven't seen Kansas State yet, so I really don't know what to expect from them."

In a schedule change, Porter said Southwest Missouri will join the Huskers and Doane in a triangular, April 13 and 14. Originally, the Huskers had a dual scheduled with Doane, April 13.

The losses dropped the Plainsmen to 3-7. Coach Ron Bachman's Capital City team will host Dana at 1 p.m. Saturday at Sherman Field in a Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference doubleheader.

Lincoln East freshman Jack Ball was credited by Bachman for throwing a good game in a losing cause in the first contest to Creighton.

Ball, now 1-1, gave up six hits and three runs, two of which were earned and came on solo home runs. The Plainsmen had 10 hits in the first game, but could only manage two runs.

OU Practice 'Typical Day'

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—"Can I say anything other than it was a typical first day?", asked head Oklahoma University football coach Barry Switzer.

The Sooners kicked off their spring practice here under sunny skies in calm mild weather Thursday.

Switzer told newsmen the Sooner staff's biggest concern is rebuilding the offensive line and creating depth in the back field.

The coach said the team will work on the spread formation "to get more passing." But, he said, "This won't come right away."

Switzer said, "Our top three quarterback prospects are Kerry Jackson, Steve Davis and Scott Hill. Jackson's had more work than the others. Davis has had the next most. Scottie hasn't had any work. It's all new to him."

NU Netters Eye Duals

An improving Nebraska tennis team goes on the road again this weekend for duals with Missouri, Friday, and Kansas State, Saturday, at Manhattan, Kansas.

"We're making considerable improvement, but the competition is still pretty rough," said head coach Jim Porter. "They got in a lot of tennis last week and they're developing a little more consistency — which I was hoping for. But we've still got a long way to go."

Porter was referring to a trip during spring break last week which saw the Huskers drop shutout duals in Big Eight play to Oklahoma and Oklahoma State, but come back to beat Southwest Missouri, 6-3, and lose 5-4 to Northwest Missouri in the Oral Roberts Tournament before the tourney was washed out.

The trip dropped the Huskers' dual record to 3-5 going into Friday's meet with Missouri.

"We saw Missouri in the Oral Roberts tourney and they look like they've got a pretty good team," Porter said. "They're particularly strong at the top and they're pretty strong all along the line. I haven't seen Kansas State yet, so I really don't know what to expect from them."

In a schedule change, Porter said Southwest Missouri will join the Huskers and Doane in a triangular, April 13 and 14. Originally, the Huskers had a dual scheduled with Doane, April 13.

Nixon Ready For 'Opener'

By United Press International

President Nixon, doing things a little differently, will be on hand Friday to help kick off the 1973 major league baseball season.

With the exception of the San Francisco Giants and Cincinnati Reds who began their campaigns Thursday and the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians who don't begin until Saturday, the remaining 20 clubs swing into action Friday with the President slated to attend the opener at Anaheim, Calif., where the Angels meet the Kansas City Royals.

Nixon, who transferred his allegiance to the Angels after the Washington Senators moved to Texas, will set two precedents at Anaheim Stadium. His appearance will mark the first time a president will attend a season's inaugural in a city other than Washington and he has decided not to throw out the first ball. He has deferred that honor to Air Force Maj. David Luna, a returned prisoner of war.

After the ceremonial chores, the chief executive and Maj. Luna will sit back, along with some 43,000 other spectators, and watch the Angels' Nolan Ryan and the Royals' rookie Steve Busby match serves.

The best matchup figures to be at New York's Shea Stadium where National League Cy Young Award winners Steve Carlton of Philadelphia and Tom Seaver of the Mets oppose each other. Carlton posted a brilliant 27-10 record last year with the lowly Phils who begin their first season of play under new manager Danny Ozark. Seaver, 21-12 last year, hopes to spark the Mets' attempt to dethrone the Pittsburgh Pirates as Eastern Division champions.

The Pirates send Steve Blass (19-8) against St. Louis Cardinal ace Bob Gibson (19-11). Prior to the game at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium, the Pirates will hold ceremonies honoring the late Roberto Clemente who was killed in a plane crash last New Year's Eve.

The remaining three National League openers find Montreal at Chicago, Houston at Atlanta and Los Angeles at San Diego. The Expos send Mike Torrez (16-12) against the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins (20-12) while Dave Roberts (12-7) goes for Houston against Gary Gentry (7-10) of Atlanta and Don Sutton (19-9) of Los Angeles opposes Clay Kirby (12-14) of San Diego.

The defending world champion Oakland Athletics begin defense of their title at home against the Minnesota Twins. Jim "Catfish" Hunter (21-7) of the A's faces Bert Blyleven (17-17) of the Twins who are looking to improve upon last year's third place finish in the West.

The A's stiffest competition in the West, however, is expected to come from the Chicago White Sox who open at Texas where Wilbur Wood (24-17) of the Sox goes against Dick Bosman (8-10) of the Rangers who are under the direction of new manager Whitey Herzog.

Boston, which finished second to Detroit in the East last season, is at home with Luis Tiant (15-6) opposing Mel Stottlemyre (14-18) of the New York Yankees while Milwaukee sends Jim Colborn (7-7) against the Orioles' Dave McNally (13-17) at Baltimore.

Layoff Hurts Cowboys' Club

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—"A little sluggish" after a two-day layoff, Oklahoma State's spring footballers went through a corrective workout Thursday.

"The layoff definitely had an effect on us," Coach Jim Stanley said. "We worked on correcting mistakes we found after evaluating films of last week's scrimmage."

Stanley also said the Cowboys made promotions after films of last week's scrimmage were graded. The major shift was junior college transfer center Denny Teel moving to the first unit

The Cowboys are not scheduled to scrimmage Saturday as they did last week, but they will hold a film-controled workout.

Betting Bill Clears Hurdle In Oklahoma

Oklahoma City (AP) — A controversial bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races was passed by the Oklahoma Senate Wednesday after being amended to require the approval of state voters at the next primary election.

The bill, by Sen. Gene Howard, D-Tulsa, retains the county-option features that would require approval by the voters in a county before pari-mutuel gambling would become legal in the county

The measure originally would have legalized race betting in counties approving them, but Sen Cleeta John Rogers, D-Oklahoma City, pushed through amendment to first require a statewide vote.

Walleye Top Fishing List

Walleye will be on the minds of southwestern Nebraska anglers for a week or two. The spring spawning run has started at one of the region's top walleye lakes and appears ready to go at another.

About mid-week, fishermen at Harlan County Reservoir near Alma began having good success, with several walleye over eight pounds reported. Things are expected to cut loose soon at Lake Maloney near North Platte, as the water temperature there has edged past 43 degrees into the walleye's spawning range.

According to reports from Game and Parks Commission conservation officers in the field, outdoor activity across the state includes:

SOUTHWEST

Anglers are having very good success on walleye from 2 to 5 pounds, hitting artificials trolled along the face of the dam. A few larger walleye, crowding 9 pounds, have also been reported. At Lake Maloney, water temperature has reached the walleye's spawning range, and fishing is expected to pick up shortly. Anglers on sandpits along the Platte River in Kearney and Buffalo counties have been hooking catfish to 8 pounds, using shad or minnows as bait. Most waterfowl have left the area, but large numbers of Sandhill cranes remain, especially in the Kearney vicinity

PANHANDLE

Red Willow and Pumpkin creeks in Morrill County and Nine Mile, Tub Springs, and Winter's Creek in Scotts Bluff County offer rainbow trout to 6 pounds, hitting trout eggs, worms, and artificials. Pine and White Clay creeks in Sheridan County offer brown trout to 10 inches on worms and spinners, and the Niobrara and White rivers have been giving up both rainbows and browns to 12 inches on minnows, worms, and spinners. At West Kimball Reservoir, rainbows to 1½ pounds are taking worms. Lake Minatare offers walleye to 4 pounds and crappie to 10 inches, both hitting artificials At Whitney Lake, fishermen are taking catfish to 6 pounds and walleye up to 3 pounds both on minnows fished near the bottom Sandpits in the Bridgeport area have been producing crappie, averaging 9 inches, and northern pike to 3 pounds, both on minnows Artificials and beefsteak are good for northern pike up to 5 pounds at Island Lake on the Crescent Lake National Wildlife Refuge. Catfishing has picked up at the upper end of Lake McConaughy, where cats up to 8 pounds are being taken on shad

SAND HILLS

Trout fishermen at Merritt Reservoir near Valentine have been having very good success on rainbows hitting trout and salmon eggs The fish average 1¼ pounds, with occasional 3-pounders reported Best fishing is found along the dam and off the points

SOUTHEAST

Branched Oak Lake near Malcolm has been producing bluegill and 1-pound bullheads on worms, along with occasional northern pike to 35 inches on smelt Conestoga Lake near Denton has given up occasional catfish to 7 pounds on large minnows Streams in the Blue River drainage have been at or near flood stage recently, shutting off most outdoor activity there Large concentrations of ducks and geese have been observed in the Utica area.

Boston Hurler Skok Sent To Pawtucket

Boston (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox sent pitcher Craig Skok to their Pawtucket farm club in the International League Thursday, trimming their roster to the 25-player American League limit on the eve of the 1973 season opener.

Skok, a 25-year-old lefthander, led the International League with a 15-7 record last year while pitching for the Red Sox' club that was then in Louisville.

BURGUNDY — THE KING OF WINES AND THE WINE OF KINGS

For over 2000 years the wines known as BURGUNDY have been regarded as the greatest wines ever made. After hundreds of years of experimenting the finest vineyard sites were discovered, the best vines for the soil were planted and loving care of these vines have given us BURGUNDY as we know it today. Wars have been fought over the parcels of ground producing this wine. In some parts of the world the name BURGUNDY is applied to any red heavy wine, sometimes rough and sometimes over-sweetened and the buyer is unaware that these wines are but poor imitations of authentic BURGUNDY. The only genuine BURGUNDY — both red and white — can only come from the BURGUNDY region of France where the most stringent wine control laws are strictly enforced. MITCH TAVLIN the WINE MERCHANT in Lincoln is proud to offer these magnificent world-renowned Estate Bottled BURGUNDIES. For that special dinner or as a gift for that very special person nothing can take the place of one of these great wines. Fine BURGUNDY is always in short supply and a case of this wine could be your proudest possession. No wine cellar can be complete without an assortment of BURGUNDY. With the price of wine escalating rapidly, these offerings represent outstanding value. Mitch Tavlin, Pete Rossitto or any member of our staff has the knowledge and experience to assist you in planning a wine cellar. Get the wine story straight from the wine people — at MITCH TAVLIN — the Merchant of Vinous.

The best matchup figures to be at New York's Shea Stadium where National League Cy Young Award winners Steve Carlton of Philadelphia and Tom Seaver of the Mets oppose each other. Carlton posted a brilliant 27-10 record last year with the lowly Phils who begin their first season of play under new manager Danny Ozark. Seaver, 21-12 last year, hopes to spark the Mets' attempt to dethrone the Pittsburgh Pirates as Eastern Division champions.

The Pirates send Steve Blass (19-8) against St. Louis Cardinal ace Bob Gibson (19-11). Prior to the game at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium, the Pirates will hold ceremonies honoring the late Roberto Clemente who was killed in a plane crash last New Year's Eve.

The remaining three National League openers find Montreal at Chicago, Houston at Atlanta and Los Angeles at San Diego. The Expos send Mike Torrez (16-12) against the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins (20-12) while Dave Roberts (12-7) goes for Houston against Gary Gentry (7-10) of Atlanta and Don Sutton (19-9) of Los Angeles opposes Clay Kirby (12-14) of San Diego.

The defending world champion Oakland Athletics begin defense of their title at home against the Minnesota Twins. Jim "Catfish" Hunter (21-7) of the A's faces Bert Blyleven (17-17) of the Twins who are looking to improve upon last year's third place finish in the West.

The A's stiffest competition in the West, however, is expected to come from the Chicago White Sox who open at Texas where Wilbur Wood (24-17) of the Sox goes against Dick Bosman (8-10) of the Rangers who are under the direction of new manager Whitey Herzog.

Boston, which finished second to Detroit in the East last season, is at home with Luis Tiant (15-6) opposing Mel Stottlemyre (14-18) of the New York Yankees while Milwaukee sends Jim Colborn (7-7) against the Orioles' Dave McNally (13-17) at Baltimore.

Layoff Hurts Cowboys' Club

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)— "A little sluggish" after a two-day layoff, Oklahoma State's spring footballers went through a corrective workout Thursday.

"The layoff definitely had an effect on us," Coach Jim Stanley said. "We worked on correcting mistakes we found after evaluating films of last week's scrimmage."

Stanley also said the Cowboys made promotions after films of last week's scrimmage were graded. The major shift was junior college transfer center Denny Teel moving to the first unit.

The Cowboys are not scheduled to scrimmage Saturday as they did last week, but they will hold a film-controled workout.

Betting Bill Clears Hurdle In Oklahoma

Oklahoma City (AP) — A controversial bill to legalize parimutuel betting on horse races was passed by the Oklahoma Senate Wednesday after being amended to require the approval of state voters at the next primary election.

The bill, by Sen. Gene Howard, D-Tulsa, retains the county-option features that would require approval by the voters in a county before parimutuel gambling would become legal in the county.

The measure originally would have legalized race betting in counties approving them, but Sen. Cleeta John Rogers, D-Oklahoma City, pushed through amendment to first require a statewide vote.

Walleye Top Fishing List

Walleye will be on the minds of southwestern Nebraska anglers for a week or two. The spring spawning run has started at one of the region's top walleye lakes and appears ready to go at another.

About mid-week, fishermen at Harlan County Reservoir near Alma began having good success, with several walleye over eight pounds reported. Things are expected to cut loose soon at Lake Maloney near North Platte, as the water temperature there has edged past 43 degrees into the walleye's spawning range.

According to reports from Game and Parks Commission conservation officers in the field, outdoor activity across the state includes:

SOUTHWEST

Anglers are having very good success on walleye from 2 to 5 pounds, hitting artificials trolled along the face of the dam. A few larger walleye, crowding 9 pounds, have also been reported. At Lake Maloney, water temperature has reached the walleye's spawning range, and fishing is expected to pick up shortly. Anglers on sandpits along the Platte River in Kearney and Buffalo counties have been hooking catfish to 8 pounds, using shad or minnows as bait. Most waterfowl have left the area, but large numbers of Sandhill cranes remain, especially in the Kearney vicinity.

PANHANDLE

Red Willow and Pumpkin creeks in Morrill County and Nine Mile, Tub Springs, and Winter's Creek in Scotts Bluff County offer rainbow trout to 6 pounds, hitting trout eggs, worms, and artificials. Pine and White Clay creeks in Sheridan County offer brown trout to 10 inches on worms and spinners, and the Niobrara and White rivers have been giving up both rainbows and browns to 12 inches on minnows, worms, and spinners. At West Kimball Reservoir, rainbows to 1½ pounds are taking worms. Lake Minatare offers walleye to 4 pounds and crappie to 10 inches, both hitting artificials. At Whitney Lake, fishermen are taking catfish to 6 pounds and walleye up to 3 pounds, both on minnows fished near the bottom. Sandpits in the Bridgeport area have been producing crappie, averaging 9 inches, and northern pike to 3 pounds, both on minnows. Artificials and beefsteak are good for northern pike up to 5 pounds at Island Lake on the Crescent Lake National Wildlife Refuge. Catfishing has picked up at the upper end of Lake McConaughy, where cats up to 8 pounds are being taken on shad.

SAND HILLS

Trout fishermen at Merritt Reservoir near Valentine have been having very good success on rainbows hitting trout and salmon eggs. The fish average 1¼ pounds, with occasional 3-pounders reported. Best fishing is found along the dam and off the points.

SOUTHEAST

Branched Oak Lake near Malcolm has been producing bluegill and 1-pound bullheads on worms, along with occasional northern pike to 35 inches on smelt. Conestoga Lake near Denton has given up occasional catfish to 7 pounds on large minnows. Streams in the Blue River drainage have been at or near flood stage recently, shutting off most outdoor activity there. Large concentrations of ducks and geese have been observed in the Utica area.

Boston Hurler Skok Sent To Pawtucket

Boston (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox sent pitcher Craig Skok to their Pawtucket farm club in the International League Thursday, trimming their roster to the 25-player American League limit on the eve of the 1973 season opener.

Skok, a 25-year-old lefthander, led the International League with a 15-7 record last year while pitching for the Red Sox' club that was then in Louisville.

BURGUNDY — THE KING OF WINES AND THE WINE OF KINGS

For over 2000 years the wines known as BURGUNDY have been regarded as the greatest wines ever made. After hundreds of years of experimenting the finest vineyard sites were discovered, the best vines for the soil were planted and loving care of these vines have given us BURGUNDY as we know it today. Wars have been fought over the parcels of ground producing this wine. In some parts of the world the name BURGUNDY is applied to any red heavy wine, sometimes rough and sometimes over-sweetened and the buyer is unaware that these wines are but poor imitations of authentic BURGUNDY. The only genuine BURGUNDY — both red and white — can only come from the BURGUNDY region of France where the most stringent wine control laws are strictly enforced. MITCH TAVLIN the WINE MERCHANT in Lincoln is proud to offer these magnificent world-renowned Estate Bottled BURGUNDIES. For that special dinner or as a gift for that very special person nothing can take the place of one of these great wines. Fine BURGUNDY is always in short supply and a case of this wine could be your proudest possession. No wine cellar can be complete without an assortment of BURGUNDY. With the price of wine escalating rapidly, these offerings represent outstanding value. Mitch Tavlin, Pete Rossitto or any member of our staff has the knowledge and experience to assist you in planning a wine cellar. Get the wine story straight from the wine people — at MITCH TAVLIN — the Merchant of Vinous.

Conference Revises Wildlife Game Policy

Wildlife managers in Nebraska and throughout North America are reading and digesting a new wildlife policy that will hopefully serve their profession into the 21st Century

A revision of the historic Game Policy of 1930, it was presented to fish, game, and natural resource managers at the 38th North American Wildlife and Natural Resources Conference, held in Washington, D.C., March 18 through 21.

The Game Policy of 1930 is recognized as one of the foundations of the modern wildlife conservation movement, and it is hoped that the new policy serves as well as its predecessor Most of the easy wildlife problems have been solved since the first policy was adopted, but the tough ones remain and new ones have cropped up

Some of these new problems treated in the recently-adopted document involve not only the wildlife biologist, but the social scientist and the economist as well

These problems include increased urbanization. Isolated in their artificial environment in the cities, more and more Americans are losing their perspective on wildlife. Quite often, wildlife is not a part of a city dweller's life, and its welfare is easy to ignore. City dwellers are also more apt to lose sight of the biological facts of life, and may be prone to view hunting or any harvest of wildlife as inhumane and destructive of wildlife resources.

Economics is also becoming an increasingly important factor in wildlife management Farming has become big business, and this has caused the elimination of much wildlife habitat and the use of harmful chemicals. Wetlands have succumbed to the demand for more cropland Habitat in streams and along their banks has suffered because of a demand for navigation and flood control. Economics also enters into a more obvious problem — environmental pollution Industrial and agricultural production that does not foul the air or dirty the water costs more. Unless science finds a way to reduce these costs, or until society is willing to assume them, wildlife and man, himself, are threatened

Problems faced by game managers include pressure to stock exotic species, diminishing hunting opportunity, and control of the "hooligan minority" that infects the ranks of true sportsmen

Prepsters Ink K-State Pacts

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — Kansas State University Thursday said it has signed national letters of intent from a sprinter at Oklahoma City, a high jumper from Junction City, Kan., and a half-miler from Sioux City, Iowa. They were

Jim Hardin, a sprinter for Putnam City West High School in Oklahoma City, defending state high school champion in the 220 and 440

Alan Moore, a high jumper for Junction City High School, who set the Kansas state indoor record this year and last year set the state all-time best outdoor with a 6-10 ¼ jump.

Bob Prince, a half miler from East High School in Sioux City, who won the national junior olympics in his age group last year.

Sweden Earns Win In World Hockey

Moscow (AP) — Undeteated Sweden bunched three goals in the third period, the last one by Mats Ahlberg with only 85 seconds left to play, to defeat Finland 3-2 in the World Hockey Championship tournament Thursday

The victory was the fourth straight for the Swedes, battling for their world title with defending champion Czechoslavkia and the Soviet Union

NFL Rules Intact

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz (AP) — National Football League representatives turned down all major rule changes Thursday, including a proposal establishing a sudden-death period to decide tie games.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, speaking at a news conference following the closed meetings, said the sudden-death period and a proposal to permit two-point conversions following touchdowns were narrowly defeated by club representatives.

Another proposal which went down to defeat would have moved the goal posts to the end line.

Minor rule changes adopted Thursday involved:

—A new numbering system. Rookies will begin using it next year, but veteran players will not be affected

—Ball possession. If a foul occurs following a scrimmage kick, the receiving team will retain possession of the ball and the kicking team will be penalized. Previously, the receiving team has lost possession and the kicking team has been penalized.

—Penalties The defensive team will be penalized if one of its players uses leverage to try to block an extra point or field goal attempt The rule eliminates the possibility of a human pyramid formation

I-State Signs Smith To Pact

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State Coach Earle Bruce announced Thursday the Big Eight Conference school has signed Cedar Rapids Jefferson football star Scott Smith to a national letter of intent.

Smith is the 33rd signee announced by the Cyclones since national letters were issued Wednesday and the fourth Iowa first-team all stater and the second prep All-American inked

The other Iowa first-team all-staters were tight end-running back Maynard Stensrud of Lake Mills, offensive guard Rob Stottel of Dubuque Wahlert and offensive tackle Joe Satin of Sioux City East

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon, often described as the nation's No. 1 baseball fan, will go to nearby Anaheim Friday night to watch the home opening game of the California Angels.

The Western White House said Nixon will fly by helicopter to Anaheim Stadium, near Disneyland, to watch the Angels meet the Kansas City Royals in an American League night game.

Sooner List Now At Five

NORMAN, Okla., (AP)—The field of candidates for the Oklahoma University head basketball coaching job was cut to five today with the news that Tex Winter Wednesday night accepted the head coaching job at Northwestern University.

Winter previously had told OU officials that he could not attend interviews with the OU search committee here this afternoon.

Lester Lane, coach of the Mexican National team and former OU football and basketball player; Bob Bass, coach of the Memphis Tams of the American Basketball Association and former coach at Oklahoma Baptist University, and Gordon Staufter, head coach at Indiana State and former OU assistant coach in the early 1960's, were to be interviewed by the committee today.

The group interviewed OU assistant coached Dennis Price and Joe Ramsey Tuesday.

Dr. Alan Velie, chairman of the OU Athletic Council, had said the search committee will attempt to have a recommendation possibly as early as Tuesday night.

The job has been open since last week when Coach John MacLeod took a job with the Phoenix Suns, a National Basketball Association team.

Evanston, Ill. (AP) Tex Winter, former coach of the Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association, Wednesday night was named head basketball coach at Northwestern University.

Winter was head basketball coach at Kansas State from 1953 to 1967 and produced eight Bib Eight championship teams.

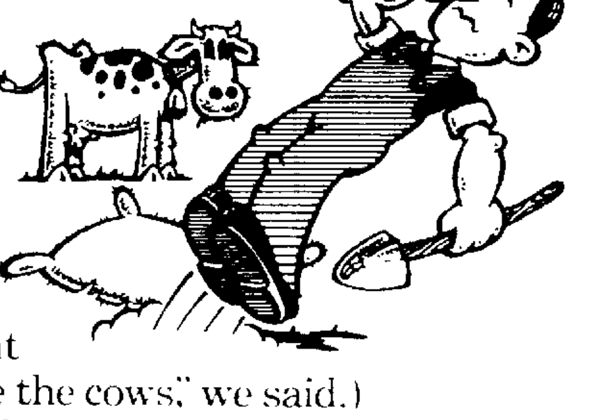
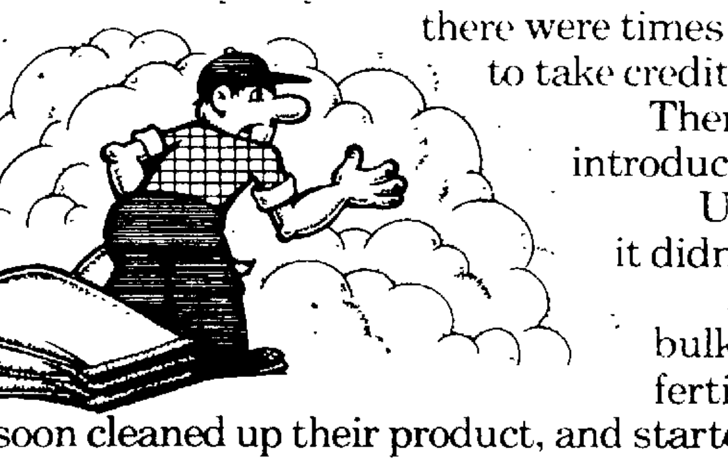
The fertilizer America grew up on.



America's first fertilizer was produced sometime in the 17th century on a rolling cow pasture outside Jamestown, Va.

Obviously, we can't take credit for that.

But we can take credit for first selling manure commercially way back in 1890. (The aroma was such there were times we didn't want to take credit for it. "Blame the cows," we said.)



Then in 1923, much to everybody's relief, we introduced an odorless fertilizer.

Unfortunately, it was also dusty, bulky and it didn't feed for long.

So we developed a fertilizer that wasn't bulky and did feed for a long time. It left some fertilizer manufacturers in the dust. But they soon cleaned up their product, and started to catch up.

Conference Revises Wildlife Game Policy

Wildlife managers in Nebraska and throughout North America are reading and digesting a new wildlife policy that will hopefully serve their profession into the 21st Century.

A revision of the historic Game Policy of 1930, it was presented to fish, game, and natural resource managers at the 38th North American Wildlife and Natural Resources Conference, held in Washington, D.C., March 18 through 21.

The Game Policy of 1930 is recognized as one of the foundations of the modern wildlife conservation movement, and it is hoped that the new policy serves as well as its predecessor. Most of the easy wildlife problems have been solved since the first policy was adopted, but the tough ones remain and new ones have cropped up.

Some of these new problems treated in the recently-adopted document involve not only the wildlife biologist, but the social scientist and the economist as well.

These problems include increased urbanization. Isolated in their artificial environment in the cities, more and more Americans are losing their perspective on wildlife. Quite often, wildlife is not a part of a city dweller's life, and its welfare is easy to ignore. City dwellers are also more apt to lose sight of the biological facts of life, and may be prone to view hunting or any harvest of wildlife as inhumane and destructive of wildlife resources.

Economics is also becoming an increasingly important factor in wildlife management. Farming has become big business, and this has caused the elimination of much wildlife habitat and the use of harmful chemicals. Wetlands have succumbed to the demand for more cropland. Habitat in streams and along their banks has suffered because of a demand for navigation and flood control. Economics also enters into a more obvious problem — environmental pollution. Industrial and agricultural production that does not foul the air or dirty the water costs more. Unless science finds a way to reduce these costs, or until society is willing to assume them, wildlife and man, himself, are threatened.

Problems faced by game managers include pressure to stock exotic species, diminishing hunting opportunity, and control of the "hooligan minority" that infects the ranks of true sportsmen.

Prepsters Ink K-State Pacts

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — Kansas State University Thursday said it has signed national letters of intent from a sprinter at Oklahoma City, a high jumper from Junction City, Kan., and a half-miler from Sioux City, Iowa. They were:

Jim Hardin, a sprinter for Putnam City West High School in Oklahoma City, defending state high school champion in the 220 and 440.

Alan Moore, a high jumper for Junction City High School, who set the Kansas state indoor record this year and last year set the state all-time best outdoor with a 6-10 ¼ jump.

Bob Prince, a half miler from East High School in Sioux City, who won the national junior olympics in his age group last year.

Sweden Earns Win In World Hockey

Moscow (AP) — Undefeated Sweden bunched three goals in the third period, the last one by Mats Ahlberg with only 85 seconds left to play, to defeat Finland 3-2 in the World Hockey Championship tournament Thursday.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Swedes, battling for ther world title with defending champion Czechoslavkia and the Soviet Union.

NFL Rules Intact

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — National Football League representatives turned down all major rule changes Thursday, including a proposal establishing a sudden-death period to decide tie games.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, speaking at a news conference following the closed meetings, said the sudden-death period and a proposal to permit two-point conversions following touchdowns were narrowly defeated by club representatives.

Another proposal which went down to defeat would have moved the goal posts to the end line.

Minor rule changes adopted Thursday involved:

—A new numbering system. Rookies will begin using it next year, but veteran players will not be affected.

—Ball possession. If a foul occurs following a scrimmage kick, the receiving team will retain possession of the ball and the kicking team will be penalized. Previously, the receiving team has lost possession and the kicking team has been penalized.

—Penalties The defensive team will be penalized if one of its players uses leverage to try to block an extra point or field goal attempt. The rule eliminates the possibility of a human pyramid formation.

I-State Signs Smith To Pact

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Iowa State Coach Earle Bruce announced Thursday the Big Eight Conference school has signed Cedar Rapids Jefferson football star Scott Smith to a national letter of intent.

Smith, listed by Bruce as a 6-foot-3, 230-pound offensive guard or defensive tackle, earned first-team all-state and prep All-American honors at Jefferson, which won the state Class AAAA football playoffs.

Smith is the 33rd signee announced by the Cyclones since national letters were issued Wednesday and the fourth Iowa first-team all stater and the second prep All-American inked.

The other Iowa first-team all-staters were tight end-running back Maynard Stensrud of Lake Mills, offensive guard Rob Stoffel of Dubuque Wahlert and offensive tackle Joe Safin of Sioux City East.

NORMAN, Okla., (AP)—The field of candidates for the Oklahoma University head basketball coaching job was cut to five today with the news that Tex Winter Wednesday night accepted the head coaching job at Northwestern University.

Winter previously had told OU officials that he could not attend interviews with the OU search committee here this afternoon.

Lester Lane, coach of the Mexican National team and former OU football and basketball player; Bob Bass, coach of the Memphis Tams of the Americaan Basketball Association and former coach at Oklahoma Baptist University, and Gordon Stauffer, head coach at Indiana State and former OU assistant coach in the early 1960's, were to be interviewed by the committee today.

The group interviewed OU assistant coached Dennis Price and Joe Ramsey Tuesday.

Dr. Alan Velie, chairman of the OU Athletic Council, had said the search committee will attempt to have a recommendation possibly as early as Tuesday night.

The job has been open since last week when Coach John MacLeod took a job with the Phoenix Suns, a National Basketball Association team.

Police kept demonstrators from the National Press Club building but the South Vietnamese leader could not help but hear protesters a half block away call out amplified accusations that his government has imprisoned Catholic priests and monks newspaper editors and political opponents

Thieu may also have noticed a wooden tiger cage ' set up by the demonstrators at the corner to symbolize their charges

He remained unperturbed and responding to questions from his luncheon audience of 400 reporters publicists and others Thieu said none of the 38 106 men and women in jail in South Vietnam is a ' political prisoner — phrase he said used by the Communists as propaganda it s a big lie

Imposition Of Controls On Methaqualone Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imposition of production controls and curbs on prescription refills for the sedative methaqualone were recommended Thursday by the Food and Drug Administration

The agency said methaqualone is widely misued by young people as a downer" which they regard as relatively harmless The FDA said methaqualone can be fatal if taken with alcohol

It told the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs that the prescription drug should be placed under Schedule II of the Controlled Substances Act which would impose production quotas and prohibit more than one refill of a prescription

Dr Charles C Edwards assistant health secretary of the Department of Health Education and Welfare suggested that the Schedule II classification be reconsidered after one year s experience in this schedule has shown whether the present level of abuse has abated sufficiently to justify reduction in control

This semester 200 students are enrolled in an introductory astronomy course and the annual Montgomery Lecture Series focuses on astronomy and astrophysics.

In addition, the Behlen Observatory, located at the Agricultural Field Laboratory near Mead, will be dedicated Saturday at 10 a.m. The observatory features the largest telescope in this region.

The program began in 1970 when Dr. Kam-Ching Leung, formerly with the Goddard Institute for Space Studies in New York, was hired to direct the program. Monetary support came from Walter Behlen and the Behlen family of Columbus, who donated over $2,00,000 to the new program.

Funds from the university's Lincoln and Omaha campuses and the Behlen family were used to develop an observatory. A building at the Agricultural Field Laboratory was designated for observatory use and a 30-inch telescope was installed.

"The astronomy program is an integral part of the physics department," Dr. Leung said. "We draw our students from science and non-science majors."

"When the program began," Dr. Leung said, "there was a great demand for a descriptive astronomy course that would not require a student to have a strong background in math and physics."

The department now offers two courses in descriptive astronomy which can be used by students to satisfy the natural sciences requirement in the College of Arts and Sciences.

The program also offers a major in astronomy. A student can receive a bachelors degree in physics after completing required physics courses and 12 hours in astronomy.

At the graduate level, the program offers several courses for graduate credit. A student working on a masters degree in physics may specialize in astronomy by writing his thesis in this area. Dr. Leung said three graduate students are specializing in astronomy.

The faculty of the program has increased over the years. In addition to Leung, three full-time faculty members take part in the program. The program also has three visiting professors. Dr. Leo Sartori, chairman of the physics department, has a special interest in high energy astrophysics.

Elementary astronomy students, Dr. Leung said, use two telescopes mounted on the roof of Ferguson Hall on the city campus. These telescopes are 10 and 12½ inches in size and are used along with smaller models. Both undergraduate and graduate students use the 30-inch telescope at the observatory.

"Public interest in our program and the increased enrollment in astronomy courses have encouraged us," Dr. Leung said. "Within a few years we hope Nebraska will be one of the country's centers of astronomy."

Insurance Firms Report Record Admitted Assets

President Gene H. Tallman reported the combined admitted assets of Universal Surety Co., and Inland Insurance Co., totaled $12.922,053 at December 31, 1972. Policyholders' surplus was $8.893,102.

Tallman said the figures represented "all-time" highs for the companies.

The absence of natural catastrophes in the Midwest during the past two years has benefited the operating results of the companies, he reported.

Officers re-elected are Gene H. Tallman, President; Fred N. Bettge, vice-president and controller; James W. Hewitt, vice-president and general counsel; William H. Bennett, vice-president of contract surety bonds; Celia Tomaszewski, vice-president of miscellaneous surety and fidelity bonds; Keith R. Rokke, vice-president of claims; C. W. Hansen, secretary and treasurer; and Gene Andrew, assistant secretary.

Re-elected to the Board of Directors are George P. Abel, president of Abel Investment Company, E. J. Faulkner, president of Woodmen Accident and Life Company, Fred N. Bettge, C. W. Hansen, James W. Hewitt, and Gene H. Tallman.

Students Win Scholarships

Two students of the Nebraska Technical College at Milford have received $100 scholarships from the Capital City Kiwanis Club of Lincoln.

William Mattison, 5219 Bancroft, and James Morris, 1971 D, were awarded the scholarships on the basis of citizenship and scholastic excellence.

Mattison, a student in architectural technology, will graduate in July. Morris is a second quarter student in auto mechanics technology.

GYPSY SNAKE CHARMER

Who Needed Sawdust?

By PATTY BEUTLER
Star Staff Writer

About the only thing missing from a recent circus at Ruth Pyrtle School was the sawdust on the floor

CLOWN . . . watches others.

Performers and costumed wild animals abounded as the 82 primary one youngsters put on a three-ring show for the wide-eyed kindergarteners who viewed the spectacle

The "greatest show on earth" entertainment culminated three weeks of social studies work on the circus

Whistle in hand, the ring-master called the acts to the center ring, pausing for an intermission so that popcorn venders could peddle their wares among the delighted viewers

Bulbed-nosed clowns with pasty white faces were up to their usual antics, strewing bucketsful of confetti among the unsuspecting spectators

Growling lions hopped through hoops at the crack of the trainer's whip, while playful monkeys in purple suits toed their tricycles around the ring

Roller-skating bears, prancing ponies and lumbering elephants rounded out the circus menagerie

No circus would be complete without a sideshow Most convincing were a gypsy snake-charmer who sauntered about with a six-foot cotton-stuffed serpent slithering around her shoulders, while a weight-lifter grimaced under the strain of his "load" — two "hundred-pound" balloons attached to the ends of a yardstick

Not to be slighted were the more traditional tutu-ed ballerinas who tiptoed across a balanced beam and a cacophanous circus band

Proud of their performance, the youngsters climbed out of their costumes almost as quickly as they had gotten into them

Cleaning up the confetti from the floor was as much a part of the circus for them as performing

Market Losses Milder

NEW YORK (AP) — Worries about inflation and surging wholesale prices continued to depress the stock market, and prices declined Thursday for the fifth straight session. But the losses were less severe than in the previous session. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had lost more than 34 points in the four days previous closed down 1.59 points at 923.46. The blue-chip indicator had dropped about 4 points in midsession, bringing in below its 1973 closing low of 922.71 set March 23.

Ralph Acampora of Harris, Upham & Co. said investors were still sidelined by concern about rising prices. He declared the market was "probing for a near-term bottom."

One negative development from Washington was news that wholesale prices jumped at a yearly rate of 26.4 per cent in March, the sharpest rate of gain in more than 22 years.

Charles Lewis of Winkler, Cantor & Pomboy said another bearish factor was news that Communist forces had launched attacks throughout South Vietnam.

Alcoa, down 1 to 51⅛ on institutional dealing, was the most active issue on the New York Stock Exchange. It was followed by Brown Group, down 1⅞ to 26⅛ after a sour appraisal of the footwear industry in the Wall Street Journal. Hammermill Paper Co., in the No. 3 spot, slipped ¾ to 12¼.

Oils were actively traded and lower. Continental Oil continued to decline in the wake of Wall Street's lowered earnings estimates for it and closed down ¾ at 34¼. Exxon Corp., hurt by the Supreme Court ruling on the trans Alaska pipeline earlier this week, was off ⅞ to 94⅛. One exception to the downtrend was Atlantic Richfield, also involved in Alaska project, which gained ⅜ to 72¾.

Prices also tumbled on the American Stock Exchange, where declines held a better than 2-to-1 lead over advances in moderate trading. The price-change index closed down .11 at 24.05.

Prices were lower on the Over the Counter market, and the NASDAQ composite index finished off .87 at 112.02.

Hog Market Steady, Lower

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—A modest supply expansion and a lack of movement through wholesale pork channels on Thursday were cited as factors behind the steady to 75 lower hog market at Omaha.

Butchers 200-280 lb were 50 or more lower. Heavier weight butchers were steady to 50 off along with most sows.

The sow division provided one exception in that best demand was for the heftier end of the run and those over 500 lb were at the upper end of the narrow price bracket, 33.50-34.50 for weights 350-600 lb.

Butcher hogs 200-270 lb sold 35.50-36.75, a short load topping out at 37.00. A scattering 270-235 lb down to 34.25.

Demand turned very narrow in the cattle yards. As a result most of the small supply sold 50 to 1.00 lower.

Wholesale meats were apparently backing up in coolers as steer and heifer beef dropped 1.50-2.00 late Thursday afternoon in limited slow trade, cow beef and and lamb were steady. Pork products were steady to 2.50 lower, some lighter loins down as much as 7.00 throughout the area.

Grimm Is Off Serious List

Denver (AP) — A U.S. marshal who was shot at Wounded Knee, S.D., nine days ago has been taken off the serious list at Fitzsimmons General Hospital here.

Lloyd Grimm, 55, Omaha, was struck in the chest while inspecting a government roadblock at the town.

Authorities said Grimm remains paralyzed below the waist. Doctors do not yet know whether the condition is permanent.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Review Of Government Budget Methods Urged

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

With unbalanced budgets at all levels of government, the emergency calls for a fresh look at prevailing methods. Corrupting practices go far beyond the mere taking of money bribes.

It is also dishonest, though traditional, to stuff public payrolls as a means whereby elected officials pay off personal political debts. It is corrupt to give the job to a hack rather than to a better qualified applicant.

These yardsticks apply not only in the lower echelons of government, but also in more newsworthy posts such as ambassadorships. In the growing complexities of the contemporary world, the custom of rewarding unfit and inexperienced big campaign contributors with high diplomatic posts is immoral.

It is a dangerous and enervating cliche to argue that you can't cut the high cost of government without reducing services. When President Andrew Jackson introduced the cynical doctrine that in politics "to the victor belongs the spoils," he rationalized built-in wastes in government costs. As wages go up, there should be new efforts to enhance the productivity of the higher paid clerk.

In private life, businessmen survived as the wage rate advanced only by offsetting the increased burden with improved technology. This in some cases meant re-locating industries.

Thus the packing houses of Chicago, which were developed early in the century when wage rates were low, became uneconomic as wages sky-rocketed. Accordingly, it was found necessary to re-locate slaughtering facilities in Iowa, Nebraska and Oklahoma nearer the sources of supply of livestock. In blueprinting a cost sheet for survival, the businessman is forever changing procedures, offsetting high labor costs, for example, by reducing the transportation haul and the time elapsed in carrying inventory.

Nowadays government bulks larger than in the past in the total activities of the nation and putting the nation's economic house in order required matching in government the canons of efficiency for which private enterprise strives. President Nixon has instinctively felt this need, and he is trying to cut down personnel in the White House and elsewhere in the executive department. The other branches of government — the legislative and the judiciary — have a long way to go in modernizing and improving productivity.

Merryle Rukeyser

Practices Criticized

The goal should not only be to get an honest day's work for a day's pay to government officials but also to reappraise the division of labor between the public sector (government) and the private sector (voluntary enterprise).

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. (Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail)

Slaughter Report

Omaha — National Livestock Feeders Assn. Market Report

Estimated cattle slaughter on Thurs. totaled 95,000 head, down 13,000 from a week ago, down 22,000 from a year ago. For the week cattle slaughter totaled 367,000 head, down 59,000 head from last week, down 77,000 from last year.

Carlot dressed beef trade, Chicago chilled basis:

Cow Beef Utility (breaking) steady at $62 cwt.

Eastern Nebr. directs, hot wt. basis at plant:

Choice steers no Sales reported.

Estimated hog slaughter on Thursday totaled 306,000 head, higher 77,000 from last week and lower 22,000 from last year. For the week hog slaughter totaled 1,724,000 head, down 27,000 from last week and down 153,000 from a year ago.

Of Special Interest: For the first time in the four year history of the Nebraska directors report no sales confirmed at feedlots in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska except for occasional odd load Thursday morning. Demand for cattle and meat apparently so poor that no packer is interested in producing the product.

LIVESTOCK FUTURES

CHICAGO (AP) — Futures trading on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange Thursday:

Soybeans Post Limit Advance

Chicago (AP) — Another limit advance—the fourth in succession—was posted in old crop soybean and soybean meal futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday.

The three nearby soybean options closed 15 cents a bushel higher, but distant options were little changed.

There were trade reports that Russia and China might again be seeking grain in this country and that Mexico had bought some 75,000 tons of yellow and white corn, but neither of these normally bullish factors influenced trade in wheat and corn futures.

Oats trade, rather light, was mixed and prices generally firm until the last few minutes when new selling sent prices to lows for the session.

Market Losses Milder

NEW YORK (AP) — Worries about inflation and surging wholesale prices continued to depress the stock market, and prices declined Thursday for the fifth straight session. But the losses were less severe than in the previous session. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had lost more than 34 points in the four days previous closed down 1.59 points at 923.46. The blue-chip indicator had dropped about 4 points in midsession, bringing in below its 1973 closing low of 922.71, set March 23.

Ralph Acampora of Harris, Upham & Co. said investors were still sidelined by concern about rising prices. He declared the market was "probing for a near-term bottom."

One negative development from Washington was news that wholesale prices jumped at a yearly rate of 26.4 per cent in March, the sharpest rate of gain in more than 22 years.

Charles Lewis of Winkler, Cantor & Pomboy said another bearish factor was news that Communist forces had launched attacks throughout South Vietnam.

Alcoa, down 1 to 51⅛ on institutional dealing, was the most-active issue on the New York Stock Exchange. It was followed by Brown Group, down 1⅞ to 26⅛ after a sour appraisal of the footwear industry in the Wall Street Journal. Hammermill Paper Co., in the No. 3 spot, slipped ¾ to 12¼.

Oils were actively traded and lower. Continental Oil, continued to decline in the wake of Wall Street's lowered earnings estimates for it and closed down ¾ at 34¼. Exxon Corp., hurt by the Supreme Court ruling on the trans-Alaska pipeline earlier this week, was off ⅞ to 94⅛. One exception to the downtrend was Atlantic Richfield, also involved in Alaska project, which gained ⅜ to 72¾.

Prices also tumbled on the American Stock Exchange, where declines held a better than 2-to-1 lead over advances in moderate trading. The pricechange index closed down .11 at 24.05.

Prices were lower on the Over-the-Counter market, and the NASDAQ composite index finished off .87 at 112.02.

Hog Market Steady, Lower

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—A modest supply expansion and a lack of movement through whoesale pork channels on Thursday were cited as factors behind the steady to 75 lower hog market at Omaha.

Butchers 200-280 lb were 50 or more lower. Heavier weight butchers were steady to 50 off along with most sows.

The sow division provided one exception in that best demand was for the heftier end of the run and those over 500 lb were at the upper end of the narrow price bracket, 33.5034.50 for weights 350-600 lb.

Butcher hogs 200-270 lb sold 35.50-36.75, a short load topping out at 37.00. A scattering 270-235 lb down to 34.25.

Demand turned very narrow in the cattle yards. As a result most of the small supply sold 50 to 1.00 lower.

Wholesale meats were apparently backing up in coolers as steer and heifer beef dropped 1.50-2.00 late Thursday afternoon in limited slow trade, cow beef and and lamb were steady. Pork products were steady to 2.50 lower, some lighter loins down as much as 7.00 throughout the area.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)(USDA)—Livestock quotations Thursday:

Hogs: 5,500; barrows and gilts 200-280 lb 50-75 lower; 280-300 lb steady to 50 lower; about 150 head 1-2 200-220 lb 37.00; 1-3 195-250 lb 36.25-36.75; 2-3 250-270 lb 35.5036.25; some 36.25-36.50; 270-290 lb 35.0035.50; 2-4 290-325 lb 34.25-35.25; two loads 2-3 around 300 lb included at 35.00-35.25; sows steady to 50 lower; 350-600 lb 33.50 34.50.

Denver (AP) — A U.S. marshal who was shot at Wounded Knee, S.D., nine days ago has been taken off the serious list at Fitzsimmons General Hospital here.

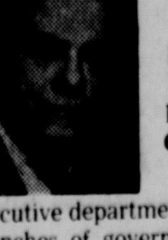
Authorities said Grimm remains paralyzed below the waist. Doctors do not yet know whether the condition is permanent.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Review Of Government Budget Methods Urged

By Merryle S. Rukeyser



Merryle Rukeyser

Practices Criticized

With unbalanced budgets at all levels of government, the emergency calls for a fresh look at prevailing methods. Corrupting practices go far beyond the mere taking of money bribes.

It is also dishonest, though traditional, to stuff public payrolls as a means whereby elected officials pay off personal political debts. It is corrupt to give the job to a hack rather than to a better qualified applicant.

These yardsticks apply not only in the lower echelons of government, but also in more newsworthy posts, such as ambassadorships. In the growing complexities of the contemporary world, the custom of rewarding unfit and inexperienced big campaign contributors with high diplomatic posts is immoral.

It is a dangerous and enervating cliche to argue that you can't cut the high cost of government without reducing services. When President Andrew Jackson introduced the cynical doctrine that in politics "to the victor belongs the spoils," he rationalized built-in wastes in government costs. As wages go up, there should be new efforts to enhance the productivity of the higher paid clerk.

In private life, businessmen survived as the wage rate advanced only by offsetting the increased burden with improved technology. This in some cases meant re-locating industries.

Thus the packing houses of Chicago, which were developed early in the century when wage rates were low, became uneconomic as wages sky-rocketed. Accordingly, it was found necessary to re-locate slaughtering facilities in Iowa, Nebraska and Oklahoma nearer the sources of supply of livestock. In blueprinting a cost sheet for survival, the businessman is forever changing procedures, offsetting high labor costs, for example, by reducing the transportation haul and the time elapsed in carrying inventory.

Nowadays government bulks larger than in the past in the total activities of the nation, and putting the nation's economic house in order required matching in government the canons of efficiency for which private enterprise strives. President Nixon has instinctively felt this need, and he is trying to cut down personnel in the White House and elsewhere in the executive department. The other branches of government — the legislative and the judiciary — have a long way to go in modernizing and improving productivity.

The goal should not only be to get an honest day's work for a day's pay to government officials, but also to reappraise the division of labor between the public sector (government) and the private sector (voluntary enterprise.)

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped-self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. (Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail).

Soybeans Post Limit Advance

Chicago (AP) — Another limit advance—the fourth in succession—was posted in old crop soybean and soybean meal futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday.

The three nearby soybean options closed 15 cents a bushel higher, but distant options were little changed.

There were trade reports that Russia and China might again be seeking grain in this country and that Mexico had bought some 75,000 tons of yellow and white corn, but neither of these normally bullish factors influenced trade in wheat and corn futures.

Oats trade, rather light, was mixed and prices generally firm until the last few minutes when new selling sent prices to lows for the session.

GRAIN DRYERS
7 main reasons why in the years ahead you will be happy that your PTO drive batch dryer is a MORIDGE
*Steel shaft drive in place of belts
*Recirculating for positive uniform drying
*Optional 3 speed transmission provides for handling beans gently
*Much much steeper hopper for easy grain flow (No forcing arms needed)
*Grain regulator arms slow moving sweep above steep hopper This only to insure no wet spots holding up free flow Insures every kernel recirculated Prevents grain damage
*Dual fan blades deliver enough additional air to run at only 420 RPM tractor speed Less noise Less wear smaller tractor operating at only ⅝ throttle
*Trained Nebraska service department Complete service parts in stock
Moridge with 15 years dryer manufacturing experience bring you these plus features at lower prices

GRAIN DRYERS
7 main reasons why, in the years ahead, you will be happy that your PTO drive batch dryer is a MORIDGE.
*Steel shaft drive in place of belts.
*Recirculating for positive uniform drying.
*Optional 3 speed transmission provides for handling beans gently.
*Much much steeper hopper for easy grain flow. (No forcing arms needed).
*Grain regulator arms, slow moving, sweep above steep hopper. This only to insure no wet spots holding up free flow. Insures every kernel recirculated. Prevents grain damage.
*Dual fan blades deliver enough additional air to run at only 420 RPM tractor speed. Less noise. Less wear, smaller tractor operating at only ⅝ throttle.
*Trained Nebraska service department. Complete service parts in stock.
Moridge with 15 years dryer manufacturing experience bring you these plus features at lower prices.
Display lot on Highway 6, 2 miles NE of Lincoln. Dryers moving in and out constantly. Reserve yours now while ASC financing is available.
